Family Pictures A Philosopher Explores The Familiar:

Family Pictures Laura Duhan Kaplan, 1998 This series of intimate snapshots of family life shows how the ordinary journey through marriage maturity and parenting is fraught with extraordinary questions about ethics knowledge and metaphysics. Humorous and poignant depictions of family members are presented in the context of classical philosophical questions. The reality of family life brings these questions down to earth while the author's imaginative use of philosophy deepens the reader's understanding of what is at stake for an individual enclosed in the sphere of the family. The author's romantic vision of love as a spiritual anchor gives way to mock horror at discovering her new husband's philosophy of life. A respectful description of her mother-in-law's attempts to stave off death by clinging to physical possessions is followed by an outrageous account of her mother's ability to constructively ridicule the foibles of others. A meditation on the importance of learning from children about the value of human life is juxtaposed with the record of a futile attempt to learn from an art exhibit while chasing a wriggling infant. Family Pictures brings philosophy to a wider audience by showing how philosophical questions arise in ordinary experience and how practical philosophy can be in understanding personal and spiritual transformation.

Feminist Interpretations of Hans-Georg Gadamer Lorraine Code, 2010-11-01 Fifteen essays examine the work of German philosopher Hans Georg Gadamer to provide feminist interpretations of his views on science language history literature and other topics. Peacemaking, 2021-10-25 Peacemaking includes a large array of activities from local to global attempts to attain peace. It includes consideration of international interstate and intertribal conflict resolution communal personal and interpersonal social justice deterrence of the use of nuclear weapons design of international treaties that prevent war or other forms of international conflict disarmament international organizations that secure the order among nations and even from some points of view war. As the 20th century drew to a close we have witnessed peacemakers trying to end ethnic cleansing reinstate justly elected political leaders and reach compromises in the ideological differences that perpetuate age old conflicts. We also see peacemaking in our schools homes and workplaces. Philosophers have long been interested in peacemaking in one form or another and philosophical accounts of peacemaking reflect the variety of perspectives methods and activities developed in pursuing peacemaking. In some instances philosophers expand upon the situations activities and methods of the peacemaker in the field. The essays in this volume propose some theoretical arguments for various aspects of peacemaking offer nonmilitary alternatives to war and discuss practical examples of peacemaking in daily life. The contributors analyze power relations language social groupings and distribution of resources. At times they draw insight from social and historical models of conflict and conflict resolution. This collection of essays on peacemaking aims to enlighten contemporary social and political discussions and contribute to achieving the ever challenging goal of peace. Autobiographical Writing Across the Disciplines Diane P. Freedman, Olivia Frey, 2004-01-23 An anthology of the personal autobiographical essays of scholars who have made the life story an important part of their disciplinary research Philosophical Perspectives on the "War on Terrorism" ,2007-01-01 This book responds to the Bush Administration position on the war on terror It examines preemption within the context of just war justification for the United States led invasion of Iraq with some authors charging that its tactics serve to increase terror global terrorism and concepts such as reconciliation Islamic identity nationalism and intervention Against Individualism Henry Rosemont Jr.,2015-03-25 The first part of Against Individualism A Confucian Rethinking of the Foundations of Morality Politics Family and Religion is devoted to showing how and why the vision of human beings as free independent and autonomous individuals is and always was a mirage that has served liberatory functions in the past but has now become pernicious for even thinking clearly about much less achieving social and economic justice maintaining democracy or addressing the manifold environmental and other problems facing the world today In the second and larger part of the book Rosemont proffers a different vision of being human gleaned from the texts of classical Confucianism namely that we are first and foremost interrelated and thus interdependent persons whose uniqueness lies in the multiplicity of roles we each live throughout our lives This leads to an ethics based on those mutual roles in sharp contrast to individualist moralities but which nevertheless reflect the facts of our everyday lives very well The book concludes by exploring briefly a number of implications of this vision for thinking differently about politics family life justice and the development of a human centered authentic religiousness This book will be of value to all students and scholars of philosophy political theory and Religious Chinese and Family Studies as well as everyone interested in the intersection of morality with their everyday and public lives

Institutional Violence Deane Curtin,Robert Litke,2022-05-20 Violence can be physical and psychological It can characterize personal actions forms of group activity and abiding social and political policy This book includes all of these aspects within its focus on institutional forms of violence Institution is also a broad category ranging from formal arrangements such as the military the criminal code the death penalty and prison system to more amorphous but systemic situations indicated by parenting poverty sexism work and racism Violence is as complex as the human beings who resort to it its institutional forms pervade our relational lives We are all participants in it as victims and perpetrators The chapters in this book were written in the hope that violence can be explicated even if not fully understood and that such clarification can help us in devising less violent forms of living even if it does not lead to its total abolition The studies bring new aspects of violence to light and offer a number of suggestions for its remedy Great Thinkers A-Z Julian Baggini,Jeremy Stangroom,2004-03-01 Great Thinkers A Z brings together 100 short accessible snapshots of the people who have shaped Western thought from the ancient Greeks to today The snapshots written by the world s leading experts describe a major thinker s life and work with suggestions for further reading on each one Covering philosophers as well as cultural and scientific thinkers such as Foucault Darwin Einstein and Freud who have had a major impact on philosophy Great Thinkers A Z is the ideal book for anyone interested in the history of ideas and in contemporary thought Entries include Adorno Arendt

Linking Visions Rosemarie Tong, Anne Donchin, Susan Dodds, 2004 This collection brings together fourteen contributions by authors from around the globe. Each of the contributions engages with questions about how local and global bioethical issues are made to be comparable in the hope of redressing basic needs and demands for justice. These works demonstrate the significant conceptual contributions that can be made through feminists' attention to debates in a range of interrelated fields especially as they formulate appropriate responses to developments in medical technology, global economics, population shifts and poverty. Hard Atheism and the Ethics of Desire Joel Marks, 2016-12-16 This book challenges the widespread assumption that the ethical life and society must be moral in any objective sense. In his previous works Marks has rejected both the existence of such a morality and the need to maintain verbal, attitudinal, practical and institutional remnants of belief in it. This book develops these ideas further with emphasis on constructing a positive alternative. Calling it desirism, Marks illustrates what life and the world would be like if we lived in accordance with our rational desires rather than the dictates of any actual or pretend morality, neither overlaying our desires with moral sanction nor attempting to override them with moral strictures. Hard Atheism and the Ethics of Desire also argues that atheism thereby becomes more plausible than the so-called New Atheism that attempts to give up God and yet retain morality.

New Books on Women and Feminism, 1999 Philosophy and Everyday Life Laura Duhan Kaplan, 2002 This anthology provides a philosophical examination of everyday life. Each essay sets out to construct a bridge between thought-provoking situations that come up in the course of living and the more abstract discussions of traditional philosophical inquiry. Such universal issues as the limits of knowledge, ethics, personhood and politics are tackled. In the pursuit of philosophical answers to everyday questions, the contributors draw on the work of Aristotle, Plato, David Hume, John Locke, Karl Marx, Simone Weil, Iris Murdoch, Martin Heidegger, Jean Paul Sartre, Emmanuel Levinas and many others.

The Accidental Theorist Patricia J. Thompson, 2002 The Accidental Theorist, first in a Hestia trilogy, introduces the Hestian Hermenean Dual Systems Paradigm as a lens of analysis through which to view the private, public and the familial political in feminist philosophy and theory. Tracing the split between the oikos and the polis in fifth century BCE Greece, Professor Thompson identifies two consistent orientations in human life toward the homeplace symbolized by Hestia and the marketplace symbolized by Hermes She proposes that a complementary hermeneutic be added to conventional hermeneutic interpretations of texts These dual orientations are as significant as gender for interpreting the phenomena of everyday life They form the basis of an alternative perspective she calls Hestian Feminism as a prolegomenon to a new humanism for the new millennium American Book Publishing Record ,1997-09 Personal Effects Deborah Holdstein,David Bleich,2002

Holdstein and Bleich compile a volume that cuts across the grain of current orthodoxy These editors and contributors argue that it is fundamental in humanistic scholarship to take account of the personal and collective experiences of scholars researchers critics and teachers They contend that humanistic inquiry cannot develop successfully at this time without reference to the varieties of subjective inter subjective and collective experience of teachers and researchers In composition studies they point out an important strand of theory has continuously mined the personal experience of individual writers where they stand even in a destabilised sense of that idea Such substantive accounts of the inner academic life provide appropriate and rich contexts for further study and analysis With this volume then these scholars move us to explore the intersections of the social with subjectivity with voice ideology and culture and to consider the roles of these in the work of academics who study writing and literature Taken together the essays in this collection carry forward the idea that the personal the candidly subjective and inter subjective must be part of the subject of study in humanities scholarship They propose an understanding of the personal in scholarship that is more helpful because more clearly anchored in human experience Feminist Periodicals ,2001 Of Time and Place Richard Quinney,2006 This place that I continue to write about was made by emigrating ancestors by ancestors who were born here and by those who left the place by all those generations who have been shaped by these few acres of earth and home These are the ancestors the generations of old ones that I have remembered telling the stories that have been passed to me stories in words and images that document their lives There is enough here to know that we are an intimate part of those who have come before us Book jacket
