EMPLOYMENT OF NEGRO TROOPS Ulysses Lee, 2016-12-20 The work started in the 1940s is written in the vernacular of the period From the volume As in the case of some other titles in the United States Army in World War II series Ulysses Lee's The Employment of Negro Troops has been long and widely recognized as a standard work on its subject Although revised and consolidated before publication the study was written largely between 1947 and 1951 If the now much cited title has an echo of an earlier period that very echo testifies to the book's rather remarkable twofold achievement that Lee wrote it when he did well before the Civil Rights movement of the 1960s and that its reputation for authority and objectivity has endured so well Recognizing that the story of Negro participation in military service during World War II was of national interest as well as of great value for future military planning the Assistant Secretary of War in February 1944 recommended preparation of a book on this subject The opportunity to undertake it came two years later with the assignment to the Army's Historical Division of the author then a captain and a man highly qualified by training and experience to write such a work After careful examination of the sources and reflection Captain Lee concluded that it would be impractical to write a comprehensive and balanced history about Negro soldiers in a single volume His plan formally approved in August 1946 was to focus his own work on the development of Army policies in the use of Negroes in military service and on the problems associated with the execution of these policies at home and abroad leaving to the authors of other volumes in the Army's World War II series then taking shape the responsibility for covering activities of Negroes in particular topical areas The volume opens with background chapters recalling the experience of Negroes in the Army in World War I the position of Negroes in the Army between wars and Army planning for their use in another great war as well as the clash of public and private views over employment of Negroes as soldiers It continues with chapters on the particular problems associated with absorbing large numbers of Negroes into the Army the provision of separate facilities for them their leadership and training difficulties their physical fitness for service morale factors influencing their eagerness to serve and the disorders that attracted so much attention to the problems of their service The concluding eight chapters are concerned principally with the employment of Negro soldiers overseas in ground and air combat units and in service units

Military History, Office of the Chief of,1966 The American Experience in World War II: The United States and the road to war in Europe Walter L. Hixson,2003 African American Soldiers in the National Guard Charles Johnson,1992-08-21 Little is known about the many achievements of African American guardsmen in U S history from the late nineteenth to the mid twentieth centuries This detailed account thus fills an important gap in our knowledge about the establishment of African American militias in 1877 and their service in wartime and peacetime until the integration of the National Guard in 1950 This careful study of extensive primary and secondary sources is intended for military historians and for all who want to know more about African American contributions to the defense of our nation Following a short introduction providing some historical background the study launches into a description of the establishment of African American militia organizations in and about 1877 and their involvement in the Spanish American War and in quelling civil disturbances and disasters up to 1914 The history deals next with the service of African American guardsmen units in World War I their work in the years between the wars and their involvement in World War II The story ends with a description of the initial reorganization of these units and their integration into the National Guard in 1949 and 1950 A lengthy bibliography of primary and secondary sources is useful as well in pointing to the role of African American militias and guardsmen in the history of this important period Special Studies Military History Center,1994 United States Army in World War II.: Special studies Ulysses Lee,1966 United States Army in World War II. United States. Dept. of the Army. Office of Military History,1947 The Exclusion of Black Soldiers from the Medal of Honor in World War II Elliott V. Converse,Daniel K. Gibran,John A. Cash,2015-06-14 The purpose of this study commissioned by the Army was to document the process by which the Congressional Medal of Honor was awarded from December 7 1941 through September 1 1948 to identify units in which African Americans served to identify by name all black soldiers whose names were submitted for the medal and to document any errors in the processing of their nominations and to compile a list of all black soldiers who received the Distinguished Service Cross the second highest award Based on this work in January 1997 President Clinton awarded seven African Americans the Medal of Honor The authors were selected by Shaw University of Raleigh North Carolina to conduct this study under a United States Army contract     United States Army in World War II. Bryan D. Booker,2024-10-17 The political economic and social landscapes of the United States in the early 1940s were split by one overriding factor race This book explores the ways this separation extended to the military forces and the impact segregation had on World War II Beginning with an overview of African Americans and the military from the inception of the United States and a brief history of the African American role in World War I the focus moves to between the wars movements such as the Protective Mobilization Plan promoting racial integration of the military The main focus is the African American role in World War II and the stigma that remained despite their valor Groups discussed include the Women s Army Corps tank destroyers separate infantry regiments such as the 24th 65th 364th 366th and 372nd and the 2nd cavalry Also included is a list of African American World War II veterans belatedly and mostly posthumously awarded medals of honor on January 13 1997
