Massynbaerde Ford, 2010-04-01 This is a very readable and clear exposition of Luke's presentation of Jesus as an advocate of nonviolence It rests on a profound knowledge of the political background in the first century and also of modern Lucan scholarship One does not need to agree with all of the author's suggestions in order to accept her basic thesis that Luke's Jesus exemplifies his own insistence on loving and forgiving one's enemies I Howard Marshall Emeritus Professor of New Testament Exegesis University of Aberdeen Scotland For Professor Josephine Massynbaerde Ford authoress of a learned and challenging commentary on Revelation Luke is the preacher of philoecthology highlighting far more than his predecessors Jesus's love of the enemy She marshals impressive and interesting evidence from comparison with the other Synoptics from contemporary Jewish texts orthodox and sectarian and from the general conditions of that turbulent period The work is full of original valuable ideas such as the relevance for this Gospel's overriding purpose of a sharp contrast between the Infancy narratives reflecting traditional revolutionary expectations and the actual message of Jesus Her analysis of the evangelist's redactional activity is circumspect sensitive and rich in new insights Not the least by product of her thesis is convincing fresh illustration of Luke's stature as a social political and historical thinker and as a subtle accomplished writer not to mention his humanity This is an excellent lively and timely book David Daube University of California Berkeley Ford invitingly presents Luke's pacifist portrait of Jesus against a
