The Flight to Objectivity Susan Bordo, 1987-01-01 The Flight to Objectivity offers a new reading of Descartes Meditations informed by cultural history psychoanalytic and cognitive psychology and feminist thought It focuses not on Descartes arguments as timeless culturally disembodied events but on the psychological drama and imagery of the Meditations explored in the context of the historical instability of the seventeenth century and deep historical changes in the structure of human experience The study includes textual and cultural material that together comprise a gradually unfolding psychocultural reading of the Meditations Descartes famous doubt and the ideal of objectivity which conquered that doubt are considered as philosophical expressions of a cultural drama of parturition from the medieval universe a process that generated new forms of experience new cultural anxieties and ultimately new strategies for control and mastery of an utterly changed and alien world Themes that figure prominently in recent literature on seventeenth century philosophy and science the birth of the mind as mirror of nature and the masculine nature of modern science the death of nature are explored with reference to Descartes as a pivotal figure in the birth of modernity Rhetoric on the Margins of Modernity C. University Journal of the History of Philosophy ,1991 Feminist Reflections on the History of Philosophy Lilli Alanen,Charlotte Witt,2004-09 Feminist work in the history of philosophy has come of age as an innovative field in the history of philosophy This volume marks that accomplishment with original essays by leading feminist scholars who ask basic questions What is distinctive of feminist work in the history of philosophy Is there a method that is distinctive of feminist historical work How can women philosophers be meaningfully included in the history of the discipline Who counts as a philosopher This collection is a unique collaboration among philosophers from North America and the Nordic Countries including papers written from both analytic and continental philosophical perspectives and discussing both ancient and modern philosophers Feminist Reflections on the History of Philosophy will be of interest to historians of philosophy feminist theorists women s studies faculty and students and humanists interested in canon formation and transformation Modern Engendering Bat-Ami Bar On,1994-01-01 This book contains readings of canonical Western philosophical texts from the viewpoint of current feminist thinking The contributorsspecifically on the ways in which modern Western philosophy constructs genders and analyzes gender relations They provide a detailed analysis of modern philosophers conceptions of masculinity and femininity and call attention to the intertwining of gender with conceptual schema and networks Back cover The Presence of Feeling in Thought Bernard D. den Ouden,Bernard Den Ouden,Marcia Moen,1991 The essays in this volume focus on the cognitive functions of feeling and the body They are wide ranging in terms of methodologies and problematics represented Authors argue for example that the body functions as a schema of logical thought that through the body we have access to an intricacy more ordered than language and logic that we benefit morally and socially by attention to the cognitive function of emotions and that we cannot maintain the dignity of the world nor extend value without aesthetic engagement Both traditional philosophy and contemporary developments come into play in the essays Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1988-09 Feminist Interpretations of Immanuel Kant Robin May Schott,2007-10-11 This volume presents radically divergent interpretations of Kant from feminist perspectives Some essays see Kant as having contributed significantly to theories of rationality and autonomy in ways that can further feminist projects Other essays argue that Kant is a preeminent exponent of patriarchal views and that gender hierarchies are inscribed in the very structure of his theories of morality and aesthetic judgment But both sympathizers and critics challenge the accepted topography of Kantian philosophy by which central philosophical concerns are defined as those that are abstract universal and transcendental Instead these feminist writers resituate Kantian questions in the politics of everyday life and emphasize the embodied nature of knowledge morality and aesthetics They analyze dilemmas that face concentrate subjects involving issues of friendship collective responsibility xenophobia and colonialism among others Women, Culture, and Development World Institute for Development Economics Research,1995 Community by Seyla Benhabib Situating the Self Catherine Marie Pulling,2007 American Book Publishing Record ,1987 Technology and Values Craig Hanks,2009-05-04 This anthology features

Bulletin of the John Rylands University Library of Manchester, 1998 Books in Print, 1987 Disappearing Ink Eileen O'Neill, 2025-03-07. When Eileen O'Neill (1953–2017) published her ground-breaking essay Disappearing Ink: Early Modern Women Philosophers and the History of Philosophy in 1998, women philosophers were virtually absent from encyclopedias of philosophy and the numerous histories and anthologies of early modern thought. This essay would come to have an enormous impact, signaling the beginning of the movement to introduce early modern women philosophers into the canon. In its densely packed 46 pages, Disappearing Ink presented the names, major works, and principal theses of literally dozens of forgotten women whose works were published during the early modern period and who had engaged in correspondence with central male figures but whose names and works had since been erased. Disappearing Ink reprints this now canonical piece together with subsequent essays, some widely read, some harder to locate, and one on Cartesianism and the Gendered Mind, written in 2013 and published here for the first time. The essays in Part I develop O'Neill's views on feminist history of philosophy, articulating an account of feminist historiography that is inclusive yet at the same time textually nuanced. The essays in Part II provide in-depth treatment of individual figures and themes. These essays discuss the views of early modern women philosophers such as Mary Astell, Margaret Cavendish, and Mme de Lambert alongside those of Descartes, Leibniz, Poullain de la Barre, and the Scholastics, engaging with questions of mind/body interaction, occasional causation, physical influx, pan-organicism, and whether the Cartesian mind is gendered. The sole essay in Part III departs from the historical orientation of Parts I and II. This essay, informed by O'Neill's deep knowledge of art history, is an illuminating study of agency in representations of women in feminist erotic art of the 1980s. Combined, these works trace the complete arc of O'Neill's thought, from painstaking studies of individual themes and figures to a sweeping vision of how feminism should inform our approach to the history of early modern thought, indeed to the history of philosophy more generally. More than anyone else, O'Neill explained why women were excluded from the canon and showed how they could be incorporated into it.
