End Of Ideology Debate:

Daniel Bell and the Decline of Intellectual Radicalism Howard Brick, 1986 What causes a generation of intellectuals to switch its political allegiances in particular to move from the opposition to the mainstream In U S history it is the experience of the Old Left intellectuals who swung from avowal of socialism or Communism in the 1930s to apology for American liberalism in the 1950s that raises this question pointedly In this highly original and broadsweeping study Howard Brick focuses on the career of Daniel Bell as an illustrative case of political transformation combining intellectual history biography and the history of sociology to explain Bell s emerging thought in terms of the tensions between socialists and sociological theory The resulting work will be of compelling interest to Marxists and American intellectual historians to sociologists and to all students of twentieth century American thought and culture Daniel Bell s route to political reconciliation was a tortuous one While it is common wisdom to cite World War II as the force that welded national unity and brought Depression era radicals to an appreciation of democratic institutions the war actually turned the young Bell to the left Opposing the centralized power of American business and military elites at war s end Bell shared the new radicalism that infused Dwight MacDonal d s Politics Magazine and motivated C Wright Mills early work Nonetheless by the early 1950s Bell had declared the demise of American socialism and endorsed the welfare reforms of the Fair Deal Brick s study finds however that the new radicalism of the mid 1940s helped to shape Bell s mature perspective giving it a richness and critical edge often unrecognized Brick finds that the heritage of modernism as manifested in social theory knit together the process of political transformation combining disdain for the false promises of liberal progress estrangement from society at large and reconciliation with a reality perceived to be full of unconquerable tensions Brick locates the foundations of Bell s mature social theory in the historical context of his early work particularly in the political concessions made by the social democratic movement in the face of the Cold War to the reconstruction of capitalist order in the West The crucial turning point in World politics as in Bell s thinking can be located in the years 1947 49 After that point the different strands of Bell s thinking came together to represent the contradictions in the perspective of a social democrat trapped by the iron cage of capitalism who saw in his political accommodation both the road to progress and the rupture of his hopes This peculiar paradigm shaped by the experiences of deradicalization lies at the heart of Daniel Bell s social theory Brick finds At the present critical point in American history as a new generation of leftist intellectuals undergoes a process similar to that of Bell s generation Brick s work will be especially important in understanding the historical phenomenon of deradicalization citizens Organize or Burn provides new insights and solutions for the climate crisis      Understanding Dogmas and Dreams Nancy S. Love, 2006-02-09 Nancy Love's concise yet complete volume aims to inform students of their choices among political values. By exploring the assumptions of various ideologies and comparing their positions, students begin to understand political alternatives to be able to choose among them. In essence, they learn to think democratically. Offering historical and analytic context for the selections in her companion reader Dogmas and Dreams, Love challenges students to consider the various ways ideological frameworks shape political actions. Reframing her approach in this second edition, Love examines how traditional left-right ideologies—liberalism and conservatism, socialism and fascism—are shifting to adapt to new political realities in an ever-turbulent post-9/11 world. She also discusses why alternative ideologies—feminism, environmentalism, fundamentalism, and globalization—may better convey our global political future. While pushing the boundaries of the left-right political spectrum, she looks at how grassroots social movements offer alternative ways to view ideological differences, from cluster concepts to micro-discourses and even a planetary galaxy. Expanded coverage includes a new chapter on nationalism and globalization, which examines the work of Samuel Huntington, Kenichi Ohmae, Benjamin Barber, and many more to explore fundamentalism in Islamic politics; increased coverage of global environmental politics, including Shiva's Stolen Harvest and Kelly's Thinking Green; examining the relationships between developed and developing countries; fresh material on socialist politics post-1989 and the rise of neo-fascist movements in the United States and Europe, including analysis of Hayden and Flacks' The Port Huron Statement at 40 and Bob Moser's The Age of Rage; an updated feminism chapter that considers the impact of third-wave, post-colonial and so-called power feminists, and incorporates new analysis of Wollstonecraft's A Vindication of the Rights of Woman and Mohanty's Under Western Eyes Revisited.      AMERICA WINS IN FOREIGN POLICY BUT FAILS IN DOMESTIC POLICY

Dr. George Joseph K. PhD, 2015-12-05 The ultimate defeat of a nation begins at home. When the ethical values of the people at the personal, family, and social levels degenerate, the spiritual, intellectual, and physical health of the nation also gets weakened. Mankind has only two kinds of core values: some religions command to love even the enemies, while others command to kill the enemies. USA is not just the most powerful nation in the world; it is also the most coveted society in the world because of its highest quality value system due to Biblical-Christian faith. Ultimately, there is only one God, one mankind, one problem, one solution, and hence there can have only one value system for mankind. But the shadow of a great global tension and suicidal mutual conflict caused by the many contradictory god-views, religions, worldviews, truth claims, ideologies, and value systems is right now visible. Defending the high ideal of loving the enemies could be easy. But the ultimate challenge of foreign policy is about practicing the high ideals of the nation even in the process of defending those ideals in a crooked and inimical world. The biggest dilemma in US foreign policy is whether it can practice its value of even loving its enemies and still exist as a nation to defend its values. Practicing the values and defending the values should go hand in hand. A very judicious combination of practicing the values and defending those who hold the value system are essential due to individual eternal consequences To defend the values of freedom unfortunately the USA had to succumb to death and murder during the cold war in effect failing to practice its values in the process of defending it Hence the struggle confronting individuals from the family level to the international levels is the struggle of practicing the high values at the real life situations The shocking truth is that victorious Christian life always demands self sacrifice But there are false gods religions and value systems whose followers don t have to follow any of these values and hence have an easy life It is high time to realize that anything that comes in the name of any god religion or worldview is not safe The core values function as the touchstone for testing the quality of any god religion worldview or truth claim Mankind cannot peacefully survive if communities of people don t have good values and morality to practice Faulty definitions of freedom and secularism have led to the growth of evil to such levels where now people will have to resort to killing for survival Hence the state governments must implement the right view of secularism It will be suicidal to any society to allow anyone to promote evil values in the name of religious freedom and secularism It should become the primary responsibility of the supreme legal system in any nation to examine the basic documents of the religions identify and declare which ones contain unhealthy values affecting the character of the people The State should not allow any group to promote and practice unhealthy values in the label of any religion The values of the Christian faith are undeniable that no legal system can deny these values and the evils which Christian faith prohibits no legal system can approve It stands for loving enemy and telling the truth Those who reject Christian faith can never stand on a more logical faith It is written in the Bible that Jesus died on the cross for mankind and rose from the dead on the third day Those who have the wisdom to believe these plain facts will be able to believe that Jesus is in fact the true God in human form and will worship Him
