Economics Of Air Transportation Proceedings Of The 7th World Airports Conference:

Economics of Air Transportation, 1984 Economics of Air Transportation, 1984 Airport Terminals Christopher J. Blow, 2013-10-22 Airport Terminals covers the significance of airport terminals and the politics of design. This book is organized into seven parts encompassing 28 chapters that examine the architectural quality of airport terminals. The first part highlights the basic terminal design principles including considerations of location, size, capacity, and functional types. The subsequent parts consider the taxonomy of aircraft terminal forms and the external landside factors. These topics are followed by descriptions of the policies, layouts, configurations, data sheets, baggage handling, flight information systems, signage, and fire criteria of airport terminals. The final parts look into the external airside factors such as aircraft docking and loading, as well as the redevelopment of existing airport terminals. This book will be of use to architects, engineers, and airport terminal managers. The Effects of Deregulation on U.S. Air Networks Aisling J. Reynolds-Feighan, 2012-12-06 1 1 A Brief History of U S Commercial Aviation Regulation and Deregulation. The U S commercial aviation industry was regulated by the government for a period of 40 years beginning in 1938 with the passing of the Federal Aviation Act and ending in October 1978 when President Carter signed into law the Airline Deregulation Act (ADA). There were 16 airlines in existence when the Federal Aviation Act was passed in 1938, the so-called trunk lines. The Act established the Civil Aeronautics Authority (CAA) as the industry's regulatory body. The Act was passed principally because it was felt that the free market, if allowed to continue unregulated for much longer, would put many of these firms into bankruptcy. It is possible therefore to view the CAA of 1938 reorganized into the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) in 1940 as a response to a potential market failure at the time. In the 1930s, few air traffic markets could have efficiently supported more than one airline operating in the market. Panzar, 1980. Competition among the carriers was cut-throat, and it was felt that the near bankruptcy of the airlines in the period was caused principally by the competitive bidding system used by the Post Office in allotting airmail subsidies.
