Killinger,2022-08-24 Painted Flowers Shouldn't Talk Back tells the story of a suburban women s art collective that painted together in Houston Texas from 1970 to 1977 They called themselves the Garden Artists though their subjects were much more varied than just garden views Author Margaret Killinger s artful narrative illustrates how these women creatively confronted profound sociocultural challenges through decorative art Some discovered much needed financial independence and personal freedom through the group others camaraderie and gratification outside home and marriage Still others found a welcome reprieve from the demands of motherhood the confines of suburban conformity or the sinking weight of grief They collectively learned to confront stark walls and to determine what they could and could not live with all the while enjoying art and each other Framed by Killinger s 2008 group interview conducted in Houston the story moves via memories and other interviews to El Paso Austin San Antonio Santa Fe and New Orleans The women s story is furthermore told under the shadow of Killinger s own search for answers She began exploring the women s lives after the sudden quiet death of her mother a portrait artist and peripheral member of the group who collapsed and died in 2004 when she was just sixty five years old Nancy Alvarez the eccentric hilarious leader of the Garden Artists who shaped each of their stories died one year later also sixty five To make sense of these losses Killinger looks back
