

N.C. Department of Labor Wage and Hour Notice to Employees

Wage and Hour Act

Minimum Wage: $7.25 per hour effective 7/24/09.

Employees in North Carolina are required to pay the higher of the minimum wage rate established by state or federal laws. The federal minimum wage increased to $7.25 per hour effective July 24, 2009; therefore, employees in North Carolina are required to pay their employees at least $7.25 per hour.

An employer may pay no less than $2.13 per hour to tipped employees so long as each employee receives enough in tips to make up the difference between the wages paid and the minimum wage. Employees must be allowed to keep all tips, except that pooling is permitted if an employer's tips are reduced more than 11 percent. The employer must keep an accurate and complete record of tips as certified by each employee monthly or for each pay period. Without these records, the employer may not be allowed the tip credit.

Certain full-time students may be paid 85 percent of the minimum wage, provided to the lowest extent.

Overtime

Time and one-half must be paid after 40 hours of work in any one workweek, except after 45 hours of seasonal recreational and amusement establishments. The state overtime provision does not apply to some employers and employees who are exempt.

Youth Employment

Rules for all youths under 18 years old are: Youth employment certificates (YECs) are required. To obtain a YEC, please visit our website at www.ncdohr.com.

Restrictions on Employment Opportunities: State and federal labor laws protect youth workers by making it illegal for employers to hire them in dangerous jobs. For example, non-agricultural workers under 18 years of age may not operate a forklift, operate many types of power equipment such as meat slicers, circular saws, band saws, battery machinery or road-working machines, work in an electronics or chemist's helper, or work from any height above 10 feet, including the use of ladders and scaffolds. For a complete list of prohibited jobs, please visit our website at www.ncdohr.com.

Additional rules for 14- and 15-year-olds are: No work between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. when there is school the next day. Exception: When the employer gets written permission from the youth's parents and principal.

Additional rules for 14- and 15-year-olds are:

Where work can be performed: Retail businesses, food service establishments, service industries and offices of other businesses. Work is not permitted in manufacturing, mining or construction, or with power-driven machinery, or on the premises of a business holding an ABC permit for the on-premises sale or consumption of alcoholic beverages, except that youths at least 14 years of age can work on the outside grounds of the premises with written consent from a parent or guardian as long as the youth is not involved with the preparation, serving, dispensing or sale of alcoholic beverages.

Maximum hours per day: Three on school days, eight if a non-school day.

Minimum hours per week: 10 when school is in session, 40 when school is not in session.

Hours of the day: May work only between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. (9 p.m. from June 1 through Labor Day when school is not in session).

Breaks: Shorter breaks are required after any period of five consecutive hours of work.

Additional rules for youths under 14 years old are: Work is generally not permitted except when working for the youth's parents, in newspaper distribution to customers, modeling, or acting in movies, television, radio or theater production.

These state youth employment provisions do not apply to farms, domestic or government work.

Wage Payment

Wages are due on the regular paydate. If reported, final paychecks must be mailed. When the amount of wages is in dispute, the employer's payment of the undisputed portion cannot waive the right of the employee to continue a claim for the rest of the wages.

Employees must be notified of paydates, pay rates, policies on vacation and sick leave, and of commission, bonus and other pay matters. Employees must notify employers in writing or through a postal notice maintained in a place accessible to the employees of any reduction in the rate of personal wages at least 30 hours prior to such change.

Deductions from paychecks are limited to those required by law and those agreed to in writing or at before paydate. If the written authorization that the employee signs does not specify a dollar amount, the employee must receive prior to paydate (1) written notice of the actual amount to be deducted, (2) written notice of their right to withdraw the authorization, and (3) be given a reasonable opportunity to withdraw the authorization. The written authorization or written notice may be given in an electronic format, provided the requirements of the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act (Chapter 66, Article 40 of the N.C. General Statutes) are met.

The withholding or diversion of wages owed for the employee's benefit may not be taken if they reduce wages below the minimum wage. No reductions may be made to overtime wages owed.

Deductions for credit inventory shortages or for loss or damage to an employer's property may not be taken unless the employee receives seven days' advance notice. This seven-day rule does not apply to those deductions made at termination. An employer may not sue, sue or sue to require employees to pay back protected amounts.

If the employer provides vacation pay plans to employees, the employer shall give vacation time off or payment in lieu of time off, as required by company policy or practice. Employees must be notified in writing or through a postal notice of any company policy or practice that results in the loss or forfeiture of vacation time or pay. Employees not so notified are not subject to such loss or forfeiture.

The wage payment provisions apply to all private-sector employees doing business in North Carolina. The wage payment provisions do not apply to any federal, state or local agency or municipality of government.

Complaints

The Department's Wage and Hour Bureau investigates complaints and collects back wages plus interest if they are due to the employee. The state of North Carolina may bring civil or criminal actions against the employer for violations of the law. The employer may also sue the employer for back wages. The court may award attorney's fees, costs, liquidated damages and interest.

Employment at Will—Right-to-Work Laws

North Carolina is an employment-at-will state. The term "employment-at-will" simply means that unless there is a specific law to protect employees or there is an employment contract providing otherwise, then an employer can treat its employees as it sees fit and the employee can discharge an employer at the will of the employer for any reason or no reason at all.

North Carolina is a "right-to-work" state, which means that the right of a person to work cannot be denied or abridged because that person belongs—or does not belong—to a labor union. In addition, an employee cannot require any person, as a condition of employment or continuation of employment, to pay any dues, fees or other charges of any kind to a labor union. Also, an employer cannot enter into an agreement with a labor union whereby (1) non-union members are denied the right to work for the employer, (2) membership is made a condition of employment or continuation of employment, or (3) the labor union requires an employment monopoly in any company.

In addition, in CWA v. Beck, 497 U.S. 737 (1990), the U.S. Supreme Court stated that if a collective bargaining agreement between an employer and a labor union requires employees to pay initiation periods dues and initiation fees, employees who are not union members can object to the use of these payments for certain purposes and can only be required to pay their share of union costs relating to collective bargaining, contract administration and grievance adjustment. Thus, if you believe that you have been required to pay dues or fees used in part to support activities not directly related to the duties of collective bargaining, you may be entitled to a refund and/or an appropriate reduction in future payments.

NCDOL does not have any enforcement authority of these laws but if you have any questions, contact the Regional Office of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) at the following address and phone number:

Some free tools, like PDFescape or Smallpdf, also offer basic editing capabilities. How do I convert a Employment Law A Guide For North Carolina Public Employers PDF to another file format? There are multiple ways to convert a PDF to another format: Use online converters like Smallpdf, Zamzar, or Adobe Acrobats export feature to convert PDFs to formats like Word, Excel, JPEG, etc. Software like Adobe Acrobat, Microsoft Word, or other PDF editors may have options to export or save PDFs in different formats. How do I password-protect a Employment Law A Guide For North Carolina Public Employers PDF? Most PDF editing software allows you to add password protection. In Adobe Acrobat, for instance, you can go to "File" -> "Properties" -> "Security" to set a password to restrict access or editing capabilities. Are there any free alternatives to Adobe Acrobat for working with PDFs? Yes, there are many free alternatives for working with PDFs, such as: LibreOffice: Offers PDF editing features. PDFsam: Allows splitting, merging, and editing PDFs. Foxit Reader: Provides basic PDF viewing and editing capabilities. How do I compress a PDF file? You can use online tools like Smallpdf, ILovePDF, or desktop software like Adobe Acrobat to compress PDF files without significant quality loss. Compression reduces the file size, making it easier to share and download. Can I fill out forms in a PDF file? Yes, most PDF viewers/editors like Adobe Acrobat, Preview (on Mac), or various online tools allow you to fill out forms in PDF files by selecting text fields and entering information. Are there any restrictions when working with PDFs? Some PDFs might have restrictions set by their creator, such as password protection, editing restrictions, or print restrictions. Breaking these restrictions might require specific software or tools, which may or may not be legal depending on the circumstances and local laws.
