Francis Parkman, Historian As Hero Wilbur R. Jacobs, 1991      Francis Parkman, Historian as Hero Wilbur R. Jacobs, 2010-07-22 A historian who lived the kind of history he wrote Francis Parkman is a major and controversial figure in American historiography His narrative style while popular with readers wanting a good story has raised many questions with professional historians Was Parkman writing history or historical fiction Did he color historical figures with his own heroic self image Was his objectivity compromised by his unbending conservative Brahmin values These are some of the many issues that Wilbur Jacobs treats in this thought provoking study Jacobs carefully considers the apprenticeship of Francis Parkman first spent in facing the rigors of the Oregon Trail and later in struggling to write his histories despite a mysterious frequently incapacitating illness He shows how these events allowed Parkman to create a heroic self image which impelled his desire for fame as a historian and influenced his treatment of both the noble and the savage characters of his histories In addition to assessing the influence of Parkman s development and personality on his histories Jacobs comments on Parkman s relationship to basic social and cultural issues of the nineteenth century These include the slavery question Native American issues expansion of the suffrage to new groups including women and anti Catholicism      American History in Transition Yoshinari Yamaguchi, 2020-03-02 In American History in Transition Yoshinari Yamaguchi provides fresh insights into early efforts in American history writing ranging from Jeremy Belknap s Massachusetts Historical Society to Emma Willard s geographic history and Francis Parkman s history of deep time to Henry Adams s thermodynamic history Although not a well organized set of professional researchers these historians shared the same concern the problems of temporalization and secularization in history writing As the time honored framework of sacred history was gradually outdated American historians at that time turned to individual facts as possible evidence for a new generalization and tried different scientific theories to give coherency to their writings History writing was in its transitional phase shifting from religion to science deduction to induction and static to dynamic worldview      America, History and Life , 1996 Provides historical coverage of the United States and Canada from prehistory to the present Includes information abstracted from over 2 000 journals published worldwide      Encyclopedia of the Environment in American Literature Geoff Hamilton, Brian Jones, 2014-01-10 This encyclopedia introduces readers to American poetry fiction and nonfiction with a focus on the environment broadly defined as humanity s natural surroundings from the discovery of America through the present The work includes biographical and literary entries on material from early explorers and colonists such as Columbus Bartolome de Las Casas and Thomas Harriot Native American creation myths canonical 18th and 19th century works of Jefferson Emerson Thoreau Whitman Hawthorne Twain Dickinson and others to more recent figures such as Jack London Ernest Hemingway Norman Mailer Stanley Cavell Rachel Carson Jon Krakauer and Al Gore It is meant to provide a synoptic appreciation of how the very concept of the environment has changed over the past five centuries offering both a general

introduction to the topic and a valuable resource for high school and university courses focused on environmental issues

On Turner's Trail Wilbur R. Jacobs, 2021-10-08 Should Frederick Jackson Turner be revered as the father of western history or reviled as a misguided advocate of a frontier spirit and rugged individualism that denied cultural diversity and produced widespread environmental destruction Dividing into camps over the issue western historians place him everywhere from one end of the spectrum to the other In this provocative new interpretation of Turner's life work and legacy Wilbur Jacobs challenges the views of traditionalists and views of traditionalists and revisionists alike From extensive research in the Turner archives a nationwide search for additional Turner correspondence interviews with historians and a lifetime of collecting Turner anecdotes Jacobs chronicles Turner's professional and sometimes personal bequest through 100 years of Western historical writing Jacobs adds his voice to the heated debate by mixing a sophisticated critique of historical writing with stories of professional intrigue the fights to protect Turner's legacy limit access to the Turner archives and control the Western History Association He traces the intellectual development of Turner's frontier theory explores the intense rivalry between two major Turnerian disciples Frederick Merk and Ray A Billington as they vied for control of Turner's legacy and analyzes the efforts of new western historians who seek to erase Turner and Billington from the landscape of what is now called the history of the West Balanced in his assessments Jacobs treats Turner and his disciples with a sympathetic yet critical eye He points out Turner's limitations in dealing with environmental racial ethnic and urban themes as well as the shortcomings of Merk Billington and other Turnerians At the same time however Jacobs illuminates the major contributions of their work Despite their intense differences Jacobs argues all western historians remain inextricably linked by Turner's legacy

The Forest Alexander Nemerov, 2023-03-07 Set amid the glimmering lakes and disappearing forests of the United States in the 1830s The Forest: A Fable of America in the 1830s imagines how individuals at the time experienced their lives Part truth part fiction this book follows painters poets enslaved individuals farmers and artisans through various settings Some such as Nathaniel Hawthorne Nat Turner Thomas Cole and Edgar Allan Poe are well known others are not All are creators of private and grand designs and makers of the worlds they inhabited The Forest unfolds in brief stories Each is an episode revealing a lost world of intricate relations human beings going their own ways or crossing paths in a place that is known to history or is remote and unknown For Alex Nemerov the forest is a description of American society as he writes the dense and discontinuous woods of nation the foliating thoughts of different people each with their separate life to lead Nemerov's art history is at its center an experiment in writing in how to write differently about visual culture The Forest examines the history of the United States on a human scale displaying the patterns of life alongside examples of paintings prints photographs and objects

Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd, 2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate. Additionally, the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national, regional, and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality. In addition to the Western tradition, it includes substantial assessments of African, Asian, and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies.

Book Review Digest, 1993. Excerpts from and citations to reviews of more than 8,000 books each year drawn from coverage of 109 publications. Book Review Digest provides citations to and excerpts of reviews of current juvenile and adult fiction and nonfiction in the English language. Reviews of the following types of books are excluded: government publications, textbooks, and technical books in the sciences and law. Reviews of books on science for the general reader, however, are included. The reviews originate in a group of selected periodicals in the humanities, social sciences, and general science published in the United States, Canada, and Great Britain. Publisher: The Oregon Trail, Francis Parkman, 1994-01-01. The Oregon Trail is the gripping account of Francis Parkman's journey west across North America in 1846. After crossing the Allegheny Mountains by coach and continuing by boat and wagon to Westport, Missouri, he set out with three companions on a horseback journey that would ultimately take him over two thousand miles. Map. Program of the ... Annual Meeting Organization of American Historians. Meeting, 1992. Encyclopedia of American Literature Manly, Inc., 2013-06. Susan Clair Imbarrato, Carol Berkin, Brett Barney, Lisa Paddock, Matthew J. Bruccoli, George Parker Anderson, Judith S. Progressive New World Marilyn Lake, 2019-01-07. In a bold argument, Marilyn Lake shows that race and reform were mutually supportive as Progressivism became the political logic of settler colonialism at the turn of the 20th century. She points to exchanges between American and Australasian reformers who shared racial sensibilities along with a commitment to forging an ideal social order. The Fatal Confrontation Wilbur R. Jacobs, 1996. The Martial Imagination Jimmy L. Bryan, 2013-10-10. Martial experiences and the mythologies that surround them have profoundly affected the ways in which Americans think of themselves. Wars identify the heroes who help define national character, provide the stories for the grand narratives of belonging and sacrifice, and serve as markers for essential moments of transformation. However, only in the last several years have scholars begun using the term cultural history of American warfare to identify the study of how public discourse formulates these defining myths and narratives. This volume brings together scholarship from diverse fields in a common mission to demonstrate the usefulness and significance of studying the cultural history of American warfare. The Martial Imagination: Cultural Aspects of American Warfare canvasses the American war experience from the Revolution to the War on Terror, examining how it infuses legitimacy and conformity with an urgency that contorts ideas of citizenship, nationhood, gender, and other pliable categories. The multidisciplinary scholarship in this volume represents the varied perspectives of cultural history, American studies, literary criticism, war and society, media studies, and public culture analysis, illustrating the rich dialogues that epitomize the cultural history of American warfare Bringing together both recognized and emerging scholars this book is the first anthology to feature essays on this topic comprising research from twelve authors who represent a wide range of experiences and disciplines Their work uncovers new and surprising understandings of the American war experience that reveal the ways in which culture makers have grappled with the trauma of war salvaged meaning from the meaningless or advanced some ulterior agenda

A Place in Common Karen L. Marrero, Andrew K Sturtevant, 2025-03-01 At the turn of the eighteenth century Indigenous nations designated Detroit as a common bowl and a crucial nexus where they shared resources made compromises and coexisted As the century unfolded Detroit continued as a polyglot community in the face of expanding Euro American settlement The region became a highly charged space where the rituals of political negotiation grew in importance alongside a constant threat of violence British political and economic systems continued to operate long after the end of the American Revolution creating a shared cultural border at the end of the eighteenth century that would endure even as the American Empire reestablished rule on the north side of the river Both Anishinaabe and Wyandot people set aside land for future occupation of their people re creating another transnational space in the region A hundred years later issues of race economic development political partisanship and overlapping national claims continued to resonate as the city commemorated and mythologized its origins This book considers how larger watershed occasions impacted the Detroit region and how in turn the unique particularities of local custom impacted regional and national trade and politics and the very nature of how the city continues to view its past

The Oregon Trail Francis Parkman, Jr., 2008-07-10 The Oregon Trail is the gripping account of Francis Parkman s journey west across North America in 1846 His detailed description of the journey set against the vast majesty of the Great Plains has emerged through the generations as a classic narrative of one man s exploration of the American Wilderness

Politics and Culture of the Civil War Era Robert Walter Johannsen, 2006 Robert W Johannsen professor emeritus of the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign is one of the leading Jacksonian and Civil War era historians of his generation Works such as his Stephen A Douglas and To the Halls of the Montezumas have cemented his place in period scholarship He also has mentored literally dozens of professional historians In his honor eleven of his students have gathered to contribute new essays on the period s history On display here are cutting edge examinations of thought and culture in the late Jacksonian era new considerations of Manifest Destiny and fascinating interpretations of the lives of the two political giants of the period Stephen A Douglas and Abraham Lincoln Democratic Party politics and Civil War era religion also come into play

Herbert Eugene Bolton Albert L. Hurtado, 2012-02-29 This biography examines the life works and ideas of Herbert E Bolton a prominent historian of the American West Mexico and Latin America

Racial Asymmetries Stephen Hong Sohn, 2014-01-17 Challenging the tidy links among authorial position narrative perspective and fictional content Stephen Hong Sohn argues that Asian American authors have never been limited to writing about Asian American characters or contexts Racial Asymmetries specifically examines the importance of first person narration in Asian American fiction published in the postrace era focusing on those cultural productions in which the author's ethnoracial makeup does not directly overlap with that of the storytelling perspective Through rigorous analysis of novels and short fiction such as Sesshu Foster's Atomik Aztex Sabina Murray's A Carnivore's Inquiry and Sigrid Nunez's The Last of Her Kind Sohn reveals how the construction of narrative perspective allows the Asian American writer a flexible aesthetic canvas upon which to engage issues of oppression and inequity power and subjectivity and the complicated construction of racial identity Speaking to concerns running through postcolonial studies and American literature at large Racial Asymmetries employs an interdisciplinary approach to reveal the unbounded nature of fictional worlds
