The Limits of Knowledge Nancy Arden McHugh, 2015-07-21 Argues for a transactionally situated approach to science and medicine in order to meet the needs of marginalized groups The Limits of Knowledge provides an understanding of what pragmatist feminist theories look like in practice combining insights from the work of American pragmatist John Dewey concerning experimental inquiry and transaction with arguments for situated knowledge rooted in contemporary feminism Using case studies to demonstrate some of the particular ways that dominant scientific and medical practices fail to meet the health needs of marginalized groups and communities Nancy Arden McHugh shows how transactionally situated approaches are better able to meet the needs of these communities Examples include a community action group fighting environmental injustice in Bayview Hunters Point California one of the most toxic communities in the US gender race age and class biases in the study and diagnosis of endometriosis a critique of Evidence Based Medicine the current effects of Agent Orange on Vietnamese women and children and pediatric treatment of Amish and Mennonite children Philosophy in Multiple Voices George Yancy, 2007 The scope of Philosophy in Multiple Voices provides the reader with eight philosophical streams of thought African American Afro Caribbean Asian American Feminist Latin American Lesbian Native American and Queer that introduce readers to alternative complex philosophical questions concerning gendered sexed racial and ethnic identities canon formation and meta philosophy The overriding theme of the text is that philosophy is pluralistic in voice rich in diversity and ought to valorize democratic intellectual spaces of philosophical engagement Patrica Hill Collins; Reconceiving Motherhood Kaila Adia Story, 2014-11-01 Patricia Hill Collins has given new meaning to the institution of motherhood throughout her publishing career Introducing scholars to new conceptions such as othermothering and mothering of mind Collins through her creative and multifaceted analysis of the institution of motherhood has in a large sense reconceived what it means to be a mother in a national and transnational context By connecting motherhood as an institution to manifestations of empire racism classism and heteronormativity Collins has informed and invented new understandings of the institution as a whole This anthology explores the impact influence and or importance of Patricia Hill Collins on motherhood research adding to the existing literature on Motherhood and the conceptions of Family In addition this collection raises critical questions about the social and cultural meanings of race class gender sexual orientation and mothering Ecological Thinking Lorraine Code, 2006-04-27 Arguing that ecological thinking can animate an epistemology capable of addressing feminist multicultural and other post colonial concerns this book critiques the instrumental rationality hyperbolized autonomy abstract individualism and exploitation of people and places that western epistemologies of mastery have legitimated It proposes a politics of epistemic location sensitive to the interplay of particularity and diversity and focused on responsible epistemic practices Starting from an epistemological approach implicit in Rachel Carson s scientific projects the book draws constructively and critically on ecological theory and practice on post Quinean naturalized epistemology and on feminist and post colonial theory Analyzing extended examples from developmental psychology from medicine and law and from circumstances where vulnerability credibility and public trust are at issue the argument addresses the constitutive part played by an instituted social imaginary in shaping and regulating human lives The practices and examples discussed invoke the responsibility requirements central to this text s larger purpose of imagining crafting

Generational Feminism Iris van der Tuin, 2014-11-12 Iris van der Tuin redirects the notion of generational logic in feminism away from its simplistic conception as conflict Generational logic is said to problematize feminist theory and gender research as it follows a logic of divide and conquer between the old and the young and participates in patriarchal structures and phallogocentrism Examining the continental philosophies of Bergson and Deleuze and French feminisms of sexual difference van der Tuin paves the way for a more complex notion of generationality This new conception of the term views generational cohorts as static measurements that happen in the flow of being Prioritizing this generative flow gives what is measured its proper place as an effect Generational Feminism New Materialist Introduction to a Generative Approach experiments with a previously disregarded methodology s implications as an impetus for a new materialism and advances feminist politics for the twenty first century

The Politics of Survival Lara Trout, 2010-06-09 How can sincere well meaning people unintentionally perpetuate discrimination based on race sex sexuality or other socio political factors To address this question Lara Trout engages a neglected dimension of Charles S Peirce s philosophy human embodiment in order to highlight the compatibility between Peirce s ideas and contemporary work in social criticism This compatibility which has been neglected in both Peircean and social criticism scholarship emerges when the body is foregrounded among the affective dimensions of Peirce s philosophy including feeling emotion belief doubt instinct and habit Trout explains unintentional discrimination by situating Peircean affectivity within a post Darwinian context using the work of contemporary neuroscientist Antonio Damasio to facilitate this contextual move Since children are vulnerable naïve and dependent upon their caretakers for survival they must trust their caretaker s testimony about reality This dependency coupled with societal norms that reinforce historically dominant perspectives such as being heterosexual male middle class and or white fosters the internalization of discriminatory habits that function non consciously in adulthood The Politics of Survival brings Peirce and social criticism into conversation On the one hand Peircean cognition epistemology phenomenology and metaphysics dovetail with social critical insights into the inter relationships among body and mind emotion and reason self and society Moreover Peirce s epistemological ideal of an infinitely inclusive community of inquiry into knowledge and reality implies a repudiation of exclusionary prejudice On the other hand work in feminism and race theory illustrates how the application of Peirce's infinitely inclusive communal ideal can be undermined by non-conscious habits of exclusion internalized in childhood by members belonging to historically dominant groups such as the economically privileged heterosexuals men and whites Trout offers a Peircean response to this application problem that both acknowledges the blind spots of non-conscious discrimination and recommends a communally situated network of remedies including agapic love critical common sensism scientific method and self control

The Moral Psychology of Hate Noell Birondo, 2022-02-16 A 2022 Choice Reviews Outstanding Academic Title The Moral Psychology of Hate provides the first systematic introduction to the moral psychology of hate compiling specially commissioned essays by an international team of scholars with a wide range of disciplinary orientations In light of the recent revival of interest in emotions in academic philosophy and the current social and political interest in hate this volume provides arguments for and against the value of hate through a combination of empirical and philosophical methods The authors examine hate not merely as a destructive feeling but as an emotion of great moral significance that illuminates how we understand each other and ourselves The book will be of major interest to anyone concerned with the dynamics and the moral and political implications of this most powerful of human emotions

Feminist Interpretations of Ludwig Wittgenstein Naomi Scheman, Peg

O'Connor, 2010-11-01 The original essays in this volume while written from diverse perspectives share the common aim of building a constructive dialogue between two currents in philosophy that seem not readily allied Wittgenstein who urges us to bring our words back home to their ordinary uses recognizing that it is our agreements in judgments and forms of life that ground intelligibility and feminist theory whose task is to articulate a radical critique of what we say to disrupt precisely those taken for granted agreements in judgments and forms of life Wittgenstein and feminist theorists are alike however in being unwilling or unable to make sense in the terms of the traditions from which they come needing to rely on other means including telling stories about everyday life to change our ideas of what sense is and of what it is to make it For both appeal to grounding is problematic but the presumed groundedness of particular judgments remains an unavoidable feature of discourse and as such in need of understanding For feminist theory Wittgenstein suggests responses to the immobilizing tugs between modernist modes of theorizing and postmodern challenges to them For Wittgenstein feminist theory suggests responses to those who would turn him into the normal philosopher he dreaded becoming one who offers perhaps unorthodox solutions to recognizable philosophical problems In addition to an introductory essay by Naomi Scheman the volume's twenty chapters are grouped in sections titled The Subject of Philosophy and the Philosophical Subject Wittgensteinian Feminist Philosophy Contrasting Visions Drawing Boundaries Categories and Kinds Being Human Agents and Subjects and Feminism's Allies New Players New Games These essays give us ways of understanding Wittgenstein and feminist theory that make the alliance a mutually fruitful one even as they bring to their readings of Wittgenstein an explicitly historical and political perspective that is at best implicit in his work The recent salutary turn in analytic philosophy toward taking history seriously has shown how the apparently timeless problems of supposedly generic subjects arose out of historically specific circumstances. These essays shed light on the task of feminist theorists along with postcolonial queer and critical race theorists to in Wittgenstein's words rotate the axis of our examination around whatever real needs might emerge through the struggles of modernity's Others. Contributors besides the editors are Nancy E Baker, Nalini Bhushan, Jane Braaten, Judith Bradford, Sandra W Churchill, Daniel Cohen, Tim Craker, Alice Crary, Susan Hekman, Cressida J Heyes, Sarah Lucia Hoagland, Christine M Koggel, Bruce Krajewski, Wendy Lynne Lee, Hilda Lindemann, Nelson Deborah Orr, Rupert Read, Phyllis Rooney, and Janet Farrell Smith.

Tropics of Haiti Marlene L. Daut, 2015-07-17 A literary history of the Haitian Revolution that explores how scientific ideas about race affected 19th century understandings of the Haitian Revolution and conversely how understandings of the Haitian Revolution affected 19th century scientific ideas about race.

Revealing Whiteness Shannon Sullivan, 2006-03-28 A lucid discussion of race that does not sell out the black experience. Tommy Lott, author of The Invention of Race. Revealing Whiteness explores how white privilege operates as an unseen, invisible, and unquestioned norm in society today. In this personal and self-searching book, Shannon Sullivan interrogates her own whiteness and how being white has affected her. By looking closely at the subtleties of white domination, she issues a call for other white people to own up to their unspoken privilege and confront environments that condone or perpetuate it. Sullivan's theorizing about race and privilege draws on American pragmatism, psychology, race theory, and feminist thought. As it articulates a way to live beyond the barriers that white privilege has created, this book offers readers a clear and honest confrontation with a trenchant and vexing concern.

Feminist Interpretations of William James Erin C. Tarver, Shannon Sullivan, 2015-12-15 Widely regarded as the father of American psychology, William James is by any measure a mammoth presence on the stage of pragmatist philosophy. But despite his indisputable influence on philosophical thinkers of all genders, men remain the movers and shakers in the Jamesian universe while women exist primarily to support their endeavors and serve their needs. How could the philosophy of William James, a man devoted to Victorian ideals, be used to support feminism? Feminist Interpretations of William James lays out the elements of James's philosophy that are particularly problematic for feminism, offers a novel feminist approach to James's ethical philosophy, and takes up epistemic contestations in and with James's pragmatism. The results are surprising. In short, James's philosophy can prove useful for feminist efforts to challenge sexism and male privilege, in spite of James himself. In this latest installment of the Re-Reading the Canon series, contributors appeal to William James's controversial texts not simply as an exercise in feminist critique but in the service of feminism. Along with the editors, the contributors are Jeremy Carrette, Lorraine Code, Megan Craig, Susan Dieleman, Jacob L Goodson, Maurice Hamington, Erin McKenna, Jos Medina, and Charlene Haddock Seigfried.

Gender, Experience, and Knowledge in Adult Learning Elana Michelson, 2015-05-15 In this wide-ranging book, Elana Michelson invites us to revisit basic understandings of the experiential learner. How does experience come to be seen as the basis of knowledge? How do gender, class, and race enter into the ways in which knowledge is valued What political and cultural belief systems underlie such practices as the assessment of prior learning and the writing of life narratives Drawing on a range of disciplines from feminist theory and the politics of knowledge to literary criticism Michelson argues that particular understandings of experiential learning have been central to modern Western cultures and the power relationships that underlie them Presented in four parts this challenging and lively book asks educators of adults to think in new ways about their assumptions theories and practices Part I provides readers with a short history of the notion of experiential learning Part II brings the insights and concerns of feminist theory to bear on mainstream theories of experiential learning Part III examines the assessment of prior experiential learning for academic credit and or professional credentials Part IV addresses a second pedagogical practice that is ubiquitous in adult learning namely the assigning of life narratives Gender Experience and Knowledge in Adult Learning will be of value to scholars and graduate students exploring adult and experiential learning as well as academics wishing to introduce students to a broad range of feminist critical race materialist and postmodernist thinking in the field

Theoretical Issues in Psychology John R. Morss, Niamh Stephenson, Hans van Rappard, 2013-06-29 Theoretical Issues in Psychology is published as the discipline of psychology enters its at least third century The year 2001 brings with it millennial reflections as well as the strange sense of deja vu that we derive from the Kubrick movie As to the former a glance at the contents list of this volume will demonstrate both the maturity and the vigour of theoretical debate within psychology There is a level of sophistication here that should be the cause of quiet celebration Recent ideas about discursive practice and subjectivity chaos theory and autopoiesis are effortlessly entrained with classical issues Canonical texts are looked at with fresh eyes Unresolved social and political questions are doggedly persisted with and new perspectives on the human experience are pioneered We are not afraid of long words even if French in origin but nor are we afraid to recognise that we are physical beings who touch other beings who hold desire and remember and who talk talk talk For surely it is theoretically sensitive work in psychology whether critical or not that best represents what the discipline has to offer the wider community
