Borderline Personality Disorder Anthony W. Bateman, Roy Krawitz, 2013-05-09 Over the past two decades considerable progress has been made in developing specialist psychosocial treatments for borderline personality disorder BPD yet the majority of people with BPD receive treatment within generalist mental health services rather than specialist treatment centres This is a book for general mental health professionals who treat people with borderline personality disorder BPD It offers practical guidance on how to help people with BPD with advice based on research evidence After a discussion of the symptoms of BPD the authors review all the generalist treatment interventions that have resulted in good outcomes in randomised controlled trials when compared with specialist treatments and summarise the effective components of these interventions The treatment strategies are organised into a structured approach called Structured Clinical Management SCM which can be delivered by general mental health professionals without extensive additional training The heart of the book outlines the principles underpinning SCM and offers a step by step guide to the clinical intervention Practitioners can learn the interventions easily and develop more confidence in treating people with BPD In addition a chapter is devoted to how to help families an issue commonly neglected when treating patients with BPD Finally the authors discuss the top 10 strategies for delivering treatment and outline how the general mental health clinician can deliver these strategies competently

Encyclopedia of Death and the Human Experience Clifton D. Bryant, Dennis L. Peck, 2009-07-15 Death and dying and death related behavior involve the causes of death and the nature of the actions and emotions surrounding death among the living Interest in the varied dimensions of death and dying has led to the development of death studies that move beyond medical research to include behavioral science disciplines and practitioner oriented fields As a result of this interdisciplinary interest the literature in the field has proliferated This two volume resource addresses the traditional death and dying related topics but also presents a unique focus on the human experience to create a new dimension to the study of death and dying With more than 300 entries the Encyclopedia of Death and the Human Experience includes the complex cultural beliefs and traditions and the institutionalized social rituals that surround dying and death as well as the array of emotional responses relating to bereavement grieving and mourning The Encyclopedia is enriched through important multidisciplinary contributions and perspectives as it arranges organizes defines and clarifies a comprehensive list of death related perspectives concepts and theories Key Features Imparts significant insight into the process of dying and the phenomenon of death Includes contributors from Asia Africa Australia Canada China eastern southern and western Europe Iceland Scandinavia South America and the United States who offer important interdisciplinary and cross cultural perspectives Provides a special focus on the cultural artifacts and social institutions and practices that constitute the human experience Addresses death related terms and concepts such as angel makers equivocal death end of life decision making near death experiences cemeteries ghost photography halo nurses caregiver stress cyberfunerals global religious beliefs and traditions and death denial Presents a selective use of figures tables and images Key Themes Arts Media and Popular Culture Perspectives Causes of Death Conceptualization of Death Dying and the Human Experience Coping With Loss and Grief The Human Experience Cross Cultural Perspectives Cultural Determined Social Oriented and Violent Forms of Death Developmental and Demographic Perspectives Funerals and Death Related Activities

Nakamura Lopez, 2017-09-03 This book offers a nuanced picture of mixed family life in the UK Specifically the book explores how parents from different backgrounds create a place of belonging for their children while also negotiating difference and attempting to transmit various aspects of their cultures including religion hobbies language and food to their mixed children Based on data collected from 26 months of fieldwork the author concludes that the intergenerational transmission of culture instead of being tied to the idea of national culture is actually more organic and fluid allowing individuals to share their cultures from traditions and customs to preferences and habits with the next generation As mixedness increasingly becomes the norm in our global society the book will be of interest to students and scholars of race ethnicity and family studies as well as social workers school teachers counsellors and parents and kin of mixed children Handbook of Families and Health D. Russell Crane, Elaine S.

Marshall, 2005-06-22 The list of authors is impressive. Several are widely published and well known over time in the interdisciplinary field of family studies. They represent many of the disciplines whose work comes together in this field. Barbara B. Germino, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill: First, there is a need for a book like this one that pulls together recent work on families and health. Second, the chapters are written by some of the best people in the field; the coverage is comprehensive and should appeal to a number of different audiences. Russ Crane is experienced in this area and a reliable and established scholar. In sum, it is a fine contribution. William Doherty, University of Minnesota: Past President, National Council on Family Relations. Handbook of Families and Health: Interdisciplinary Perspectives presents state-of-the-art summaries of research related to couple, marital, and family influences on health. Editors D. Russell Crane and Elaine S. Marshall, along with a distinguished group of contributors across various disciplines, bring complementary perspectives to a wide range of families and health issues. A major goal of this Handbook is to highlight common issues, concerns, and goals across diverse fields and the benefits of bringing multiple perspectives to these issues. A significant portion of the book is devoted to interventions to improve family health. Key Features: Includes contributions from authors that are respected experts from a broad range of disciplines including family studies, marriage and family therapy, nursing, and family medicine; gerontology, health psychology, and behavioral medicine; social work and public policy to provide readers with multiple perspectives. Covers a number of important health issues including cancer, eating disorders, mental illness, the influence of close relationships on health, and how families cope with chronic illness, caregiving, and end-of-life care and bereavement to address the most significant health issues affecting families. Devotes special attention to Latino and African American health, childhood poverty, genetically transmitted diseases, infertility, and parental HIV/AIDS to offer insight on how these issues are particularly vital in today's world. Presents a discussion on agent-based modeling to provide readers with a dynamic methodology that will become a significant model in the study of families and close relationships. The Handbook is designed for scholars, graduate students, and practitioners in the field of families and health. It is a cross-disciplinary resource for a variety of programs and departments including Family Studies, Nursing, Health Psychology, and Public Policy. School Supports for Students in Military Families Pamela Fenning, 2021-08-03 How does growing up in a military family affect the educational experiences of children and youth? What can K-12 school practitioners do to support these students' academic, behavioral, and social/emotional success? This book describes effective ways to help students and their families navigate such challenges as relocation, school transitions, and parental deployment. Pamela Fenning presents strengths-based assessment, intervention, and prevention strategies that reflect deep knowledge of military culture and fit perfectly within a schoolwide, multi-tiered system of support (MTSS). In a convenient, large-size format, the book includes a reproducible data collection form that can be downloaded and printed for repeated use. This book is in The Guilford Practical Intervention in the Schools Series, edited by Sandra M. Chafouleas. Family Support as Reflective Practice Pat Dolan, John Canavan, John Pinkerton, 2006

Family support is an increasingly strategic approach to welfare services for children and families This book covers core issues in family support Providing a combination of clear theoretical frameworks and practical guidance this book will assist practitioners in working with families Federal Register ,1994-05-13
