The Mirror and the Mind
Katja Guenther, 2022-11-08 How the classic mirror test served as a portal for scientists to explore questions of self awareness Since the late eighteenth century scientists have placed subjects humans infants animals and robots in front of mirrors in order to look for signs of self recognition Mirrors served as the possible means for answering the question What makes us human In The Mirror and the Mind Katja Guenther traces the history of the mirror self recognition test exploring how researchers from a range of disciplines psychoanalysis psychiatry developmental and animal psychology cybernetics anthropology and neuroscience came to read the peculiar behaviors elicited by mirrors Investigating the ways mirrors could lead to both identification and misidentification Guenther looks at how such experiments ultimately failed to determine human specificity The mirror test was thrust into the limelight when Charles Darwin challenged the idea that language sets humans apart Thereafter the mirror previously a recurrent if marginal scientific tool became dominant in attempts to demarcate humans from other animals But because researchers could not rely on language to determine what their nonspeaking subjects were experiencing they had to come up with significant innovations including notation strategies testing protocols and the linking of scientific theories across disciplines From the robotic tortoises of Grey Walter and the mark test of Beulah Amsterdam and Gordon Gallup to anorexia research and mirror neurons the mirror test offers a window into the emergence of such fields as biology psychology psychiatry animal studies cognitive science and neuroscience The Mirror and the Mind offers an intriguing history of experiments in self awareness and the advancements of the human sciences across more than a century

Full and Partial Hospitalization Interventions for Eating Disorders Enrica Marzola, Cheri Alicia Levinson, Renee Rienecke, Valentina Cardi, 2021-12-06

The Course of Eating Disorders Wolfgang Herzog, Hans-Christian Deter, W. Vandereycken, 2012-12-06 More and more clinicians as well as researchers realize that anorexia nervosa and bulimia nervosa often are extremely difficult to treat and that the short term outcome can be very misleading In many cases these disorders prevail for a long period of time and can have serious consequences for the patient's further life This book gives a detailed overview of today's knowledge regarding the long term outcome of the treatment of anorexic and bulimic patients many of whom were treated in highly specialized centers Experts from both Europe and the U S report on their most recent research Their studies include medical as well as psychosocial and psychiatric aspects of eating disorders Clinicians with long experience in the treatment of eating disorder patients discuss the important practical implications of these research findings The information given in this book is helpful for both treatment and prevention of eating disorders Finally concrete guidelines show as how to conduct further follow up studies in this field      Specialty Competencies in Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology Alfred J. Finch, Jr., John E. Lochman, W. Michael Nelson, III, Michael C. Roberts, 2012-02-03

The specialty of clinical child and adolescent psychology has a history that dates back to the turn of the century when the first psychological clinic for children was reportedly established. As it is currently applied, this broad and wide ranging specialty took organizational shape from the 1960s through the 1990s and today child and adolescent psychology shares many characteristics and plays a collaborative role with other specialties within professional psychology. These include clinical psychology, cognitive and behavioral psychology, school psychology, and clinical health psychology. In this volume, Dr. Finch and his co-authors provide a comprehensive demonstration of the competencies involved in this specialty, extending far beyond the scope of the age of its identified patient population. Offering an evidence-based best practices model of intervention informed by an integration of multiple professional competencies from a range of other specialty areas, this book is an invaluable resource for all those interested in pursuing the clinical child and adolescent specialty practice. Series in Specialty Competencies in Professional Psychology Series Editors: Arthur M. Nezu and Christine Maguth Nezu. As the field of psychology continues to grow and new specialty areas emerge and achieve recognition, it has become increasingly important to define the standards of professional specialty practice. Developed and conceived in response to this need for practical guidelines, this series presents methods, strategies, and techniques for conducting day-to-day practice in any given psychology specialty. The topical volumes address best practices across the functional and foundational competencies that characterize the various psychology specialties, including clinical psychology, cognitive and behavioral psychology, school psychology, geropsychology, forensic psychology, clinical neuropsychology, couples and family psychology, and more. Functional competencies include common practice activities like assessment and intervention, while foundational competencies represent core knowledge areas such as ethical and legal issues, cultural diversity, and professional identification. In addition to describing these competencies, each volume provides a definition, description, and development timeline of a particular specialty, including its essential and characteristic pattern of activities as well as its distinctive and unique features. Written by recognized experts in their respective fields, volumes are comprehensive, up-to-date, and accessible. These volumes offer invaluable guidance to not only practicing mental health professionals but also those training for specialty practice as well.
