draws on a five year study to document and contextualize the neighbourhood house movement in Vancouver Social disconnection has led many observers to declare that urban communities are weakening and fragmenting Nonetheless the local community is where most aspects of everyday life occur where people establish their homes and pursue their ambitions It offers a secure haven in an unpredictable globalized world Neighbourhood houses are community hubs providing services such as public recreation child care health care and adult literacy classes bringing urban newcomers and neighbours together Contributors to this book outline the history of the Vancouver network its relationship with local government and other organizations in the region the programs and activities offered and the experiences of participants While globalization and migration create fragmented and disconnected societies in modern urban cities this timely study demonstrates that place based community organizations can provide an antidote      Multiculturalism and Immigration in Canada Elspeth

Cameron,2004 Multiculturalism in Canada offers a solid introduction to the history and development of the ideology of multiculturalism in Canada This ideology which has become the primary designator of Canadian society began in the early 1970s when vocal elements in the population who were neither English nor French strongly responded to the investigations of the Committee on Bilingualism and Biculturalism Given Canada s early racist tendencies the establishment of multiculturalism was a remarkable shift in public thinking Many issues associated with immigration have arisen in the public debates around multiculturalism Some people are convinced that it is a pernicious ideology that enforces the ghettoisation of those different from the mainstream Others see dangers in the way some aspects of multiculturalism are merely tokens of an all inclusive society Still others contend that the voices of ethnicities aside from those of the two charter groups English and French are scarcely heard and that worse those marginalised voices are appropriated by mainstream writers On the whole however Canadians especially younger Canadians welcome a liberal outlook that is inclusive of a wide variety of ethnicities

For them and for many immigrants Canada is a society that is multiple and layered one rich in meaning They tend to see Canada as a microcosm of the larger world one that presents a useful model of tolerance for the world at large Increasingly marginalised new Canadians are excelling in the arts communities telling all Canadians what various aspects of the culture shock of transplantation feels like This book includes a representative sample of their works Geographies of the Heart Raymonde Tickner,Amea Wilbur,Zahida Rahemtulla,Kerry Johnson,2024-09-16 A settlement worker recalls being a child soldier in Sudan a woman from Trinidad applies to over a hundred jobs and a teacher from Afghanistan grapples with what it means to be a migrant in a colonized land In Geographies of the Heart eighteen newcomers to Canada tell their own stories in their own voices These accounts push back against misconceptions about immigration and immigrants by revealing that the paths into Canada are as diverse as the people who journeyed them Canada itself plays a pivotal role in the collection both as saviour and oppressor The nation is a haven and place of opportunity but it is also not entirely benevolent and welcoming As increasing migration is met with growing xenophobia the stories in Geographies of the Heart are reminders of our shared humanity All royalties from sales of this book will be donated to Archway Community Services Trilingualism in Family, School, and Community Charlotte Hoffmann,Jehannes Ytsma,2004 Countries in Africa America Asia and Europe provide the sociolinguistic contexts described in this volume They involve settings where three or more languages are spoken and where speakers are trilingual With the focus on family school and the wider community the book illustrates personal social cultural and political factors contributing to the acquisition and maintenance of trilingualism and highlights a rich pattern of trilingual language use Aboriginal and Visible Minority Librarians Deborah Lee,Mahalakshmi Kumaran,2014-06-11 Aboriginal and Visible Minority Librarians Oral Histories from Canada is a collection of chapters written by librarians of color in Canada writing about their experiences working in libraries This book is not only for librarians in Canada and for those who aspire to become librarians it is also for deans directors and faculty of libraries and library schools managers and supervisors in libraries human resources personnel and other decision makers in the field It will also appeal to researchers interested in race relations multiculturalism intercultural communications and management cross cultural communications and management cross cultural studies diversity Aboriginal peoples indigenous populations and ethnic or visible minorities The majority of the chapters written by visible minority librarians come from those born outside of Canada They speak of their love for their new country its generosity and support towards newcomers and immigrants and their reasons for taking up the library profession While few of the librarians speak of open racism they narrate their experiences as those filled with challenges self doubt and courage Several of the Aboriginal librarians who contributed to this book have worked within tribal communities and tribal libraries In spite of working within community environments they have experienced challenges especially related to lack of funding These librarians speak of having to deal with tokenism lack of mentorship and working in professional isolation Some of them narrate their challenges in working with colleagues who do not relate to them Lack of support is common as many organizations do not have proper strategies to deal with discrimination However these chapters end with a positive note of encouragement for future librarians the authors encourage all librarians to be engaged find trusted mentors seek help when needed focus on professional development and find a niche in the organization

Acquired Tastes Brenda L. Beagan, Gwen E. Chapman, Josée Johnston, Deborah McPhail, Elaine M. Power, Helen Vallianatos, 2014-11-15 Magazine articles news items and self improvement books tell us that our daily food choices whether we opt for steak or vegetarian a TV dinner or a sit down meal serve as bold statements about who we are as individuals Acquired Tastes makes the case that our food habits say more about where we come from and who we would like to be This intimate portrait of eating habits and attitudes towards food in over one hundred Canadian families in both rural and urban settings reveals that our food choices never solely reflect personal tastes Age gender social class ethnicity health concerns food availability and political and moral concerns shape the meanings that families attach to food and their self identities They also influence how its members respond to social discourses on health beauty and the environment a finding that has profound implications for public health campaigns
