Quota Quickies Steve Chibnall, 2019-07-25 This book the first of two volumes will provide a major new history of the British B film tracing the development of the low budget supporting feature from the 1927 Films Act which introduced a quota system for the distribution and exhibition of indigenous product to the age of television when B film producers channelled their energies into making TV programmes Along the way the authors will address leading producers and studios B film stars distributors the genres and themes that tended to dominate B film production comedy horror crime and fantasy Quota Quickies will include a case study of the B films of Michael Powell The authors argument is that the B film was hugely important in British cinema history in offering an opportunity for British actors and technicians to develop their careers and that the films themselves provided an outlet for the exploration of peculiarly British cultural concerns in an industry traditionally dominated by Hollywood output They also contend that some of the films stand up well to contemporary viewing and are deserving of critical re evaluation

Bad Film Histories Katherine Groo, 2019-02-26 A daring deep investigation into ethnographic cinema that challenges standard ways of writing film history and breaks important new ground in understanding archives Bad Film Histories is a vital work that unsettles the authority of the archive Katherine Groo daringly takes readers to the margins of the film record addressing the undertheorization of film history and offering a rigorous corrective Taking ethnographic cinema as a crucial case study Groo challenges standard ways of thinking and writing about film history and questions widespread assumptions about what film artifacts are and what makes them meaningful Rather than filling holes Groo endeavors to understand the imprecisions and absences that define film history and its archives Bad Film Histories draws on numerous works of ethnographic cinema from Edward S Curtis's In the Land of the Head Hunters to a Citroën sponsored croisi re across Africa to the extensive archives of the Maison Lumi re and the Mus e Albert Kahn to dozens of expedition films from the 1910s and 1920s The project is deeply grounded in poststructural approaches to history and throughout Groo draws on these frameworks to offer innovative and accessible readings that explain ethnographic cinema s destabilizing energies As Groo describes ethnographic works are mostly untitled unauthored seemingly infinite in number and largely unrestored even in their digital afterlives Her examination of ethnographic cinema provides necessary new thought for both film scholars and those who are thrilled by cinema s boundless possibilities In so doing she boldly reexamines what early ethnographic cinema is and how these films produce meaning challenging the foundations of film history and prevailing approaches to the archive Film ,1997 Die schönsten Zitate aus James-Bond-Filmen
