Families In Colonial Australia:

Families in Colonial Australia Patricia Grimshaw, Chris McConville, Ellen McEwen, 1985-01      Family History and Historians in Australia and New Zealand Malcolm Allbrook, Sophie Scott-Brown, 2021-06-27 Since the turn of the twenty first century family history is the place where two great oceans of research are meeting family historians outside the academy with traditionally trained often university employed historians This collection is both a testament to dialogue and an analysis of the dynamics of recent family history that derives from the confluence of professional historians with family historians their common causes and conversations It brings together leading and emerging Australian and New Zealand scholars to consider the relationship between family history and the discipline of history and the potential of family history to extend the scope of historical inquiry even to revitalise the discipline In Anglo Western culture the roots of the discipline s professionalisation lay in efforts to reconstruct history as objective knowledge to extend its subject matter and to enlarge the scale of historical enquiry Family history almost by definition is often inescapably personal and localised How then have historians responded to this resurgence of interest in the personal and the local and how has it influenced the thought and practice of historical enquiry      The City and Education in Four Nations Ronald K. Goodenow, William E. Marsden, Peter Clark, 2003-12-04 The City and Education in Four Nations is a response to a long standing need for the placing of urban educational study in broader comparative contexts both historical and international This volume offers an account of the historical educational experiences of four major English speaking countries opening up new research agendas in a variety of fields An international team of contributors has been assembled combining historical and educational expertise and the work should interest scholars in a number of disciplines including urban history urban and comparative education social and public policy social and cultural history and the history of education      Year Book Australia No. 76 - 1994 Australian Bureau of Statistics, 1990      Madness in the Family C. Coleborne, 2009-11-18 Madness in the Family explores how colonial families coped with insanity through a trans colonial study of the relationships between families and public colonial hospitals for the insane in New South Wales Victoria Queensland and New Zealand between 1860 and 1914      Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia Lorinda Cramer, 2019-09-05 In gold rush Australia social identity was in flux gold promised access to fashionable new clothes a grand home and the goods to furnish it but could not buy gentility Needlework and Women s Identity in Colonial Australia explores how the wives mothers sisters and daughters who migrated to the newly formed colony of Victoria used their needle skills as a powerful claim to social standing Focusing on one of women s most common daily tasks the book examines how needlework s practice and products were vital in the contest for social position in the turmoil of the first two decades of the Victorian rush from 1851 Placing women firmly at the center of colonial history it explores how the needle became a tool for stitching together identity From decorative needlework to household making and mending women s sewing was a vehicle for establishing asserting and maintaining social status Interdisciplinary in scope

Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia draws on material culture written primary sources and pictorial evidence to create a rich portrait of the objects and manners that defined genteel goldfields living. Giving voice to women's experiences and positioning them as key players in the fabric of gold rush society, this volume offers a fresh critical perspective on gender and textile history. The Making and Breaking of the Australian Family Michael Gilding, 2020-07-31

Once everyone knew what the family was. It was something natural and without a history. Mum, dad and the kids. Divorce, women in the workforce, de facto relationships and the sexual liberation movements have fractured the old certainties. Nowadays there is more talk about the family than ever, even if no one is quite sure what it is anymore. The making and breaking of the Australian family looks at the family in history. It traces the shift from the household economy of the late nineteenth century to the child-centred nuclear family of the mid twentieth century to the recent proliferation of households. The book argues that the so-called traditional family was a quite recent creation and that its fragmentation is obscured by new redefinitions of the family. The making and breaking of the Australian family addresses the changing experiences of childhood, parenting, home, neighbourhood, work, birth and sexuality. It examines the expansion of the market and the state, patterns of class mobilisation, the reconstruction of masculinity and femininity and the creative strategies of ordinary people in everyday life. This is a lively and accessible book which will prove a valuable reference for students of history, sociology, women's studies and Australian studies and will generate wide discussion amongst people concerned with family, policy, welfare and contemporary social issues. Family History, Historical Consciousness and Citizenship Tanya

Evans, 2021-12-16 Family history is one of the most widely practiced forms of public history around the globe, especially in settler/migrant nations like Australia and Canada. It empowers millions of researchers linking the past to the present in powerful ways, transforming individuals' understandings of themselves and the world. This book examines the practice, meanings and impact of undertaking family history research for individuals and society more broadly. In this ground-breaking new book, Tanya Evans shows how family history fosters inter-generational and cross-cultural, religious and ethnic knowledge, how it shapes historical empathy and consciousness and combats social exclusion, producing active citizens. Evans draws on her extensive research on family history, including survey data, oral history interviews and focus groups undertaken with family historians in Australia, England and Canada, collected since 2016. Family History, Historical Consciousness and Citizenship reveals that family historians collect and analyse varied historical sources, including oral testimony, archival documents, pictures and objects of material culture. This book reveals how people are thinking historically, outside academia, what historical skills they are using to produce historical knowledge, what knowledge is being produced and what impact that can have on them, their communities and scholars. The result is a necessary revival of the current perceptions of family history. Families, Labour and Love Maureen Baker, 2020-07-29 We think of our family life as very personal, but in fact it is shaped by influences well beyond our control. Families, Labour and Love identifies the ways in which family and personal life in three settler societies Australia New Zealand and Canada has been shaped by colonisation immigration globalisation demographic changes law and policy Baker shows that these three countries each a former colony developed similar family trends and similar family policies Strongly gendered patterns of paid and unpaid work played a major role in family life The family practices of indigenous people were largely overlooked as were those of recent immigrant groups However local conditions also produced significant differences in family experiences among the three countries Richly illustrated with examples comparative data and textual sources Families Labour and Love provides a broad ranging analysis of the family which will appeal to students researchers and policy makers Maureen Baker outlines with great clarity the diversity of families and the way in which they are shaped by historical and cultural forces The focus on Australia New Zealand and Canada is not only refreshing but throws into sharp relief the impact on contemporary families of the colonial experience industrialisation large scale immigration and globalisation David de Vaus La Trobe University

Family and Gender in the Pacific Margaret Jolly,1989-11-24 A 1989 examination of the effect of mission evangelism and colonial intervention on the family life of Pacific peoples Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd,2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate Additionally the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national regional and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality In addition to the Western tradition it includes substantial assessments of African Asian and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies

Family, Gender and Kinship in Australia Allon J. Uhlmann, 2016-04-15 This ethnographically based exploration draws on sociological historical and demographic data to provide a comprehensive analysis of family gender and kinship in Australia which informs modern kinship and gender at large Allon Uhlmann charts the cultural basis that underlies kinship practices and argues that the Australian family is characterized by deep cultural and social continuities rather than the common view that the family is undergoing substantial change He further shows how the modern family both shapes and is shaped by broad social and economic processes This analysis provides greater insight into this critical field of practice as well as showcasing a novel analytical approach to practice that is rooted in the sociology of practice and in the anthropology of cognition The book also suggests changes to the way in which social scientists currently treat family and kinship
