seems throbbing close to mine As sinks the sun within that world of wine I seem to hear a bar of music float And Flint and Feather [microform] E Pauline 1861-1913 Johnson,2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Flint and Feather Emily Pauline Johnson,1972

Flint and Feather E. Pauline Johnson,1967 Flint and Feather E. Pauline Johnson,2017-10-09 I cannot say how deeply it touched me to learn that Pauline Johnson expressed a wish on her death bed that I living here in the mother country all these miles away should write something about her I was not altogether surprised however for her letters to me had long ago shed a golden light upon her peculiar character She had made herself believe quite erroneously that she was largely indebted to me for her success in the literary world The letters I had from her glowed with this noble passion the delusion about her indebtedness to me in spite of all I could say never left her She continued to foster and cherish this delusion Gratitude indeed was with her not a sentiment merely as with most of us but a veritable passion And when we consider how rare a human trait true gratitude is the one particular characteristic in which the lower animals put us to shame it can easily be imagined how I was touched to find that this beautiful and grand Canadian girl remained down to the very last moment of her life the impersonation of that most precious of all virtues I have seen much of my fellow men and women and I never knew but two other people who displayed gratitude as a passion indulged in it I might say as a luxury and they were both poets I can give no higher praise to the irritable genus On this account Pauline Johnson will always figure in my memory as one of the noblest minded of the human race Flint and Feather E.
