Teaching and Learning of Energy in K - 12 Education

Robert F. Chen, Arthur Eisenkraft, David Fortus, Joseph Krajcik, Knut Neumann, Jeffrey Nordine, Allison Scheff, 2014-04-09 This volume presents current thoughts research and findings that were presented at a summit focusing on energy as a cross cutting concept in education involving scientists science education researchers and science educators from across the world The chapters cover four key questions what should students know about energy what can we learn from research on teaching and learning about energy what are the challenges we are currently facing in teaching students this knowledge and what needs be done to meet these challenges in the future Energy is one of the most important ideas in all of science and it is useful for predicting and explaining phenomena within every scientific discipline The challenge for teachers is to respond to recent policies requiring them to teach not only about energy as a disciplinary idea but also about energy as an analytical framework that cuts across disciplines Teaching energy as a crosscutting concept can equip a new generation of scientists and engineers to think about the latest cross disciplinary problems and it requires a new approach to the idea of energy This book examines the latest challenges of K 12 teaching about energy including how a comprehensive understanding of energy can be developed The authors present innovative strategies for learning and teaching about energy revealing overlapping and diverging views from scientists and science educators The reader will discover investigations into the learning progression of energy how understanding of energy can be examined and proposals for future directions for work in this arena Science teachers and educators science education researchers and scientists themselves will all find the discussions and research presented in this book engaging and informative

R.P. Gregory,2012-12-06 Photosynthesis the capture of light energy by living organisms is a simple enough concept but its investigation draws on the resources of disciplines from all fields of science The aim of this text is to provide a clear stimulating and essentially affordable coverage for undergraduate students of biology The activity of science is debate and practical experiment its product is a body of propositions which at any given time reflects the judgment and prejudices of those taking part The value of a proposition is related to the conceivable alternatives and writing it down without its context creates the false impression that science progresses by compilation of an increasing list of absolute truths It does not the facts and figures presented in the following pages have no intrinsic value unless they can be used by the reader to support an argument or point of view In short the reader is urged to respond So what to every item Secondly ideas like other foods should be date stamped science is inseparable from its history I have set out time charts to represent the evolution of our understanding in certain areas I have assumed that the reader is pursuing a course with a content of biochemistry microbiology and plant science or has access to basic texts I have assumed also that common methods such as spectrophotometry chromatography and electrophoresis as well as the techniques of molecular biology will be either part of the same course or in active use nearby
