Ravanera, 2006-01-01 In recent years two significant trends have had a substantial impact on Canadian families First Canadian families have been dramatically altered by high rates of separation and divorce declining fertility greater popularity of alternative family arrangements such as cohabitation and increasing involvement of women in paid labour Second changes occurring in the economy and the larger society have brought new pressures to bear on families In Canada s Changing Families editors Kevin McQuillan and Zenaida R. Ravanera explore how these developments have altered family life Using data collected in recent surveys by Statistics Canada contributors to this volume illustrate how transformed conditions in the labour market have forced families to alter their routines and the division of responsibilities within the household At the same time the government striving to maintain or increase the competitive position of the economy has moved to control spending restrain taxes and reduce deficits The result has been new demands on the family to provide or supplement services that might otherwise be provided by the state Canada's Changing Families is an eye opening study and one of great contemporary relevance The Changing Canadian Population Barry Edmonston, Eric Fong, 2011

Informative and helpful essays that study census data regarding developments in Canadian society Recent Social Trends in Canada, 1960-2000 Lance W. Roberts, 2005 Canadian society has changed dramatically since 1960 This work captures the scope and range of these changes through a systematic documentation of seventy eight social trends The introduction summarizes and locates the major waves of change The authors then document each trend in relation to eighteen thematic groups that include age community women labour management stratification social relations the state mobilizing institutions social forces ideologies households lifestyle leisure education integration and attitudes and values In contrast to many recent works and journalistic reports Recent Social Trends in Canada concentrates on the trajectory of change rather than on current events It provides a longitudinal context in which unfolding events can be interpreted in a broader historical and international context Comparable volumes in the McGill Queen's Comparative Charting of Social Change series describe similar tendencies in the United States Quebec France Germany Italy Greece Russia and Bulgaria making it possible to situate the Canadian experience in a global context Family Change and Family Policies in Great Britain, Canada, New Zealand, and the United States Sheila B. Kamerman, Alfred J. Kahn, 1997 This is the first volume in a series reporting on the evolution of family policies in twenty Western welfare states and comparing current provisions The developments are presented in the context of a report on family change for each of the countries and with a view of the economic political and institutional contexts in which they occurred Each of the country reports in the present volume has been prepared as a team collaboration by internationally recognized experts The co editors have prepared an analytic introduction which discussed the methodology for the series as well as the hypotheses that emerge from these first case studies The topics include family formation and current structural patterns families and the division of labour the income of families earnings taxation transfer programmes as well as the political and institutional context for family policy An extensive bibliography is provided About the series A series of country studies and comparative analyses examining major changes in the family and the broad spectrum of family policies in Western industrial society in the second half of the twentieth century Vol 2 The Consociational Democracies Belgium Switzerland and the Netherlands Vol 3 France and Southern Europe Vol 4 Capitalist and Socialist Central Europe Austria the Germanies Hungary and Poland Vol 5 The Scandinavian Welfare States Vol 6 Family Industrial Society and the Welfare State in the West Early Variations and Long Term Developments in Comparative Perspective Vol 7 Family Policies in the West Since World War II A Cross National Analysis The Boomerang Age Barbara Mitchell, 2011-12-31 The Boomerang Age was named an Outstanding Academic Title of 2007 by

Choice Magazine Domestic changes are taking place in the lives of young adults in Western industrialized societies Today s young people often experience less permanency and more movement in a variety of family related roles statuses and living arrangements Among the most prominent changes is the phenomenon of boomerang kids young adults returning to the parental home after their initial entrance into the adult world The Boomerang Age explores the implications of this development in a changing sociocultural economic and demographic landscape Mitchell begins by addressing definitional conceptual and measurement issues relevant to the boomerang age She then places the issues in historical perspective by considering trends in family organization the nuclear family marriage and divorce rates and fertility over the past hundred years with emphasis on the 1950s family as a cultural benchmark The book then turns to the contemporary trajectory of home leaving and returning analyzing the launch and return phases with regard to economic factors regional differences and racial and ethnic backgrounds Mitchell then explores the more personal dimensions of how a return to the family is complicated by partnership marriage divorce cohabitation homosexuality and parenthood among young couples Moving outside the home she looks at how public issues such as globalization the decline of the welfare state and various forms of social inequality affect the circumstances of young adulthood Here Mitchell offers specific social policy recommendations pertaining to education housing and dependency issues childcare and gender and racial equality The book concludes by critically evaluating the advantages and drawbacks of two possible future scenarios increased individualization in the pursuit of social goals or a more or less permanent return to the traditional extended family

Academic Careers and the Gender Gap Maureen Baker,2012-08-31 Women earn nearly half of all new PhDs in Canada the United States Australia New Zealand and the United Kingdom Why then do they occupy a disproportionate number of the junior level positions at universities while their male counterparts continue to snap up 80 percent of the more prestigious jobs In Academic Careers and the Gender Gap Maureen Baker explains the reasons behind this inequality drawing on interviews with male and female scholars previous research and her own thirty eight year academic career Using a feminist political economy and interpretive theoretical framework she argues that current university priorities and collegial relations often magnify the impact of gendered families and identities and perpetuate the academic gender gap Baker sets academia in the wider context of restructuring labour markets and gendered earning patterns within families The result is a revealing portrait of significant and persistent differences in job security institutional affiliation working hours rank salary job satisfaction collegial networks and career length between male and female scholars

Skeletons in the Closet Aysan Sev'er, Jan E. Trost, 2011-01-17 Family conflict has traditionally been studied by researchers who are at a safe intellectual distance from the families under their study In Skeletons in the Closet and in line with feminist research methodologies the hierarchical distance between researcher and subject is broken down All of the contributors to this volume are academics and all are closely related to the families they write about Skeletons in the Closet consists of ten essays about unresolved or unresolvable family conflicts The contributors start from the assumption that families whether legal marriage families common law marriage families single parent families multiple generation families same sex partnerships or adoptive families are cradles of intense emotion That intensity they argue may translate into conflict competition domination abuse exploitation or even hate This book explores those areas most likely to grip family members in unresolved interpersonal strife as well as the strategies people use to solve the issues and the shame and isolation that conflict brings in societies that normatively expect family life to be one of joy mutual sharing and caring This first hand narration of family conflict by social scholars has much to contribute to sociological studies of the family both methodologically and theoretically The introduction and conclusion place family conflict within sociological and social psychological theories and methods Families, Labour and Love Maureen Baker, 2020-07-29 We think of our family life as very personal but in fact it is shaped by influences well beyond our control Families Labour and Love identifies the ways in which family and personal life in three settler societies Australia New Zealand and Canada has been shaped by colonisation immigration globalisation demographic changes law and policy Baker shows that these three countries each a former colony developed similar family trends and similar family policies Strongly gendered patterns of paid and unpaid work played a major role in family life The family practices of indigenous people were largely overlooked as were those of recent immigrant groups However local conditions also produced significant differences in family experiences among the three countries Richly illustrated with examples comparative data and textual sources Families Labour and Love provides a broad ranging analysis of the family which will appeal to students researchers and policy makers Maureen Baker outlines with great clarity the diversity of families and the way in which they are shaped by historical and cultural forces The focus on Australia New Zealand and Canada is not only refreshing but throws into sharp relief the impact on contemporary families of the colonial experience industrialisation large scale immigration and globalisation David de Vaus La Trobe University Canadian Family Policies Maureen Baker, 1995-01-01 With poverty unemployment and one parent families on the rise in most Western democracies government assistance presents an increasingly urgent and complex problem This is the first study to explore Canada s family policies in an international context Maureen Baker looks at the successes and failures of social programs in other countries in search of solutions that might work in Canada Baker has chosen seven industrialized countries for her comparative study Australia France Germany The Netherlands Sweden the United Kingdom and the United States These countries experience social and economic strains similar to those felt in Canada and though they share certain policy solutions major differences in policy remain Baker considers which of the policies in these countries are most effective in reducing poverty enhancing family life and improving the status of women then applies her findings to the Canadian situation Bringing together research and statistics from the fields of demography political science economics sociology women s studies and social policy this rich multidisciplinary study provides a unique resource for anyone interested in Canadian family policy
