Boarded and we were more than pleasantly surprised to find that for the first time since we left New Zealand we could go into a camp area and find tents, mess huts andouthouses already erected for us.

We at once set to work to improve our camp and take full advantage of the healthy and comparatively invigorating climate of New Caledonia. Universal recreational training, rest and a moderate of leave was the order of the day and it is remarkable how the health of the battalion improved. Although we had not realized it, our nine months of primitive life in the steamy tropical jungles had taken toll of our physique and we set to work with a will to regain lost weight. We very much appreciated the amenities the loan organizations had prepared for us in New Caledonia. A meal at the Boarding Club or at the Boarding beach in the Kiri Club served on a table with linen and china, by New Zealand WAACs, was a real treat especially when it is to be remembered that none of us had not seen a white woman (much less a New Zealand girl) for nine months. Probably the greatest boon of all was the plentiful supply of fresh water and hot showers. It was almost ecstasy to stand under a hot shower and get up a good lather, and it took some time for us to get used to the idea that we could drink as much fresh water as we desired, and wash ourselves and our clothes in it to our heart's content. While recuperating in New Caledonia for several weeks manpower and furlough drafts so depleted our ranks that by the end of July the battalion was a mere shadow of its former self. The days passed pleasantly enough but the burning question was "when do we move to New Zealand?"

At length instructions began to drift in, then pour in, until finally they seemed to flow in our continuous stream. We found that we were to say goodbye to New Caledonia, leave our furlough in New Zealand and then we would receive further instructions. An excellent organization called the force rear party under the command of base headquarters was to handle all our stores and provide guards, and each unit was instructed to provide a proportion of its men for this job. Our quota eyed us with every but quite uninterest early because their arrival in New Zealand was delayed only a month or so.

So the balance of the battalion set to work to check, pack and hand over to the force rear party all of our battalion equipment, accompanied by packing lists, manifests shipping schedules and all

McDonough, 2002-07-15 This is an epic action-adventure romantic historic account of a family that came to America in 1752 as indentured servants and helped to build this country into the great nation it has become. They have fought in every war that this country has ever been engaged in, yet it is not a war novel. It is the story of America. This is the great American novel depicting the type of people that made America the great nation that it is today. It is an historical action-adventure and romantic story of real people the reader will recognize as their neighbors. The War Chronicles of Jerzy Dobiecki Ian von Hientze, 2019-02-05 This tribute to the life of Jerzy Dobiecki, a Polish cavalry captain with the 18th Pułk Ułanów Pomorskich, the 18th Polish Pomeranian Lancers, is a story based on previously archived material originally written by the Captain in Polish that has been translated for the first time into English. The Captain's chronicles bring to life eye-witness accounts of his regiment's deployments during the Russo-Polish War between 1919 and 1921, one of several little-publicized wars in English and fought between Poland and her neighbors immediately following the 1914-1918 Great War. Eighteen years later, as Poland was invaded by Germany in September 1939, from his position on attachment to the Polish Ministry of Military Affairs in Warsaw, Captain Dobiecki kept a diary of battles as they developed across Poland during the first weeks of the Second World War. The diary records events as he and what remained of the Polish military High Command were evacuated to neighboring Romania when Poland was additionally overrun by Soviet forces from the east. His journal sheds light on his subsequent escape from internment across Europe to France and later on to Britain, where he served as a staff officer with the command of the Polish 1st Corps formed in exile in Scotland. Following the end of hostilities in Europe in 1945 and upon return to Britain after the fighting on the continent, like thousands of other Poles, he was commissioned under the auspices of the Polish Resettlement Corps. Jerzy had to decide whether to return to his native Poland or whether he should try to somehow rescue and bring to England what was left of his family, now trapped behind the iron curtain in eastern Poland, facing an uncertain future and severity under a Stalinist regime. Desloge Chronicles - A Tale of Two Continents - An

Contemporary Diasporic South Asian Women's Fiction

Ruvani Ranasinha, 2016-05-28 This book is the first comparative analysis of a new generation of diasporic Anglophone South Asian women novelists including Kiran Desai, Tahmima Anam, Monica Ali, Kamila Shamsie, and Jhumpa Lahiri from a feminist perspective. It charts the significant changes these writers have produced in postcolonial and contemporary women's fiction since the late 1990s. Paying careful attention to the authors' distinct subcontinental backgrounds of Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Sri Lanka, as well as India, this study destabilises the central place given to fiction focused on India. It broadens the customary focus on diasporic writers' metropolitan contexts, illuminates how these transnational female-authored literary texts challenge national assumptions, and considers the ways in which this new configuration of transnational feminist writers produces a postcolonial feminist discourse which differs from Anglo-American feminism.

The conflict tested and tormented the country collectively and individually in ways few historical events have. The Human Tradition in the Vietnam Era provides a window into some of those personal journeys through that troubled time. The poor and the powerful, male and female, hawk and dove, civilian and military are all here. This rich collection of original biographical essays provides contemporary readers with a sense of what it was like to be an American in the 1960s and early 1970s, while also helping them gain an understanding of some of the broader issues of the era.
