Enemy That Never Was A History Of Japanese Canadians:

The Enemy that Never was Ken Adachi, National Japanese Canadian Citizens Association, 1976 Ken Adachi's historical study of racism in Canada towards those of Japanese ancestry spans almost a century from 1877 to 1975. He focuses on Japanese immigration, the Japanese Canadian community organization and the forced evacuation and relocation during the second world war. Also included is an afterword by Roger Daniels that documents the efforts of the Japanese Canadian community post 1975 to gain redress for their unjustified internment and dispossession during World War II. More than four decades later, their struggles successfully lead to the Canadian Government's formal apology and to the Japanese Canadian Redress agreement of 1988. www.crr.ca The Enemy That Never Was Ken Adachi, 1968-10-01 Hiroshima

Immigrants in Canada, 1891-1941 Michiko Midge Ayukawa, 2008-07-01 Hiroshima Immigrants in Canada 1891-1941 is a fascinating investigation of Japanese migration to Canada prior to the Second World War. It makes Japanese language scholarship on the subject available for the first time and also draws on interviews, diaries, community histories, biographies and the author's own family history. Starting with the history of the feudal fiefs of Aki and Bingo which were merged into Hiroshima prefecture, Ayukawa describes the political, economic and social circumstances that precipitated emigration between 1891 and 1941. She then examines the lives and experiences of those migrants who settled in western Canada. Interviews with three generations of community members as well as with those who never emigrated supplement research on immigrant labour, the central role of women and the challenges Canadian born children faced as they navigated life between two cultures. This book is a must read for scholars of migrations, diaspora and transnationalism and will also be of great interest to general readers who wish to learn more about the lives and experiences of Japanese Canadians. Bearing Witness Sherrill Grace, Patrick Imbert, Tiffany Johnstone, 2012-10-01 As the centenary of the Great War approaches, citizens worldwide are reflecting on the history, trauma and losses of a war-torn twentieth century. It is in remembering past wars that we are at once confronted with the profound horror and suffering of armed conflict and the increasing elusiveness of peace. The contributors to Bearing Witness do not presume to resolve these troubling questions but provoke new kinds of reflection. They explore literature, the arts, history, language and popular culture to move beyond the language of rhetoric and commemoration provided by politicians and the military. Adding nuance to discussions of war and peace, this collection probes the understanding and insight created in the works of musicians, dramatists, poets, painters, photographers and novelists to provide a complex view of the ways in which war is waged, witnessed and remembered. A compelling and informative collection, Bearing Witness sheds new light on the impact of war and the power of suffering, heroism and memory to expose the human roots of violence and compassion. Contributors include Heribert Adam, Simon Fraser University; Laura Brandon, Carleton University; Mireille Calle Gruber, Université La Sorbonne Nouvelle; Janet Danielson, Simon Fraser University; Sandra Djwa, emerita, Simon Fraser University; Alan Filewod, University of Guelph; Sherrill Grace, University of British Columbia.

Subverting Exclusion Andrea Geiger, 2011-11-29 Concerned with people called variously eta burakumin buraku jumin buraku people outcastes or the lowest of the low this book examines how their experience of caste status based discrimination in 19th century Japan affected their experience of race based discrimination in the West of the US and Canada in the 19th and early 20th centuries

Forgotten Captives in Japanese-Occupied Asia Kevin Blackburn, Karl Hack, 2007-12-14 Using archival oral and literary sources Blackburn and Hack along with an impressive team of international contributors rectify the obscured picture of the Japanese captive by bringing together for the first time a collection of essays covering an extremely broad range of forgotten captives

The Making of the Mosaic Ninette Kelley, M. J. Trebilcock, Professor of Law and Economics Michael J Trebilcock, 1998-01-01 Beginning their study in the pre Confederation period the authors tell of the dramatic transformations that have characterized Canadian attitudes towards immigrants While at first few obstacles were placed in the way of newcomers to Canada the turn of the century brought policies of increasing selectivity

Material Traces of War Stacey Barker, Krista Cooke, Molly McCullough, 2021-11-02 Material Traces of War Stories of Canadian Women and Conflict 1914 1945 looks at Canadian women s experiences of and contributions to the world wars through objects images and archival documents The book tells the stories of women who worked as civilians served in the military volunteered their time and grieved lost loved ones through thematically organized vignettes The authors place these personal narratives of individual woman and their related material culture in the wider context of the world wars while demonstrating that the experience of living through global conflict was as individual as a woman s particular circumstances Drawing from the collections of the Canadian War Museum the Canadian Museum of History and other public and private collections in Canada Material Traces of War brings largely unknown material culture collections to public view and draws attention to the untold stories of women and war

Not Born a Refugee Woman Maroussia Hajdukowski-Ahmed, Nazilla Khanlou, Helene Moussa, 2008 Not Born a Refugee Woman is an in depth inquiry into the identity construction of refugee women It challenges and rethinks current identity concepts policies and practices in the context of a globalizing environment and in the increasingly racialized post September 11th context from the perspective of refugee women This collection brings together scholar_practitioners from across a wide range of disciplines The authors emphasize refugee women s agency resilience and creativity in the continuum of domestic civil and transnational violence and conflicts whether in flight or in resettlement during their uprooted journey and beyond Through the analysis of local examples and international case studies the authors critically examine gendered and interrelated factors such as location humanitarian aid race cultural norms and current psycho social research that affect the identity and well being of refugee women This volume is destined to a wide audience of scholars students policy makers advocates and service providers interested in new developments and critical practices in domains related to gender and forced migrations Compelled to Act Sarah Carter,Nanci Langford,2020-10-02 Compelled to Act showcases fresh historical perspectives on the diversity of women s contributions to social and political change in prairie Canada in the twentieth century including but looking beyond the era of suffrage activism In our current time of revitalized activism against racism colonialism violence and misogyny this volume reminds us of the myriad ways women have challenged and confronted injustices and inequalities The women and their activities shared in Compelled to Act are diverse in time place and purpose but there are some common threads In their attempts to correct wrongs achieve just solutions and create change women experienced multiple sites of resistance both formal and informal The acts of speaking out of organizing of picketing and protesting were characterized as unnatural for women as violations of gender and societal norms and as dangerous to the state and to family stability Still as these accounts demonstrate prairie women felt compelled to respond to women s needs to challenges to family security both health and economic and to the need for community They reacted with the resources at hand and beyond to support effective action joining the ranks of women all over the world seeking political and social agency to create a society more responsive to the needs of women and their children Encyclopedia of North American Immigration John Powell,2009 Presents an illustrated A Z reference containing more than 300 entries related to immigration to North America including people places legislation and more Constant Struggle Julien Mauduit,Jennifer Tunnicliffe,2021-10-06 Most Canadians assume they live under some form of democracy Yet confusion about the meaning of the word and the limits of the people s power obscures a deeper understanding Constant Struggle looks for the democratic impulse in Canada s past to deconstruct how the country became a democracy if in fact it ever did This volume asks what limits and contradictions have framed the nation s democratization process examining how democracy has been understood by those who have advocated for or resisted it and exploring key historical realities that have shaped it Scholars from a range of disciplines tackle this elusive concept suggesting that instead of looking for a simple narrative we must be alert to the slower untidier and incomplete processes of democratization in Canada Constant Struggle offers a renewed sometimes unsettling depiction stretching from studies of early Indigenous societies through colonial North America and Confederation into the twentieth century Contributors reassess democracy in light of settler colonialism and white supremacy investigate connections between capitalism and democracy consider alternative conceptions of democracy from Canada s past and highlight the various ways in which the democratic ideal has been mobilized to advance particular visions of Canadian society Demonstrating that Canada s democratization process has not always been one that empowered the people Constant Struggle questions traditional views of the relationship between democracy and liberalism in Canada and around the world Mary Kitagawa Karen M. Inouye,2024-11-05 This book tells the story of Japanese Canadian activist Mary Kitagawa In the aftermath of the Pearl Harbor bombing Mary was one of roughly 22 000 Nikkei uprooted from their homes on the Pacific coast and forbidden to return to western British Columbia until long after World War II had officially ended In the decades that followed Mary and her family navigated financial precarity and ostracism but also found ways to pursue both economic stability and political engagement Beginning with Mary s grandparents who were among the earliest immigrants to Canada from Japan this book tracks the family s experiences and those of the larger Nikkei Canadian community from the late 1800s to the present Concentrating on the interpersonal and intergenerational bonds that shaped Kitagawa Karen M Inouye describes the increasingly activist sensibilities that arose from transformative relationships with family members other members of the Nikkei Canadian community Doukhobors First Nations peoples and white allies as well as in response to the anti Asian racism that Kitagawa encountered in many forms throughout her life Inouye presents the Nikkei Canadian experience not as a linear triumph over a single adversity but as a continual process of identity formation in relation to obstacles and opportunities suffering and joy isolation and connection Enemies Within Franca Iacovetta,Roberto Perin,Angelo Principe,2000-01-01 Enemies Within is the first study of its kind to examine not only the formulation and uneven implementation of internment policy but the social and gender history of internment It brings together national and international perspectives Regenerations / Régénérations Patricia Demers,Marie Carrière,2014-08-15 Sixteen essays exemplify the progress of interdisciplinary research collaboration and publishing surrounding Canadian women s writing

Canadian State Trials, Volume V Barry Wright,Susan Binnie,Eric Tucker,2022-11-01 The fifth and final volume of the Canadian State Trials series examines political trials and national security measures during the period of 1939 to 1990 Essays by historians and legal scholars shed light on experiences during the Second World War and its immediate aftermath including uses of the War Measures Act and the Official Secrets Act with the unfolding of the Cold War and legal responses to the FLQ including the October Crisis labour strikes and Indigenous resistance and standoffs The volume critically examines the historical and social context of the trials and measures resulting from these events concluding the first comprehensive series on this important area of Canadian law and politics The fifth volume s exploration of state responses to real and perceived security threats is particularly timely as Canada faces new challenges to the established order ranging from Indigenous nations demanding a new constitutional framework to protestors challenging discriminatory policing and contesting public health measures Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History Scotland, empire and decolonisation in the twentieth century Bryan Glass,John M. MacKenzie,2017-03-01 This volume represents one of the first attempts to examine the connection between Scotland and the British empire throughout the entire twentieth century As the century dawned the Scottish economy was still strongly connected with imperial infrastructures like railways engineering construction and shipping and colonial trade and investment By the end of the century however the Scottish economy its politics and its society had been through major upheavals which many connected with decolonisation The end of empire played a defining role in shaping modern day Scotland and the identity of its people Written by scholars of distinction these chapters represent ground breaking research in the field of Scotland s complex and often changing relationship with the British empire in the period The introduction that opens the collection will be viewed for years to come as the single most important historiographical statement on Scotland and empire during the tumultuous years of the twentieth century A final chapter from Stuart Ward and Jimmi stergaard Nielsen covers the 2014 referendum Against Amnesia Nancy J.

Peterson,2001-04-23 An important study in American literature Born in a Camp Kenneth Taguchi,2024-11-12 The photograph on the back cover is a picture of the barn in the internment camp Tashme British Columbia taken in 2019 during a family visit to Tashme by the author and family This is where the author spent the first two years of his life Hence the title to this book In the years of World War II based on unfounded and racist fears of Japanese spies the federal government of Canada and the provincial government of British Columbia ordered Japanese Canadians be displaced from their homes and interned in camps across the West Coast Born in Tashme one such camp Kenneth Taguchi generously shares his family s story including his parents arrival in Canada the history of the camps and his family s experiences of them and the rich accomplished lives he and his family led after the camps closed and they moved east to Montreal Featuring numerous photographs as a companion to the text Born in a Camp is a powerful work of autobiography a story of survival and success as well as a necessary look at the history of anti Japanese racism in North America Jobs and Justice Carmela

Patrias,2012-01-30 Despite acute labour shortages during the Second World War Canadian employers with the complicity of state officials discriminated against workers of African Asian and Eastern and Southern European origin excluding them from both white collar and skilled jobs Jobs and Justice argues that while the war intensified hostility and suspicion toward minority workers the urgent need for their contributions and the egalitarian rhetoric used to mobilize the war effort also created an opportunity for minority activists and their English Canadian allies to challenge discrimination Juxtaposing a discussion of state policy with ideas of race and citizenship in Canadian civil society Carmela K Patrias shows how minority activists were able to bring national attention to racist employment discrimination and obtain official condemnation of such discrimination Extensively researched and engagingly written Jobs and Justice offers a new perspective on the Second World War the racist dimensions of state policy and the origins of human rights campaigns in Canada
