Flood Robert Penn Warren,2003-08-01 Originally published in 1963 this powerful novel spools a rewarding dramatic storyline while it probes the deeper philosophical search for self definition in modern life and the symbolic demise of the agrarian South from technological progress Flood begins with the arrival of two men in a small Tennessee town Brad Tolliver long absent native son and successful screenwriter and Yasha Jones famous director and stranger to the region Their purpose is to create a great film about the town which will soon vanish when the massive dam being built downriver is completed The town s inhabitants come vividly to life as past and present forces prepare them for a climactic new beginning to their world

Brutalism Michael Truscello,2020-09-01 How drowned town literature road movies energy landscape photography and death train narratives represent the brutality of industrial infrastructures In this book Michael Truscello looks at the industrial infrastructure not as an invisible system of connectivity and mobility that keeps capitalism humming in the background but as a manufactured miasma of despair toxicity and death Truscello terms this infrastructural brutality a formulation that not only alludes to the historical nexus of infrastructure and the concrete aesthetic of Brutalist architecture but also describes the ecological political and psychological brutality of industrial infrastructures The Fable of the Southern Writer

Lewis P. Simpson,1994-02 With a breadth and depth unsurpassed by any other cultural historian of the South Lewis Simpson examines the writing of southerners Thomas Jefferson John Randolph Mark Twain Robert Penn Warren Allen Tate William Faulkner Elizabeth Madox Roberts Arthur Crew Inman William Styron and Walker Percy Simpson offers challenging essays of easy erudition blessedly free of academic jargon They do not propose to support an overall thesis but simply explore the southern writer s unique relationship with his or her region bereft of myth and tradition in the grasp of science and history Library Journal Sleeping With the Boss: Female Subjectivity and Narrative Pattern in Robert Penn Warren Ferriss,

Lucy,1997 Robert Penn Warren Neil Nakadate,2021-09-15 Long recognized as one of America s foremost men of letters Robert Penn Warren continues to dazzle us with his many sided genius In the haunting images of his poetry the narrative power of his fiction the revealing insights of his essays we find literary achievement of the highest order Warren s writing has merited the close attention of literary critics In this book Neil Nakadate brings together the most important critical essays including a new essay written for this volume to give a comprehensive view of the range of Warren s work A list of Warren s published works 1929 1980 and a useful checklist of critical works on Warren's writing supplement this rich and balanced collection of essays Contributors A L Clements Chester E Eisinger Norton R Girault Robert B Heilman H P Heseltine James H Justus Richard Law Frederick P W McDowell Neil Nakadate Ladell Payne M Bernetta Quinn John Crowe Ransom Victor Strandberg Walter Sullivan William Tjenos Simone Vauthier and Robert Penn Warren Understanding Robert Penn Warren James A. Grimshaw, 2001 Grimshaw examines the writer's views about the primacy of self knowledge and explores the painful and arduous path his protagonists must follow to gain such knowledge and the interrelationship of his artistic endeavors which were woven together by common thematic concerns history time truth responsibility love hope and endurance Reassessing the 1930s South Karen Cox, Sarah Gardner, 2018-05-18 Much of American popular culture depicts the 1930s South either as home to a population that was intellectually morally and physically stunted or as a romantic sentimentalized haven untouched by the nation's financial troubles Though these images stand as polar opposites each casts the South as an exceptional region that stood separate from American norms Reassessing the 1930s South brings together historians art critics and literary scholars to provide a new social and cultural history of the Great Depression South that moves beyond common stereotypes of the region Essays by Steven Knepper Anthony J Stanonis and Bryan A Giemza delve into the literary culture of the 1930s South and the multiple ways authors such as Sterling Brown Tennessee Williams and E P O'Donnell represented the region to outsiders Lisa Dorrill and Robert W Haynes explore connections between artists and the South in essays on New Deal murals and southern dramatists on Broadway Rejecting traditional views of southern resistance to modernization Douglas E Thompson and Ted Atkinson survey the cultural impacts of technological advancement and industrialization Emily Senefeld Scott L Matthews Rebecca Sharpless and Melissa Walker compare public representations of the South in the 1930s to the circumstances of everyday life Finally Ella Howard Nicholas Roland and Robert Hunt Ferguson examine the ways southern governments and activists shaped racial perceptions and realities in Georgia Texas and Tennessee Reassessing the 1930s South provides an interpretation that focuses on the region's embrace of technological innovation promotion of government sponsored programs of modernization rejection of the plantation legend of the late nineteenth century and experimentation with unionism and interracialism Taken collectively these essays provide a better understanding of the region's identity both real and perceived as well as how southerners grappled with modernity during a decade of uncertainty and economic hardship Tva's Public Planning Walter L. Creese, 2003-05 Winner of the Lewis Mumford Prize Society for American City and Regional Planning History and Best Book Award Southeast Society for Architectural Historians At its outset the Tennessee Valley Authority was a comprehensive public planning project for the economic and social revitalization of a major American region undertaken in a time of depression and major technological advance Traditionally the TVA has been viewed as a unique response to special circumstances largely lacking in historical precedents Civil Rights in the White Literary Imagination Jonathan W. Gray, 2013-01-14 The statement The Civil Rights Movement changed America though true has become something of a cliché Civil Rights in the White Literary Imagination seeks to determine how exactly the Civil Rights Movement changed the literary possibilities of four iconic American writers Robert Penn Warren Norman Mailer Eudora Welty and William Styron Each of these writers published significant works prior to the Brown v Board of Education case in 1954 and the Montgomery Bus Boycott that began in December of the following year making it possible to trace their evolution in reaction to these events The work these writers crafted in response to the upheaval of the day from Warren's Who Speaks for the Negro to Mailer's The White Negro to Welty's Where Is the Voice Coming From to Styron's Confessions of Nat Turner reveal much about their own feeling in the moment even as they contribute to the national conversation that centered on race and democracy By examining these works closely Gray posits the argument that these writers significantly shaped discourse on civil rights as the movement was occurring but did so in ways that intentionally or not often relied upon a notion of the relative innocence of the South with regard to racial affairs and on a construct of African Americans as politically and or culturally naive As these writers grappled with race and the myth of southern nobility their work developed in ways that were simultaneously sympathetic of and condescending to black intellectual thought occurring at the same time

Selected Letters of Robert Penn Warren

Robert Penn Warren, 2008-05-01 Volume four of the Selected Letters of Robert Penn Warren covers a crucial time of personal and professional rejuvenation in Warren's life During the fifteen year period spanned by this correspondence he completed Brother to Dragons Segregation The Inner Conflict in the South and Who Speaks for the Negro As these titles suggest these years were marked by Warren's immersion in American history and his maturing interest in race relations They also saw his return to lyric poetry after a ten year hiatus with the publication of the Pulitzer Prize winning collection Promises Along with seeing the completion of some of his most successful work this period was a time of momentous change in Warren's life including his move to Yale University his marriage to his second wife Eleanor and the birth of his two children As a chronicle of Warren's thoughts on his family his work his friends the state of literary studies and the culture at large these letters are invaluable Unlike many writers Warren rarely drafted his correspondence with future readers and scholars in mind he typically saved his prepared statements about the human condition and the state of the world for his poetry fiction and social commentary His letters offer a candid and personal glimpse of Warren's relationships as well as his personal views on literature politics and social trends Their recipients include Ralph Ellison Allen Tate Saul Bellow Robert Lowell Eudora Welty and Louis Rubin as well as Warren's editors reviewers collaborators and other friends Providing an unusually vivid and personal account of Warren's rich and fully realized life these missives are equally revealing of his thoughts on the state of contemporary American culture during this dynamic time in American history

Robert Penn Warren, Shadowy Autobiography, and Other Makers of American Literature Joseph R. Millichap, 2023-08-18

Toward the end of his career Robert Penn Warren wrote It may be said that our lives are our own supreme fiction Although lauded for his writing in multiple genres Warren never wrote an autobiography Instead he created his own shadowy autobiography in his poetry and prose as well as his fiction and nonfiction As one of the most thoughtful scholars on Robert Penn Warren and the literature of the South Joseph Millichap builds on the accepted idea that Warren s poetry and fiction became more autobiographical in his later years by demonstrating that that same progression is replicated in Warren s literary criticism This meticulously researched study reexamines in particular Warren s later nonfiction in which autobiographical concerns come into play that is in those fraught with psychological crisis such as Democracy and Poetry Millichap reveals the interrelated literary genres of autobiography criticism and poetry as psychological modes encompassing the interplay of Warren s life and work in his later nonfiction He also shows how Warren s critical engagement with major American authors often centered on the ways their creative work intersected with their lives thus generating both autobiographical criticism and the working out of Warren s own autobiography under these influences Millichap s latest book focuses on Warren s critical responses to William Faulkner John Crowe Ransom Herman Melville Nathaniel Hawthorne John Greenleaf Whittier and Theodore Dreiser In addition the author carefully considers the black and female writers Warren assessed more briefly in American Literature The Makers and the Making Robert Penn Warren Shadowy Autobiography and Other Makers of American Literature presents the breadth of Millichap s scholarship the depth of his insight and the maturity of his judgment by giving us to understand that in his writing Robert Penn Warren came to know his own vocation as a poet and critic and as an American

Monumental Designs Ted Atkinson, 2025-09-23 Established by Congress as part of the New Deal the Tennessee Valley Authority TVA designated parts of seven southern states for economic rehabilitation through various means including flood control rural electrification and social programs The goal was to deploy federal resources to reshape the region through infrastructure mainly a network of hydroelectric dams To garner political and public support TVA officials mobilized artists Soon state sponsored cultural productions emerged resulting in a body of work comprising an array of mediums The TVA swayed public opinion and generated positive reviews at the outset because of the vital role that culture played in making public meaning particularly regarding the near total transformation of the Tennessee Valley through infrastructural development as part of a larger ideological and economic investment in public works While the content was geared toward promoting the TVA agenda aesthetic innovations had a lasting impact influencing subsequent generations of artists who portrayed the TVA enterprise with complexity nuance and depth At a time when the country is grappling with issues surrounding climate change fossil fuels consumption and strip mining the TVA now struggles to balance its reputation for prosperity and development with public suspicion and skepticism In Monumental Designs Infrastructure and the Culture of the Tennessee Valley Authority author Ted Atkinson presents a cultural history of the TVA that examines representations of the agency in selected works from the New Deal era to the present With chapters organized according to medium photography and photobooks documentary films New Deal theater fiction film and novels Monumental Designs seeks to illuminate the entwined forms of infrastructural development and cultural production that have made the TVA a source of multivalent power and influence This examination of cultural history intends to foster critical thinking about how public works can come to be regarded as monumental expressions of national purpose and modern engines of progress defined in terms of perpetual growth and development [Catalog of Copyright Entries. Robert Penn Warren, a Vision Earned Marshall Walker,1979 Making History Jonathon S. Cullick,2000-04-01 From his first published book to his last works Robert Penn Warren wrote novels poetry biographies and essays based on the lives of American historical figures Even some of his critical texts take a biographical approach to their subjects In Making History the first comprehensive survey of Warren s biographical narratives Jonathan S Cullick tracks a clear development toward autobiography in Warren s career By applying narrative theory to that provocative trend he then makes an intriguing discovery Warren s discourse techniques dramatize his philosophy of history and ethics Cullick unearths what might be called the narrative syntax of Warren s historical vision in which genre becomes vital in the attempt to reconcile American past and present Making History considers all of Warren s major biographical narratives and their evolvement from detached reporting to doubtful self examination It offers a new reading of Warren s famed novel All the King s Men and close examination of several neglected texts including Warren s first book John Brown The Making of a Martyr his essay The World of Daniel Boone and two of his final works Jefferson Davis Gets His Citizenship Back and Portrait of a Father Robert Penn Warren's Circus Aesthetic and the Southern Renaissance Patricia L. Bradley,2004 Robert Penn Warren s Circus Aesthetic and the Southern Renaissance aligns Warren s work with that of other authors of the Southern Renaissance and examines intertextuality among them Further it establishes The Circus in the Attic a short teachable Warren piece as central to his canon Finally this book reveals the expressive role of the circus in southern history and culture in the first half of the twentieth century BOOK JACKET
