Ecology Of Housing Destruction Economic Effects Of Public Intervention In The Housing Market:

The Ecology of Housing Destruction Peter D. Salins, 1980      Housing and Planning References United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Library, 1981      Housing and Planning References, 1981      Shelter Poverty Michael Stone, 2010-08-12 the most original and profoundly disturbing work on the critical issue of housing affordability Chester Hartman President Poverty and Race Research Action Council In Shelter Poverty Michael E Stone presents the definitive discussion of housing and social justice in the United States Challenging the conventional definition of housing affordability Stone offers original and powerful insights about the nature causes and consequences of the affordability problem and presents creative and detailed proposals for solving a problem that afflicts one third of this nation Setting the housing crisis into broad political economic and historical contexts Stone asks What is shelter poverty Why does it exist and persist and How can it be overcome Describing shelter poverty as the denial of a universal human need Stone offers a quantitative scale by which to measure it and reflects on the social and economic implications of housing affordability in this country He argues for the right to housing and presents a program for transforming a large proportion of the housing in this country from an expensive commodity into an affordable social entitlement Employing new concepts of housing ownership tenure and finance he favors social ownership in which market concepts have a useful but subordinate role in the identification of housing preferences and allocation Stone concludes that political action around shelter poverty will further the goal of achieving a truly just and democratic society that is also equitably and responsibly productive and prosperous      Labor Economics from a Free Market Perspective Walter Block, 2008 Chiral Dynamics 2006 consists of the most recent developments in the field of chiral symmetry and dynamics Advances in theory and updates on experimental programs are presented in 20 papers in the plenary program and more than one hundred invited and contributed talks from the working groups are included in another section      A Detroit Story Claire W. Herbert, 2021-03-16 Bringing to the fore a wealth of original research A Detroit Story examines how the informal reclamation of abandoned property has been shaping Detroit for decades Claire Herbert lived in the city for almost five years to get a ground view sense of how this process molds urban areas She participated in community meetings and tax foreclosure protests interviewed various groups followed scrappers through abandoned buildings and visited squatted houses and gardens Herbert found that new residents with more privilege often have their back to the earth practices formalized by local policies whereas longtime more disempowered residents usually representing communities of color have their practices labeled as illegal and illegitimate She teases out how these divergent treatments reproduce long standing inequalities in race class and property ownership      The Affordable Housing Reader Elizabeth J. Mueller, J. Rosie Tighe, 2013-03-05 The Affordable Housing Reader brings together classic works and contemporary writing on the themes and debates that have animated the field of affordable housing policy as well as the challenges in achieving the goals of policy on the ground The Reader aimed at professors students and researchers provides an overview of the literature on housing policy and planning that is both comprehensive and interdisciplinary. It is particularly suited for graduate and undergraduate courses on housing policy offered to students of public policy and city planning. The Reader is structured around the key debates in affordable housing ranging from the conflicting motivations for housing policy through analysis of the causes of and solutions to housing problems to concerns about gentrification and housing and race. Each debate is contextualized in an introductory essay by the editors and illustrated with a range of texts and articles. Elizabeth Mueller and Rosie Tighe have brought together for the first time into a single volume the best and most influential writings on housing and its importance for planners and policy makers. Losing Ground (10th Anniversary Edition) Charles Murray, 2008-08-04 This classic book serves as a starting point for any serious discussion of welfare reform. Losing Ground argues that the ambitious social programs of the 1960s and 1970s actually made matters worse for its supposed beneficiaries the poor and minorities. Charles Murray startled readers by recommending that we abolish welfare reform but his position launched a debate culminating in President Clinton's proposal to end welfare as we know it. Free Enterprise Environmentalism Walter E. Block, 2021-10-18 In Free Enterprise Environmentalism Walter E. Block argues that laissez faire capitalism can address climate change more effectively than socialism and government regulation. Block advocates for the role of markets, free enterprise, limited government, and private property rights in service of environmental protections. Covering topics such as extinction, overpopulation, pollution, and resources exhaustion, this volume offers alternate solutions to environmental degradation than have been proposed by the political left.

Equity And Energy Mark N. Cooper, 2019-03-04 Arguing that the energy price policies of the 1970s represented a major equity efficiency trade off and led to a dramatic decline in the living standard of lower income Americans, this book presents a comprehensive data based assessment of the plight of lower income households between 1973 and 1983. Assisting the Homeless, 1988 Papers from a policy conference sponsored by the U.S. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Place Matters Peter Dreier, John H. Mollenkopf, Todd Swanstrom, 2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America's cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America's urban crisis back on the national agenda. Housing America in the 1980s John S. Adams, 1988-05-16 Housing provides shelter in a variety of forms but it is also resonant with meaning on many other levels as a financial asset, a status symbol, an expression of private aspirations and identities, a means of inclusion or exclusion, and finally as a battleground for social change. John Adams' impressive new study explores this complex topic in all its dimensions. Using census data and other housing surveys, Adams describes the recent history of housing in America, the nature of housing supply and demand, patterns of housing use, and selected housing policy questions. Adams supplements this national and regional analysis with a remarkable set of small area analyses revealing how neighborhood settings affect housing use and how market forces and other trends interact to shape a neighborhood. These analyses focus on a sample of over fifty urbanized areas including the nation's three largest cities: New York, Los Angeles, and Chicago.

Special two color maps illustrate the dynamics of housing use in each of these communities Clearly and insightfully this volume paints a unique picture of the American housing landscape a landscape that reflects and regulates significant aspects of our national life A Volume in the Russell Sage Foundation Census Series     Unraveling the Crime-Place Connection, Volume 22 David Weisburd, John E. Eck, 2017-11-22 Unraveling the Crime Place Connection examines in a new light how places enhance our understanding of crime and its control While there has been much work in this area focused on policy few have examined the underlying theories that inform this work Theory has played a secondary role in the criminology of place and this volume brings it to the forefront of scholarly concerns Each part and its chapters illuminate cutting edge ideas in the etiology and control of crime at place beginning with an introductory Part I Crime is often concentrated in very small geographies and Part II emphasizes the importance of capturing the dynamic nature of places in order to understand crime clustering Part III offers integrative theories on the varying contextual arrangements of places and links theories of places to other theories of individuals neighborhoods and other social contexts In Part IV theorists ask how the actions of place owners facilitate or control crime and what policies governments can institute to regulate place management This volume will be of interest to criminologists worldwide and useful for graduate level or advanced undergraduate courses on environmental criminology or crime prevention     A Right to Housing Rachel G. Bratt, Michael E. Stone, Chester W. Hartman, 2006 An examination of America's housing crisis by the leading progressive housing activists in the country     Philosophy of Law Walter E. Block, Roy Whitehead, 2019-11-14 Looking at discrimination education environment health and crime this volume analyses United States Supreme Court rulings on several legal issues and proposed libertarian solutions to each problem Setting their own liberal theory of law each chapter discusses the law at hand what it should be and what it would be if their political economic philosophy were the justification of the legal practice Covering issues such as sexual harassment religion markets in human organs drug prohibition and abortion this book is a timely contribution to classical liberal debate on law and economics     Business, Capitalism and Corporate Citizenship Malcolm McIntosh, 2017-09-08 In the first decades of the twenty first century the theory and practice of corporate citizenship and responsibility adapted significantly The pieces in this volume capture the essence of these changes with illuminating reflections by their preeminent authors on success failure learning and progress Featuring contributions from John Ruggie Peter Senge R Edward Freeman Jan Aart Scholte and Georg Kell it charts the rise of corporate citizenship sustainability and corporate social responsibility This title is one of a two volume set a collection of seminal and thought provoking essays drawn from the Journal of Corporate Citizenship's archive accompanied by new analysis and reflection from the original authors Written by some of the most widely recognized academic and business pioneers and leaders of the corporate responsibility and global sustainability movement the volumes make essential reference texts for anyone interested in the radically awakening new global political economy The Journal of Corporate Citizenship was launched in 2001 by Founding Editor Malcolm McIntosh and Greenleaf Publishing Today it continues to fulfil its mission to integrate theory and practice and provide a home for enlightened transdisciplinary thinking on the role of business and organizations in society      Cities and Private Planning David Emanuel Andersson, Stefano Moroni, 2014-09-26 Through comprehensive case studies of privately planned cities and neighbourhood in Asia Europe and North America this book characterizes the theoretical basis and empirical manifestations of private urban planning In this innovative volume Andersson      Papers and Proceedings of the Annual Meeting American Economic Association, 1982      The Northeast Journal of Business & Economics , 1986
