God Peg Augustine, 2010-10-01 What is the number one gift parents want for their children? Their time. Children don't stay children forever so time spent with them today will become the memories cherished tomorrow. It is indeed a memorable treasure when families come together to learn about God's Word. Family Time With God is an outstanding resource that offers a full year's worth of activities parents can do with their children every day to help them grow spiritually and to build strong family relationships. Each week includes a Scripture text on which the activities for the week are based, a talk point that provides parents with a weekly theme to talk about with their children, a Bible story parents can read to their children, and a variety of activities for every day of the week which provide a basis for personal time spent with children.

Reclaiming Family Time Tim and Sue Muldoon, 2017-08-03 What happens when our lives spin out of control because we are so busy and overcommitted? The negative consequences of such a lifestyle are well known but few of us are able to put on the brakes so that we can truly enjoy the gift of one another. Tim and Sue Muldoon take both a meditative and practical approach to this issue. They help us experience the peace that only God can give and they also share what has and hasn't worked in their own family. While there is no magic bullet, the Muldoons show us that when we put God first in our lives, our other priorities fall into line as well. That makes it possible to discern the best ways to spend our time both individually and collectively to build a strong foundation of lasting family relationships.

Costs Associated with First-Time Homelessness for Families and Individuals Brooke Spellman, 2010-10 Examines costs associated with the use of homeless and mainstream service delivery systems by families and individuals experiencing homelessness for the first time in six study communities. Assigning costs to public programs is a first step toward developing measures of the value of public interventions compared to the public costs incurred by ignoring or avoiding the problems those interventions are intended to address. The study finds that the experience of homelessness is diverse and the associated costs vary tremendously depending on the pattern of homelessness and family or individual status. It is not, however, a study of either cost effectiveness or quality of care but rather a calculation of costs associated with homelessness. Illustrations.

Families in Troubled Times Rand Conger, 2020-11-25 This book documents the experiences of rural Iowa families who lived through the farm crisis years of the 1980s in a fashion that might help families of the future cope more successfully with economic reversals. The documentation could be used to fashion more effective social policies.

Family Communication Kathleen M. Galvin, Dawn O. Braithwaite, Carma L. Bylund, 2015-09-25 Family Communication Cohesion and Change encourages students to observe family interaction patterns analytically and relate communication theories to family interactions. Using a framework of family functions, first person narratives, and current research, Family Communication Cohesion and Change emphasizes the diversity of today's families in terms of structure, ethnic patterns, and developmental experiences.

The Role of Non-State Actors in the Green Transition Jens Hoff, Quentin Gausset, Simon Lex, 2019-09-02 This book argues that there is no way to make progress in building a sustainable future without extensive participation of non state actors The volume explores the contribution of non state actors to a sustainable transition starting with citizens and communities of different kinds and ending with cities and city networks The authors analyse social cultural political and economic drivers and barriers for this transition from individual behaviour to structural restraints and investigate interplay between the two Through a series of wide ranging case studies from the UK Australia Germany Italy and Denmark and a number of comparative case studies the volume provides an empirically and theoretically robust argument that highlights the need to develop widen and scale up collective action and community based engagement if the transition to sustainability is to be successful This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change sustainability and environmental policy

Perspectives on Family Ministry Timothy Paul Jones, 2009-10-01 In Perspectives on Family Ministry Timothy Paul Jones makes the case that every church is called to some form of family ministry but what he means by family ministry isn't simply one more program to add to an already packed schedule According to Jones the most effective family ministries involve refocusing every church process to engage parents in the process of discipling their children and to draw family members together instead of pulling them apart Jones sets the stage with introductory chapters on the historical contexts and foundations of family ministry Then three effective practitioners show clearly how your church can make the transition to family ministry Paul Renfro pastor of discipleship at Grace Family Baptist Church in Spring Texas writes in favor of Family Integrated Ministry where the emphasis is on intergenerational discipleship Brandon Shields minister to high school students at Highview Baptist Church a multi site megachurch in Kentucky and Indiana supports Family Based Ministry ministry that organizes programs according to ages and interests but also develops intentional activities and training events to bring families together Jay Strother minister to emerging generations at Brentwood Baptist Church in Tennessee prefers Family Equipping Ministry maintaining age organized ministry while reorganizing the congregation to call parents to become active partners in the discipleship of their children

Methods of Family Research Irving E. Sigel, Gene Brody, 2014-02-24 These companion volumes provide a behind the scenes look into the personal experiences of researchers in an effort to eliminate the lack of communication surrounding family research methodology They show how the researchers achieved their results and why they chose particular methodologies over others These volumes present more than just findings they present the real experiences of the authors in their own styles and personalities exposing the problems mistakes and concerns they experienced during their research projects Volume I presents the experiences of researchers into typical normative populations Volume II describes work with clinical atypical populations
