Ecology Of Practice Studies Of Food Crop Production In Subsaharan West Africa:

The Ecology of Practice A. Endre Nyerges, 1997 This pioneering work addresses the topic of hunger and food security in western Africa and the contributing authors are anthropologists who seek to understand the sociocultural factors involved in the environmental and economic aspects of food production Case studies from regions of Mauritania Senegal and Sierra Leone discuss how local farmers are responding to change and problems of food security The book focuses on technology and changing patterns of resource use in a social context This volume also has a comparative focus both within and across cultural areas and draws implications for planning and policy from the discussions of diverse agricultural systems The concept of ecology of practice which emphasizes the importance of local social arrangements in alleviating or aggravating problems of food security makes this book valuable to readers whose interests lie within as well as outside western Africa

Ecology of Practice A. Endre Nyerges, 2016-01-20 First Published in 1998 The study of the origin development and diversity of the human diet is emerging as a coherent field that offers a much needed integrative framework for our contemporary knowledge of the ecology of food and nutrition This authoritative series of monographs and symposia volumes on the history and anthropology of food and nutrition is designed to address this need by providing integrative approaches to the study of various problems within the human food chain As a series it offers many unique opportunities for a wide range of scientists scholars and other professionals representing anthropology archaeology food history economics agriculture folklore nutrition medicine pharmacology public health and public policy to exchange important new knowledge discoveries and methods involved in the study of all aspects of human food ways

The Biodemography of Subsistence Farming James W. Wood, 2020-04-23 Viewing the subsistence farm as primarily a demographic enterprise to create and support a family this book offers an integrated view of the demography and ecology of preindustrial farming Taking an interdisciplinary perspective it examines how traditional farming practices interact with demographic processes such as childbearing death and family formation It includes topics such as household nutrition physiological work capacity health and resistance to infectious diseases as well as reproductive performance and mortality The book argues that the farming household is the most informative scale at which to study the biodemography and physiological ecology of preindustrial non commercial agriculture It offers a balanced appraisal of the farming system considering its strengths and limitations as well as the implications of viewing it as a demographic enterprise rather than an economic one A valuable resource for graduate students and researchers in biological and physical anthropology cultural anthropology natural resource management agriculture and ecology

Against the Grain Bradley B. Walters, 2008 To rise to the increasingly urgent challenge of understanding the relationship between human beings and the environment scholars need to step back and re evaluate their basic premises about how current explanations should shape the form and content of their research Against the Grain addresses a variety of topics in the field of human ecology including ecological anthropology evolutionary psychology environmental history and geography and challenges scholars to re think the adequacy of their methods and assumptions Andrew P Vayda concludes the volume with a critical commentary on these issues and more widely on the subject of explanation The result is an extremely useful and provocative prZcis for thinking about re evaluating and rectifying scholarly research

Local Subversions of Colonial Cultures Harro Maat,Sandip Hazareesingh,2016-01-26 The book brings together original state of the art historical research from several continents and examines how mainly local peasant societies responded to colonial pressures to produce a range of different commodities It offers new directions in the study of African Asian Caribbean and Latin American societies

The Politics and Poetics of Water Lyla Mehta,2005 The book studies the relationship between large dams and water scarcity in Kutch It argues that water scarcity is not merely natural but is embedded in the social and power relations shaping water access use and practices Scarcity is portrayed as natural rather than human induced and this naturalisation of scarcity is beneficial to those who are powerful This is a significant book in the light of the growing water crisis in India and the world

Cooking and Coping Among the Cacti Roberta D. Baer,2014-05-01 Using data collected from 105 households in Sonora Mexico the author combines detailed ethnographic research with quantitative analyses of income diet and nutritional status to examine the dietary patterns of residents who cook and cope among the cacti Employing a new analytical concept of available income which can differ greatly from total income and provide valuable insight into why people eat what they do the work explores a variety of social and cultural factors that affect food expenditure and consumption Home production of food and the extent to which women are employed outside of the home are just two of the many variables discussed that influence available income and how it is used But even among groups with similar available incomes variables of ethnicity prestige nutritional knowledge and the desire for consumer goods come into play

Cultures of Environmental Communication Sara Nofri,2012-12-11 Sara Nofri combines several research methods multilingual bibliographic research quantitative content analysis semiotic text analysis interviews to journalists and a cross cultural interdisciplinary perspective for investigating environmental communication in the daily quality press of Germany Italy Sweden and UK She provides an in depth portrait of the features the focus the themes and stakeholders involved individuates different cultures of environment and cultures of communication and provides insights and practical tools to analyze and then evaluate environmental communication The methodological approach of this study can be readily transposed to studies investigating other contexts cultures and media

Farmers, Scientists, and Plant Breeding David Arthur Cleveland,Daniela Soleri,2002-01-01 The purpose of this book is to examine the nature of and relationship between the knowledge of farmers and of scientists and how these can be best integrated in plant breeding

Agribusiness and Society Kees Jansen,Sietze Vellema,2013-07-04 This volume examines how far agribusiness corporations are responding to the opportunities and pressures resulting from emerging environmental awareness In particular in what ways are they changing their R some changed their production practices in a sustainable way while others have complied with or resisted state environmental regulation notably labelling systems and certification Each study explores how institutional cultural economic political and technological contexts shape the strategies of big business Topics include green bananas genetically modified tomatoes and soy the new markets in organic produce health and pesticides and access to justice The book explains why some corporations are successful in introducing environmentally friendly innovations and others are not The key to understanding contrasting outcomes is examining the interaction between internal corporate environments where profit and efficiency considerations predominate and external environments where consumer preferences NGO pressures and government regulation are important The book also explores possible new roles for the public sector The result is a sophisticated and critical analysis of business practices and regulatory systems in the agro food sector

The Origins and Ancient History of Wine Patrick E. McGovern, Stuart J. Fleming, Solomon H. Katz, 2003-09-02 This volume presents contemporary evidence scientific archaeological botanical textual and historical for major revisions in our understanding of winemaking in antiquity Among the subjects covered are the domestication of the Vinifera grape the wine trade the iconography of ancient wine and the analytical and archaeological challenges posed by ancient wines The essayists argue that wine existed as long ago as 3500 BC almost half a millennium earlier than experts believed Discover named these findings among the most important in 1991 Featuring the work of 23 internationally known scholars and writers the book offers the first wide ranging treatment of wine in the early history of western Asia and the Mediterranean Comprehensive and accessible while providing full documentation it is sure to serve as a catalyst for future research

Healing the Herds Karen Brown, Daniel Gilfoyle, 2010-01-15 During the early 1990s the ability of dangerous diseases to pass between animals and humans was brought once more to the public consciousness These concerns continue to raise questions about how livestock diseases have been managed over time and in different social economic and political circumstances Healing the Herds Disease Livestock Economies and the Globalization of Veterinary Medicine brings together case studies from the Americas western Europe and the European and Japanese colonies to illustrate how the rapid growth of the international trade in animals through the nineteenth century engendered the spread of infectious diseases sometimes with devastating consequences for indigenous pastoral societies At different times and across much of the globe livestock epidemics have challenged social order and provoked state interventions often opposed by farmers and herders The intensification of agriculture has transformed environments with consequences for animal and human health But the last two centuries have also witnessed major changes in the way societies have conceptualized diseases and sought to control them From the late nineteenth century advances in veterinary technologies afforded veterinary scientists a new professional status and allowed them to wield greater political influence While older methods have remained important to strategies of control and prevention as demonstrated during the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Britain in 2001 the rise of germ theories and the discovery of vaccines against some infections made it possible to move beyond the blunt tools of animal culls and restrictive quarantines of the past Healing the Herds Disease Livestock Economies and the Globalization of Veterinary Medicine offers a new and exciting comparative approach to the complex interrelationships of microbes markets and medicine in the global economy

Land, Labour and Entrustment Pamela Kea, 2010-05-01 Diverse contractual arrangements and forms of exchange established between smallholder farmers their households and community work groups are important to our understanding of processes of agrarian transformation in Sub Saharan Africa However little has been written in this area Challenging portrayals of West African female farmers as a homogenous group the present study provides an ethnographic account of the contractual relations established between female hosts and migrants in the exchange of land and labour for agrarian production in a Gambian community Further it demonstrates the way in which despite the liberalization of the economy local cultural practices such as that of entrustment continue to be of significance in affecting the nature and particular character of agrarian transformation and postcolonial capitalist development

Rice Francesca Bray, Peter A. Coclanis, Edda L. Fields-Black, Dagmar Schäfer, 2015-02-19 Rice is a first step toward a history of rice and its place in capitalism from global and comparative perspectives

Co-management of Natural Resources in Asia Gerard Persoon, Diny M. E. van Est, Percy E. Sajise, 2003 One of the few studies focusing on co management of natural resources as opposed to general environmental issues This approach to environmental management is rapidly becoming popular in Asia Co management that is the sharing of responsibilities between governmental institutions and groups of resource users is rapidly becoming popular in Asia In many countries environmental management is reformulated from exclusive state control to various kinds of joint management in which local communities indigenous peoples and non governmental organizations share authority and benefits with governmental institutions In this book case studies of experiments with co management in a number of countries are combined with more reflective contributions pointing to underlying assumptions and problems in the actual implementation of co management

Zapotec Science Roberto J. González, 2010-01-01 2003 Julian Steward Award Anthropology Environment Section American Anthropological Association 2002 A CHOICE Outstanding Academic Book How Zapotec agricultural and dietary theories and practices constitute a valid local science Zapotec farmers in the northern sierra of Oaxaca Mexico are highly successful in providing their families with abundant nutritious food in an ecologically sustainable fashion although the premises that guide their agricultural practices would be considered erroneous by the standards of most agronomists and botanists in the United States and Europe In this book Roberto Gonz lez convincingly argues that in fact Zapotec agricultural and dietary theories and practices constitute a valid local science which has had a reciprocally beneficial relationship with European and United States farming and food systems since the sixteenth century Gonz lez bases his analysis upon direct participant observation in the farms and fields of a Zapotec village By using the ethnographic fieldwork approach he is able to describe and analyze the rich meanings that campesino families attach to their crops lands and animals Gonz lez also reviews the history of maize sugarcane and coffee cultivation in the Zapotec region to show how campesino farmers have intelligently and scientifically adapted their farming practices to local conditions over the course of centuries By setting his ethnographic study of the Talea de Castro community within a historical world systems perspective he also skillfully weighs the local impact of national and global currents ranging from Spanish colonialism to the 1910 Mexican Revolution to NAFTA At the same time he shows how at the turn of the twenty first century the sustainable practices of traditional subsistence agriculture are beginning to replace the failed unsustainable techniques of modern industrial farming in some parts of the United States and Europe

Science and Citizens Melissa Leach,Ian Scoones,Brian Wynne,2013-04-04 Rapid advances and new technologies in the life sciences such as biotechnologies in health agricultural and environmental arenas pose a range of pressing challenges to questions of citizenship This volume brings together for the first time authors from diverse experiences and analytical traditions encouraging a conversation between science and technology and development studies around issues of science citizenship and globalisation It reflects on the nature of expertise the framing of knowledge processes of public engagement and issues of rights justice and democracy A wide variety of pressing issues is explored such as medical genetics agricultural biotechnology occupational health and HIV AIDS Drawing upon rich case studies from Asia Africa Latin America and Europe Science and Citizens asks Do new perspectives on science expertise and citizenship emerge from comparing cases across different issues and settings What difference does globalisation make What does this tell us about approaches to risk regulation and public participation How might the notion of cognitive justice help to further debate and practice

Traditional Plant Foods of Canadian Indigenous Peoples Harriet V. Kuhnlein,Nancy J. Turner,1991 Book describing and referencing the published literature on the nutritional properties the botanical characteristics and the ethnic uses of traditional food plants of Indigenous Canadian Peoples

Towards Effective and Sustainable Seed Relief Activities Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2004-01-01 This report contains papers given to a FAO workshop meeting held in Rome in May 2003 organised to consider how to improve the effectiveness of seed relief schemes to promote sustainable development and food security to identify gaps in the development of tools guidance and methodologies and to make recommendations for further collaborative work It includes case studies of seed relief activities in several African countries
