Family Homelessness:

Family Homelessness Karleen Jackson, 2021-12-24 First published in 2000 This book examines the multiple factors which contribute to family homelessness and uses quantitative and qualitative analyses to identify those factors which represent the major supports and barriers to homeless exit and housing stability Results show that while family homelessness is not caused by a single issue but a combination of issues including alcohol substance abuse untreated mental illness domestic violence family configuration lack of community or social supports and or lack of affordable housing options community and social supports provide the single most significant impact on the ability of families to exit homelessness and maintain stable housing Quantitative data suggests that investing in community social supports for homeless families could facilitate their exit from homelessness and increase housing stability for families at risk while reducing those supports might increase homelessness Qualitative data indicates that supportive relationships are instrumental to understanding that while homelessness is a terrible experience those who experience homelessness are not terrible people Furthermore recognizing that a loss of housing does not necessarily mean the loss of one's symbolic representation of home could assist families in viewing homelessness as a transformational learning experience rather than a traumatic failure Child and Family

Homeless Children Panos Vostanis,Stuart Cumella,1999-01-01 An increasing number of families are becoming homeless often as a result of domestic violence which leaves women and their school age children without homes This multidisciplinary volume is the first to look at the variety of problems encountered by this group and to propose strategies for managing those problems The contributors to this book provide evidence that homeless children often have more acute problems and needs than other children as a result of the insecurity of their situation they may experience physical health problems and developmental delay They are also at high risk of emotional and behavioural difficulties such as sleep disturbance eating problems aggression over activity anxiety depression and self harm At the same time due to their unstable situation they are less able to access support from the health education and social services Homeless Children defines the specific problems and needs of homeless children and draws up practical guidelines for staff and agencies on recognising and dealing with those problems It then looks at policy and service development for homeless families in education health and social care and concludes that conventional methods of provision have to be adapted to meet the specific needs of this vulnerable group Reauthorization of the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act United States.
