

Foreign trade of the soviet union

- Soviet foreign trade played only a minor role in the Soviet economy.
- The Soviet maintained this low level because of its large energy and raw material base.
- Other foreign economic activity included economic aid programs.
- The Soviet Union conducted the bulk of its foreign economic activities with communist countries, particularly in Eastern Europe.
- Trade with the industrialized West, especially the USA, fluctuated, influenced by political relations between East & West.
- In the 1970s, during the period of détente, trade with the West gained in importance. In the early and mid-1980s, when relations between the superpowers were poor, however, Soviet trade with the West decreased.
