The History of Famine Relief in China Yunte Deng, 2020-07-23 The first English translation of Deng Yunte's study of famine relief throughout the history of China The History of the Great Irish Famine of 1847 John O'Rourke, 1875

Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja, Hsu-Ming Teo, 2024-12-16
Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel. In narratives of the journey towards love, romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples. When history is invoked in such stories, the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation, a narrative strategy by which all manner of things, settings, characters, costumes, customs, consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love. This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction to ask: can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past? This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women's historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also replicate colonial discourse unintentionally positioning readers as neocolonial neo-Orientalist cultural voyeurs as well as voyagers.

The Great Famine William Chester Jordan, 1997-12-15 The horrors of the Great Famine 1315-1322, one of the severest catastrophes ever to strike northern Europe, lived on for centuries in the minds of Europeans who recalled tales of widespread hunger, class warfare, epidemic disease, frighteningly high mortality and unspeakable crimes. Until now, no one has offered a perspective of what daily life was actually like throughout the entire region devastated by this crisis, nor has anyone probed far into its causes. Here, the distinguished historian William Jordan provides the first comprehensive inquiry into the Famine from Ireland to western Poland, from Scandinavia to central France and western Germany. He produces a rich cultural history of medieval community life, drawing his evidence from such sources as meteorological and agricultural records, accounts kept by monasteries providing for the needy, and documentation of military campaigns. Whereas there has been a tendency to describe the food shortages as a result of simply bad weather or else poor economic planning, Jordan sets the stage so that we see the complex interplay of social and environmental factors that caused this particular disaster and allowed it to continue for so long. Jordan begins with a description of medieval northern Europe at its demographic peak around 1300, by which time the region had achieved a sophisticated level of economic integration. He then looks at problems that, when combined with years of inundating rains and brutal winters, gnawed away at economic stability. From animal diseases and harvest failures to volatile prices, class antagonism and distribution breakdowns brought on by constant war, northern Europeans felt helplessly besieged by acts of an angry God. Although a cessation of war and a more equitable distribution of resources might have lessened the severity of the food shortages, throughout Jordan interweaves vivid historical detail with a sharp analysis of why certain responses to the famine failed. He ultimately shows that while the northern European economy did recover quickly, the Great Famine ushered in a period of social instability that had serious repercussions for generations to come The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction Liam Harte, 2020-10-15 The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction presents authoritative essays by thirty five leading scholars of Irish fiction They provide in depth assessments of the breadth and achievement of novelists and short story writers whose collective contribution to the evolution and modification of these unique art forms has been far out of proportion to Ireland's small size The volume brings a variety of critical perspectives to bear on the development of modern Irish fiction situating authors texts and genres in their social intellectual and literary historical contexts The Handbook's coverage encompasses an expansive range of topics including the recalcitrant atavisms of Irish Gothic fiction nineteenth century Irish women's fiction and its influence on emergent modernism and cultural nationalism the diverse modes of irony fabulism and social realism that characterize the fiction of the Irish Literary Revival the fearless aesthetic radicalism of James Joyce the jolting narratological experiments of Samuel Beckett Flann O'Brien and Mairéad Ní Cadhain the fate of the realist and modernist traditions in the work of Elizabeth Bowen Frank O'Connor Seán O'Faoláin and Mary Lavin and in that of their ambivalent heirs Edna O'Brien John McGahern and John Banville the subversive treatment of sexuality and gender in Northern Irish women's fiction written during and after the Troubles the often neglected genres of Irish crime fiction science fiction and fiction for children the many hued novelistic responses to the experiences of famine revolution and emigration and the variety and vibrancy of post millennial fiction from both parts of Ireland Readably written and employing a wealth of original research The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Fiction illuminates a distinguished literary tradition that has altered the shape of world literature

Michelet, Famine and Pestilence in the Late Roman and Early Byzantine Empire Dionysios Ch. Stathakopoulos,2017-05-15 Famine and Pestilence in the Late Roman and Early Byzantine Empire presents the first analytical account in English of the history of subsistence crises and epidemic diseases in Late Antiquity Based on a catalogue of all such events in the East Roman Byzantine empire between 284 and 750 it gives an authoritative analysis of the causes effects and internal mechanisms of these crises and incorporates modern medical and physiological data on epidemics and famines Its interest is both in the history of medicine and the history of Late Antiquity especially its social and demographic aspects Stathakopoulos develops models of crises that apply not only to the society of the late Roman and early Byzantine world but also to early modern and even contemporary societies in Africa or Asia This study is therefore both a work of reference for information on particular events e g the 6th century Justinianic plague and a comprehensive analysis of subsistence crises and epidemics as agents of historical causation As such it makes an important contribution to the ongoing debate on Late Antiquity bringing a fresh perspective to comment on the characteristic features that shaped this period and differentiate it from Antiquity and the Middle Ages Famine in European History Guido Alfani, Cormac Ó Gráda, 2017-08-31 The first systematic study of famine in all parts of Europe from the Middle Ages to present It compares the characteristics consequences and causes of famine in regional case studies by leading experts to form a comprehensive picture of when and why food security across the continent became a critical issue The Routledge Companion to Cultural Text and the Nation Sheera Talpaz, Anuradha Dingwaney Needham, 2025-03-31 The Routledge Companion to Cultural Text and the Nation brings together over 30 articles by leading and emerging scholars from around the world who engage fresh critical lenses from affect studies to the medical humanities and re energize established frameworks to examine the interplay between cultural production and conceptualizations of the nation and nationalism The scholarship in this volume takes as its objects of analysis various forms of aesthetic and cultural production from film and literature to museums and costume books enriching the conversation that has often siloed these forms Geared toward scholars graduate students and upper level undergraduates across the humanities and social sciences this timely interdisciplinary collection is issued at a critical juncture in the transformation of the nation and the global resurgence of regressive and populist nationalist movements Both offering new insights reorienting our understanding of canonical materials and bringing noncanonical works to light this volume challenges long held assumptions about the nation while establishing its continued significance and future possibilities

Select Notes on the International Sabbath School Lessons Francis Nathan Peloubet, 1879 Periodical Famines Lindsay Janssen, 2025-02-04 Long recognized as Ireland s greatest demographic disaster in recent history the Great Famine of 1845 1851 has shaped Irish identities around the world From the monuments erected to commemorate its victims to the political rhetoric involving it to the novels poems songs and films that it continues to inspire the Famine remains a crucial part of Irish memory Famine memories have also reached across history and national borders to establish links with cultural groups who were not directly connected to the Irish diaspora Periodical Famines reveals how within the transatlantic Irish periodical market between 1845 and 1910 Irish Irish American and Irish Canadian newspapers and magazines acted as carriers and shapers of cultural identities Lindsay Janssen argues that famine memory was deployed transhistorically to help represent other crucial events in the Irish past and periodicals used Famine recollections transnationally to give new meaning to events outside of Ireland such as labor issues in the United States and the Second Boer War Moving beyond individual writings to interrogate how different texts printed within a periodical issue influenced each other and affected audiences attitudes to Irish hunger and distress Janssen s cotextual approach reveals the intricate and sometimes divergent paths that Famine memory traveled through in the decades during and after its onset Drawing upon a substantial corpus of creative and nonfiction periodical publications including nearly 600 works of poetry and prose fiction Periodical Famines is a thorough analysis of transatlantic Irish periodical culture during and after the Great Famine demonstrating how periodicals transmission of famine memories shaped global cultures Famine and Disease in Ireland E Margaret Crawford, 2020-06-01

This collection contains Five volumes of reprints of contemporary works relating to the Great Famine including writings on the medical conditions in Ireland at the time gathered from the Dublin Journal of Medical Science and similar publications

Images of the Byzantine World Angeliki Lymberopoulou, 2016-12-05 The main themes of this volume are the identification of visions messages and meanings in various facets of Byzantine culture and the possible differences in the perception of these visions messages and meanings as seen by their original audience and by modern scholars The volume addresses the methodological question of how far interpretations should go whether there is a tendency to read too much into too little or whether not enough attention is paid to apparent minutiae that may have been important in their historical context As the essays span a wide chronological era they also present a means of assessing the relative degrees of continuity and change in Byzantine visions messages and meanings over time Thus as highlighted in the concluding section the book discusses the validity of existing notions regarding the fluidity of Byzantine culture when continuity was a matter of a rigid adherence to traditional values and when a manifestation of the ability to adapt old conventions to new circumstances and it shows that in some respects Byzantine cultural history may have been less fragmented than is usually assumed Similarly by reflecting not just on new interpretations but also on the process of interpreting itself the contributors demonstrate how research within Byzantine studies has evolved over the past thirty years from a set of narrowly defined individual disciplines into a broader exploration of interconnected cultural phenomena
