Endangered Hope Experiences In Psychiatric Facilities:

Endangered Hope David K. Reynolds, Norman L. Farberow, 1977 Mental Health Administration, 1982 Mental Health Administration Saul Feldman, Carole Goldstein, Joan Offutt, 1978 1839 entries to journal articles books book chapters dissertation abstracts and reports that appeared between 1965 1980 Intended for mental health administrators in a variety of settings Arranged under broad topics e g Management information Each entry includes bibliographical information and an annotation Author index Mental Health Administration, an Annotated Bibliography Saul Feldman, Carole Goldstein, Joan Offutt, 1978 The Well-Being Project Jean Campbell, Ron Schraiber, In 1987 a groundbreaking survey called The Well Being Project was conducted by the California Network of Mental Health Clients under contract to the Office of Prevention of the California Department of Mental Health to explore what factors promote or deter the well being of those diagnosed labeled as mentally ill Initially it had been assumed that the analysis of the survey data as well as the final written report would be awarded to a university or other professional research group Much to the surprise of some and in the spirit of the disability rights movement rallying cry of nothing about us without us the successful proposal was written by mental health client researchers Jean Campbell and Ron Schraiber on behalf of the California Network of Mental Health Clients The study became known as The Well Being Project Mental Health Clients Speak for Themselves and was published in 1989 additionally an award winning documentary People Say I m Crazy based on the study s findings was produced as well as a compendium book to the video with the same title Ethnopsychiatry Atwood D. Gaines, 1992-08-17 This book outlines a new ethnopsychiatry one that considers popular or folk ethnomedicines and professional psychiatric systems in the same discourse effacing the traditional distinction between psychiatry and ethnopsychiatry The essays in this volume are from a diverse interdisciplinary group representing history psychology sociology and medicine as well as anthropology The author view both ethnomedical practices and illness as local cultural constructions They consider ideologies and institutions from both professional and popular ethnopsychiatric systems in America Western Europe South Africa the Caribbean Japan and India The book demonstrates that professional and popular psychiatric medicines lie along the same local cultural continua that professional scientific psychiatries and less formalized systems of local popular psychology are epistemological relatives aspects of common cultural discourses on normality and abnormality The essays reject the notion of a universal uniform reality of psychopathology beyond cultural boundaries but the data strongly support the cultural and historically constructed nature of ethnopsychiatry in its illness ideologies and institutions Contributors to this volume include Amy V Blue Thomas Csordas Ellen Dwyer Paul E Farmer M D Atwood D Gaines Helena Jia Hershel Janis Jenkins Pearl Katz Thomas Marezki Naoki Nomura Charles Nuckolls Kathryn Oths Lorna Amarasingham Rhodes and Leslie Swartz Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1979 Clinically Applied Anthropology N. Chrisman, T. Marezki, 2012-12-06 like other collections of papers related to a single topic this volume arose out of problem sharing and problem solving discussions among some of the authors The two principal recurring issues were 1 the difficulties in translating anthropo logical knowledge so that our students could use it and 2 the difficulties of bringing existing medical anthropology literature to bear on this task As we talked to other anthropologists teaching in other parts of the country and in various health related schools we recognized that our problems were similar Similarities in our solutions led the Editors to believe that publication of our teaching experi ences and research relevant to teaching would help others and might begin the process of generating principles leading to a more coherent approach Our colleagues supported this idea and agreed to contribute What we agreed to write about was Clinically Applied Anthropology Much of what we were doing and certainly much of the relevant literature was applied anthropology And our target group was composed mostly of clinicians The utility of the term became apparent after 1979 when another set of anthropologists began to discuss ainical Anthropology They too recognized the range of novel be haviors available to anthropologists in the health science arena and chose to focus on the clinical use of anthropology We see this as an important endeavor but very different from what we are proposing

The Anthropology of Self and Behavior Gerald Michael Erchak,1992 Gerald Erchak s engaging book stakes out a position in the field of psychological anthropology He addresses himself primarily to students in the field and also to specialists who want a clearly presented approach He argues that culture shapes the human self and behavior and that the self and behavior are in turn adapted to culture After defining basic concepts and debates in the field Erchak takes up the topics of socialization gender sexuality collective behavior national character deviance behavioral disorder cognition and emotion This new textbook contains more material about sexuality and gender than any other such text For Erhcak psychocultural adaptation is basic to human life Culture plays a central role in our behavior and survival Each chapter reviews the literature not as a scholar would but rather to provide an overview of central issues in the field Each chapter also provides case material some of which is drawn from Erchak s own work on West African socialization Micronesian social change family violence initiation rites and alcoholism His examples are drawn from the U S as well as non Western cultures This book will be of particular interest to teachers looking for new texts for undergraduate courses in anthropology psychology and sociology
