Kelly,1912 Hygeia ,1945 Diabetes and Cardiovascular Disease Michael T. Johnstone,Aristidis Veves,2007-10-28 The cause of diabetes mellitus is metabolic in origin However its major clinical manifestations which result in most of the morbidity and mortality are a result of its vascular pathology In fact the American Heart Association has recently stated that from the point of view of cardiovascular medicine it may be appropriate to say diabetes is a cardiovascular disease 1 But diabetic vascular disease is not limited to just the macrovasculature Diabetes mellitus also affects the microcirculation with devastating results including nephropathy neuropathy and retinopathy Diabetic nephropathy is the leading cause of end stage renal disease in the United States while diabetic retinopathy is the leading cause of new onset blindness in working age Americans The importance of this text on Diabetes and Cardiovascular Disease is evident by the magnitude of the population affected by diabetes mellitus Over 10 million Americans have been diagnosed with diabetes mellitus while another 5 million remain undiagnosed The impact from a public health perspective is huge and increasing As the population of the United States grows older more sedentary and obese the risk of developing diabetes and its complications will increase Epidemiological studies have identified diabetes mellitus as a major independent risk factor for cardiovascular disease Over 65% of patients with diabetes mellitus die from a cardiovascular cause The prognosis of patients with diabetes mellitus who develop overt clinical cardiovascular disease is much worse than those cardiovascular patients free of diabetes mellitus

Mitochondria: Hubs of Cellular Signaling, Energetics and Redox Balance Miguel A. Aon, Amadou K. S. Camara, 2017-08-11 Poised at the convergence of most catabolic and anabolic pathways mitochondria are the center of heterotrophic aerobic life representing a hub in the overall metabolic network of cells The energetic functions performed by mitochondria face the unavoidable redox hurdle of handling huge amounts of oxygen while keeping its own as well as the cellular redox environment under control Reactive oxygen species ROS are produced in the respiratory chain as a result of the energy supplying function of mitochondria Originally considered an unavoidable by product of oxidative phosphorylation ROS have become crucial signaling molecules when their levels are kept within physiological range This occurs when their production and scavenging are balanced within mitochondria and cells Mitochondria generated hydrogen peroxide can act as a signaling molecule within mitochondria or in the cytoplasm affecting multiple networks that control for example cell cycle stress response cell migration and adhesion energy metabolism redox balance cell contraction and ion channels However under pathophysiological conditions excessive ROS levels can happen due to either overproduction overwhelming of antioxidant defenses or both Under oxidative stress detrimental effects of ROS include oxidation of protein lipids and nucleic acids mitochondrial depolarization and calcium overload and cell wide oscillations mediated by ROS induced ROS release mechanisms Mitochondrial dysfunction is central in the pathogenesis of numerous human maladies including cardiomyopathies and neurodegeneration Diseases characterized by altered nutrient metabolism such as diabetes and cancer exhibit elevated ROS levels These may contribute to pathogenesis by increasing DNA mutation affecting regulatory signaling and transcription and promoting inflammation Under metabolic stress several ionic channels present in the inner and outer mitochondrial membranes can have pro life and death effects In the present E book based on the Frontiers Research Topic entitled Mitochondria Hubs of cellular signaling energetics and redox balance we address one of the fundamental questions that the field of ROS biology faces today how do mitochondria accomplish a reliable energy provision and at the same time keep ROS levels within physiological non harming limits but crucial for cellular signaling function Additionally and within the perspective of mitochondria as signaling energetic hubs in the extensive cellular metabolic network we ask how can their collective dynamics scale from the subcellular to the cellular tissue and organ levels to affect function in health and disease
