Endocrine Disrupters Environmental Health And Policies:

Endocrine Disrupters Polyxeni Nicolopoulou-Stamati, Luc Hens, Vyvyan C. Howard, 2013-03-14 During recent decades millions of tonnes of man made chemicals have been produced and released into the environment with very little safety testing Many of these chemical substances have been found to interfere with the endocrine system and modulate its function This book not only overviews the effects of endocrine disrupting substances on human health but also addresses the regulatory problems from the point of view of international organisations including the WHO the EU and the European Chlorine Industry This volume contains the proceedings of a workshop held at the International Hippocrates Foundation on Kos Island Greece in September 1999 The workshop was part of the activities of the ASPIS project which aims at raising awareness of environmental health impacts among multidisciplinary groups The contributions to this volume are the result of the interaction of participants at the workshop As such it addresses the issue of endocrine disrupters from many different points of view and allows the subject to be approached by a multidisciplinary readership including decision makers medical doctors environmental experts post and undergraduate students lawyers engineers and journalists Endocrine Disrupters and Metabolism Yann Gibert, Angel Nadal, Robert Sargis, 2020-01-20 Toxic Timescapes Simone M. Müller, May-Brith Ohman Nielsen, 2023-01-17 An interdisciplinary environmental humanities volume that explores human environment relationships on our permanently polluted planet While toxicity and pollution are ever present in modern daily life politicians juridical systems media outlets scholars and the public alike show great difficulty in detecting defining monitoring or generally coming to terms with them This volume s contributors argue that the source of this difficulty lies in the struggle to make sense of the intersecting temporal and spatial scales working on the human and more than human body while continuing to acknowledge race class and gender in terms of global environmental justice and social inequality The term toxic timescapes refers to this intricate intersectionality of time space and bodies in relation to toxic exposure As a tool of analysis it unpacks linear understandings of time and explores how harmful substances permeate temporal and physical space as both event and process It equips scholars with new ways of creating data and conceptualizing the past present and future presence and possible effects of harmful substances and provides a theoretical framework for new environmental narratives To think in terms of toxic timescapes is to radically shift our understanding of toxicants in the complex web of life Toxicity pollution and modes of exposure are never static therefore dose timing velocity mixture frequency and chronology matter as much as the geographic location and societal position of those exposed Together these factors create a specific toxic timescape that lies at the heart of each contributor s narrative Contributors from the disciplines of history human geography science and technology studies philosophy and political ecology come together to demonstrate the complex reality of a toxic existence Their case studies span the globe as they observe the intersection of multiple times and spaces at such diverse locations as former battlefields in Vietnam aging nuclear weapon storage facilities in Greenland waste deposits in southern Italy chemical facilities along the Gulf of Mexico and coral breeding laboratories across the world
