Assessment Ian Wilkinson, 2003-09-02 Child and Family Assessment is based on Ian Wilkinson's extensive experience of working with troubled children and families over the last twenty years. This completely revised and updated edition of Family Assessment Gardner Press 1993 combines a clear summary of current knowledge with practical, detailed and adaptable procedures for practitioner use. Part one reviews the literature on child and family assessment; part two discusses the practical issues involved and provides detailed guidelines for practitioners; a final part examines the relationship between clinical practice, assessment and science with respect to children and families. Written from an eclectic point of view in a clear and precise style using common sense terms, this book will be an essential guide for all those in the helping professions including therapists, psychologists, doctors, nurses, social workers and lawyers. Helping Couples and Families Navigate Illness and Disability John S. Rolland, 2018-04-23 Couples and families face daunting challenges as they cope with serious illness and disability. This book gives clinicians a roadmap for helping affected individuals and their loved ones live well with a wide range of child, adult and later life conditions. John S. Rolland describes ways to intervene with emerging challenges over the course of long-term or life-threatening disorders. Using vivid case examples, he illustrates how clinicians can help families harness their strengths for positive adaptation and relational growth. Rolland's integrated systemic approach is useful for preventive screening, consultations, brief counseling, more intensive therapy and multifamily groups across health care settings and disciplines. This book significantly advances the clinical utility of Rolland's earlier landmark volume Families, Illness and Disability. Handbook Of Family Therapy Alan S. Gurman, David P. Kniskern, 2014-01-21 This volume reflects the achievements in developing new concepts and models of family therapy and new approaches to special clinical issues and problems during the 1980s. Chapters by experts such as Boszormenyi, Nagy, Everett, Guttman, Lankton, Liddle, McGoldrick, Madanes and Walsh offer insight into a variety of areas including systems theory, cybernetics and epistemology, contextual therapy, Ericksonian therapy, strategic family therapy, treating divorce in family therapy practice, ethnicity and family therapy, and training and supervision in family therapy. Bureau Publication ..., 1953 Family Life in Adolescence Patricia Noller, Sharon Atkin, 2014-01-01 Many parents fear the time when their beautiful, happy children will become unmanageable adolescents continually engaging in risky or destructive behaviour. Unfortunately, this view of adolescents is the focus of the media even though it relates to just a small proportion of young people. As the large amount of research we report shows, most adolescents are responsible young people who care about their families and crave the support of their parents. It is also true, however, as much research indicates that the quality of the relationship parents have with their adolescents is crucial to the wellbeing of those young people. We discuss the need for parents to set reasonable limits on their adolescents and to expect appropriate behavior. We also show, on the basis of research, that children who have experienced positive caring relationships with their parents are more likely than other adolescents to behave responsibly. In other words, behavior in adolescence does not come out of nowhere but builds on earlier experiences in the family. Because of the large amount of research reported in this volume we expect that it will be useful to practitioners from a range of professions that are likely to focus on adolescents social workers youth leaders welfare workers religious leaders psychologists and psychiatrists and contribute to a better understanding of young people and their development and the importance of families to that development

Study of Possibilities for Family Life Education at the Elementary-school Level Esther Marie Johnson,1949 Islam, Family Life, and Gender Inequality in Urban China Xiaowei Zang,2012-06-12 This book studies the relationship between Islam family processes and gender inequality among Uyghur Muslims in r mchi China Empirically it shows in quantitative terms the extent of gender inequalities among Uyghur Muslims in r mchi and tests whether the gender inequalities are a difference in kind or in degree It examines five aspects of gender inequality employment income household task accomplishment home management and spousal power Theoretically it investigates how Islamic affiliation and family life affect Uyghur women s status Zang s research involved rare and privileged access to a setting which is difficult for foreign scholars to study due to political restrictions The data are drawn from fieldwork in r mchi between 2005 and 2008 which include a survey of 577 families field observations and 200 in depth interviews with local Uyghurs The book combines qualitative and quantitative data and methods to study gendered behavior and outcomes The author s study reinterprets family power and offers a more nuanced analysis of gender and domestic power in China and makes a pioneering effort to study spousal power gender inequality in labor market outcomes and gender inequality in household chores among members of ethnic minorities in China The book will be of interest to students and scholars of ethnic studies Chinese studies Asian anthropology and cultural sociology

The New Diversity of Family Life in Europe Banu Çitlak,Sebastian Kurtenbach,Megan Lueneburg,Meglana Zlatkova,2017-04-03 The authors focus on families who organize their lives in transnational social spaces within and at the outer borders of Europe to offer a new perspective on transnational family life and to advance the knowledge on borders drawn by social inequality discrimination and political exclusion They also discuss social mobility as inheriting different life worlds while crossing borders The research on the socialization of children raised in different societies provides a better understanding of the new generations in Europe from the beginning of the XXI c The variety of methods presented in this book is also a contribution to link Western and Eastern European perspectives as well as sociology and anthropology in order to capture a wider spectrum of social reality
