Frances Newman Southern Satirist And Literary Rebel:

Frances Newman Barbara Ann Wade, 1998-04-14 This first biographical and literary assessment of Frances Newman highlights one of the most experimental writers of the Southern Renaissance Novelist translator critic and acerbic book reviewer Frances Newman 1883 1928 was praised by Virginia novelist James Branch Cabell and critic H L Mencken Her experimental novels The Hard Boiled Virgin 1926 and Dead Lovers Are Faithful Lovers 1928 have recently begun to receive serious critical attention but this is the first book length study to focus both on Newman s life and on her fiction Frances Newman was born into a prominent Atlanta family and was educated at private schools in the South and the Northeast Her first novel The Hard Boiled Virgin was hailed by James Branch Cabell as the most brilliant the most candid the most civilized and the most profound yet written by any American woman Cabell and H L Mencken became Newman s literary mentors and loyally supported her satire of southern culture which revealed the racism class prejudice and religious intolerance that reinforced the idealized image of the white southern lady Writing within a nearly forgotten feminist tradition of southern women s fiction Newman portrayed the widely acclaimed social change in the early part of the century in the South as superficial rather than substantial with its continued restrictive roles for women in courtship and marriage and limited educational and career opportunities Barbara Wade explores Newman s place in the feminist literary tradition by comparing her novels with those of her contemporaries Ellen Glasgow Mary Johnston and Isa Glenn Wade draws from Newman s personal correspondence and newspaper articles to reveal a vibrant independent woman who simultaneously defied and was influenced by the traditional southern society she satirized in her writing The New Georgia Encyclopedia Companion to Georgia Literature Hugh Ruppersburg, John C. Inscoe, 2007 A comprehensive overview of Georgia s rich literary heritage features biographical and critical discussions of Georgia writers from the nineteenth century to the present as well as other information pertinent to Georgia literature with entries that discuss each author s life and work contributions to Georgia history and culture and place in regional and national literature Original World War I and Southern Modernism David A. Davis, 2017-11-27 Winner of the 2018 Eudora Welty Prize When the United States entered World War I parts of the country had developed industries urban cultures and democratic political systems but the South lagged behind remaining an impoverished agriculture region Despite New South boosterism the culture of the early twentieth century South was comparatively artistically arid Yet southern writers dominated the literary marketplace by the 1920s and 1930s World War I brought southerners into contact with modernity before the South fully modernized This shortfall created an inherent tension between the region s existing agricultural social structure and the processes of modernization leading to distal modernism a form of writing that combines elements of modernism to depict non modern social structures Critics have struggled to formulate explanations for the eruption of modern southern literature sometimes called the Southern Renaissance Pinpointing World War I as the catalyst David A Davis argues southern modernism was not a self generating outburst of writing but a response to the disruptions modernity generated in the region In World War I and Southern Modernism Davis examines dozens of works of literature by writers including William Faulkner Ellen Glasgow and Claude McKay that depict the South during the war Topics explored in the book include contact between the North and the South southerners who served in combat and the developing southern economy Davis also provides a new lens for this argument taking a closer look at African Americans in the military and changing gender roles Faulkner in America Ann J. Abadie, 2001 Disturbing Calculations Melanie Benson Taylor, 2010-01-25 In Thomas Wolfe's Look Homeward Angel Margaret Leonard says Never mind about algebra here That's for poor folks There's no need for algebra where two and two make five Moments of mathematical reckoning like this pervade twentieth century southern literature says Melanie R Benson In fiction by a large diverse group of authors including William Faulkner Anita Loos William Attaway Dorothy Allison and Lan Cao Benson identifies a calculation obsessed anxiety ridden discourse in which numbers are employed to determine social and racial hierarchies and establish individual worth and identity This narcissistic fetish of number speaks to a tangle of desires and denials rooted in the history of the South capitalism and colonialism No one evades participation in these disturbing equations says Benson wherein longing for increase accumulation and superiority collides with repudiation of the means by which material wealth is attained Writers from marginalized groups including African Americans Native Americans women immigrants and the poor have deeply internalized and co-opted methods and tropes of the master narrative even as they have struggled to wield new voices unmarked by the discourse of the colonizer Having nominally emerged from slavery's legacy the South is now situated in the agonized space between free market capitalism and social progressivism Elite southerners work to distance themselves from capitalism's dehumanizing mechanisms while the marginalized yearn to realize the uniquely American narrative of accumulation and ascent The fetish of numbers emerges to signify the futility of both Modern Sentimentalism Lisa Mendelman, 2019 Modern Sentimentalism discusses how the iconic modern woman as presented in interwar American literature It reveals how this literary figure carries the weight of sentiment and how the question of feminine feeling is central to modernism's preoccupations and styles South Atlantic Review, 1999 The North Carolina Historical Review, 1999 Corra Harris and the Divided Mind of the New South Catherine Oglesby, 2008 Corra Harris 1869-1935 was one of the most widely published and nationally popular women writers in the United States A Circuit Rider's Wife 1910 was Georgia's most celebrated novel for nearly three decades Now little read and almost forgotten Harris's life offers a fascinating glimpse into a world nearly unimaginable to us today In her writing Harris poignantly and often humorously captured the paradoxes characteristic of the New South a time and place of radically divergent goals Pressed by national and economic demands to modernize and regional desire to hold on to the past leaders struggled at the turn of the century to reconcile competing goals Issues of race class and gender found in Harris's writing were at the heart of the struggle In depicting the complexities of Harris's era her life and her personality historian Catherine Oglesby offers a remarkable insight into early twentieth century literature and culture She demonstrates the ways Harris s work and life both differed from and were the same as other southern women writers and reveals the ways time and place intersect with race class gender and other variables in the forging of identity The Mississippi Quarterly ,2008 America, History and Life ,2000 Provides historical coverage of the United States and Canada from prehistory to the present Includes information abstracted from over 2 000 journals published worldwide Appalachian Heritage ,2006 New Books on Women and Feminism ,1999 The George H. Thompson Collection of Henry Louis Mencken ,2009 Catalog of the George H Thompson Collection of Henry Louis Mencken at the Sheridan Libraries of the Johns Hopkins University Current Contents, April 12, 1999 ,1999 International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature Chiefly in the Fields of Arts and Humanities and the Social Sciences ,1999 The Cumulative Book Index ,1998 A world list of books in the English language Choice ,1999 American Book Publishing Record ,1998 Bibliographic Index ,1998
