Freakshow First Person Media And Factual Television:

Freakshow Jon Dovey, 2000 True confessions fake films and docu soaps in the last ten years factual television has been transformed by an explosion of new genres Freakshow offers a serious look at reality TV in an attempt to understand the mass media's fascination with intimacy deviancy and horror BR BR Jon Dovey analyses reality TV in terms of the political economy of the mass media He investigates the relationship between confessional television and our modern understanding of culture and identity Is our fascination with the personal the only meaningful response to the complexity of our own lives Are the politics of the self the only alternative to the defunct grand narratives of yesterday BR BR In concentrating not on the reception of these new television forms but on the choices models and agendas which inform their production Dovey reveals the relationships between social anxieties economic pressures and their specific inflections in media texts In a critical analysis of media industry practice Dovey asks why directors can't stay out of range of their own cameras and what is the role of the television of intimacy within broadcasting New Challenges for Documentary Alan Rosenthal, John Corner, 2005-05-13 The first edition of this book provided a major stimulus for teaching about documentary film and television and fresh encouragement for critical thinking about practice This second edition brings together many new contributions both from academics and filmmakers reflecting shifts both in documentary production itself and in ways of discussing it Once again the emphasis has been on clear and provocative writing sympathetic to the practical challenges of documentary filmmaking but making connections with a range of work in media and communications analysis With its wide range of contributors and the international scope of its agenda this will be essential reading for general filmmakers and documentary students both of academic and practical inclinations Reality TV Jon Kraszewski, 2017-02-24 From early first wave programs such as Candid Camera An American Family and The Real World to the shows on our television screens and portable devices today reality television consistently takes us to cities such as New York Los Angeles and Boston to imagine the place of urbanity in American culture and society Jon Kraszewski offers the first extended account of this phenomenon as he makes the politics of urban space the center of his history and theory of reality television Kraszewski situates reality television in a larger economic transformation that started in the 1980s when America went from an industrial economy when cities were home to all classes to its post industrial economy as cities became key points in a web of global financing expelling all economic classes except the elite and the poor Reality television in the industrial era reworked social relationships based on class race and gender for liberatory purposes which resulted in an egalitarian ethos in the genre However reality television of the post industrial era attempts to convince viewers that cities still serve their interests even though most viewers find city life today economically untenable Each chapter uses a key theoretical concept from spatial theory such as power geometries diasporic nostalgia orientalism the imagination of social expulsions and the relationship between the country and the city to illuminate the way reality television engages this larger transformation of urban space in America Realism and 'reality' in Film and Media Anne Jerslev, 2002 The 2002 theme of Northern Lights is dedicated to the representation of reality in film TV and new media a question of new importance in modern film and media where a new wave of realism has dominated cinema and reality TV became a mass phenomena on both TV and the internet Eleven articles by Danish British and American film and media researchers focus on two sub themes Film and Realism deals theoretically with film realism and analyses classic films and modern Danish Dogma films Documentary Forms Reality TV and New Media treats new forms of non fiction film TV and on the internet in a both theoretical and historical perspective

Media and Ritual Johanna Sumiala, 2013 This wide ranging and accessible book offers a stimulating introduction to the field of media anthropology and the study of religious ritual Johanna Sumiala explores the interweaving of rituals communication and community She uses the tools of anthropological enquiry to examine a variety of media events including the death of Michael Jackson a royal wedding and the transgressive actions which took place in Abu Ghraib and to understand the inner significance of the media coverage of such events The book deals with theories of ritual media as ritual including reception production and representation and rituals of death in the media It will be invaluable to students and scholars alike across media religion and anthropology

Grand Designs Aneta Podkalicka, Esther Milne, Jenny Kennedy, 2018-11-28 This is the first academic book to examine the long running hit series Grand Designs which occupies a significant place in the popular imagination internationally The authors apply an empirically grounded critical perspective to the study of television to reveal how people use the program in their everyday lives The emphasis on everyday uses and meanings combines creatively with understanding the program theoretically textually and in terms of its production structures This position challenges framings of the popular lifestyle and factual television genre that has been dominated by a neoliberal or governmentality perspective for many years Presented by British designer and writer Kevin McCloud Grand Designs follows the progress of home owners as they embark on design renovation and building projects at almost always dizzying scales of endeavour Understanding the program as both a text to analyse and a site of material impact the book draws on interviews with production members home renovators building practitioners and audiences as well as references to associated media formats to provide contextual depth to the analysis The authors argue that as a cultural object the program is both shaped by and enacts social discourses of home making design value and taste Navigating public commercial and promotional logics Grand Designs sparks new forms of cultural production and consumer markets

Cultures of Authenticity Marie Heřmanová, Michael Skey, Thomas Thurnell-Read, 2022-11-21 This volume contains an Open Access Chapter This collection explores the complex and controversial idea of authenticity Addressing the concept from an interdisciplinary perspective and offering a diverse range of topical cases

Midwifery, Childbirth and the Media Ann Luce, Vanora Hundley, Edwin van Teijlingen, 2017-10-17 This edited collection one of a kind in its field addresses the theoretical and practical implications facing representations of midwifery and media Bringing together international scholars and practitioners this succinct volume offers a cross disciplinary discussion regarding the role of media in childbirth midwifery and pregnancy representation One chapter critiques the provision and dissemination of health information and promotional materials in a suburban antenatal clinic while others are devoted to specific forms of media television the press social media looking at how each contribute to women s perceptions and anxieties with regard to childbirth

Media Discourses Donald Matheson, 2005-09-16 Some of the most important questions regarding the relationship between media and culture are about communication How are the meanings which make up a culture shared in society How is power performed in the media What identities and relationships take shape there Media Discourses introduces readers to discourse analysis to show how media communication works Written in a lively style and drawing on examples from contemporary media it discusses what precisely gets represented in mediatexts who gets to do the talking what knowledge people need to share in order to understand the media and how power relations are reinforced or challenged Each chapter discusses a particular media genre including news advertising reality television and weblogs At the same time each chapter also introduces a range of approaches to media discourse from analysis of linguistic details to the rules of conversation and the discursive construction of selfhood A glossary explains key terms and suggestions for further reading are given at the end of each chapter This is a key text for media studies mass communication communication studies linguistics and journalism studies students

Media and Health Clive Seale, 2003-01-17 This book appears to fill a substantial gap in the literature at present There are quite simply no books available which engage seriously and competently with the presentation of health issues in the media and certainly none which focuses on representations of health and illness in as thematically coherent a manner as Seale proposes to do Richard Gwyn University of Cardiff This is an excellent resource for students It provides a comprehensive review of secondary literature in the field and is very well researched Students of sociology of health and illness and in media and communication studies will find the book invaluable David Oswell Goldsmiths College University of London This is a comprehensive work on media health providing an invaluable toolkit for understanding health and the media in contemporary society Seale goes further than previous textbooks critiquing the lament of media health promoters in order to explore the moralisation and commercialisation of media health Dr Annette Hill University of Westminster How are health matters presented by the mass media How accurate are the messages we are receiving This book demonstrates how health messages in popular mass media are important influences in our lives and that they are not neutral being subject to many determining influences It demonstrates the importance of mass media for understanding the experience of illness health and health care bringing together the latest thinking in the field of media studies and the sociology of health and illness This book provides a thorough review of research literature on media representations of health illness and health care covering their production characteristic forms and relationships with the everyday lives of media audiences It brings together both well known and lesser known studies in the context of an integrated sociological argument about media and health Media producers are subject to a variety of influences from medical lobbies scientific organizations and not least the commercial pressure to satisfy media saturated audiences These mean that aims of health promoters are not always easily achieved leading to considerable tensions that require a deeper understanding of media health than has hitherto been applied to them This book will be essential reading for health educators and promoters as well as health care providers interested in the cultural aspects of health sociologists of health and illness and students and academics of media studies Identity in the 21st Century M. Wetherell,2009-11-05 Bringing together leading scholars to investigate trends in contemporary social life this book examines the current patterning of identities based on class and community gender and generation race faith and ethnicity and derived from popular culture exploring debates about social change individualization and the re making of social class The Routledge Companion to Global Popular Culture Toby Miller,2014-12-05 Research on popular culture is a dynamic fast growing domain In scholarly terms it cuts across many areas including communication studies sociology history American studies anthropology literature journalism folklore economics and media and cultural studies The Routledge Companion to Global Popular Culture provides an authoritative up to date intellectually broad internationally aware and conceptually agile guide to the most important aspects of popular culture scholarship Specifically this Companion includes interdisciplinary models and approaches for analyzing popular culture wide ranging case studies discussions of economic and policy underpinnings analysis of textual manifestations of popular culture examinations of political social and cultural dynamics and discussions of emerging issues such as ecological sustainability and labor Featuring scholarly voices from across six continents The Routledge Companion to Global Popular Culture presents a nuanced and wide ranging survey of popular culture research News Jackie Harrison,2005-11-10 Written in a clear and lively style with examples across a range of media including print radio television and the internet Jackie Harrison explains the different theoretical approaches that have been used to study news Understanding Reality Television Su Holmes,Deborah Jermyn,2004 Tracing the history of reality TV from Candid Camera to The Osbournes Understanding Reality Television examines a range of programmes which claim to depict real life Realer Than Reel David Hogarth,2009-11-20 Television and globalization have transformed the traditional documentary almost beyond recognition converting what was once a film genre devoted to public service and education into a popular televisual commodity with productions ranging from serious public affairs programming to TV reality shows and docusoaps Realer Than Reel offers a state of the art overview of international documentary programming that investigates the possibilities documentary offers for local and public representation in a global age as well as what actually constitutes documentary in a time of increasing digitalization and manipulation of visual media David Hogarth focuses on public affairs nature and reality shows from around the world drawing upon industry data producer interviews analyses of selected documentary programs and firsthand observations of market sites He looks at how documentary has become a transnational product through exports co ventures and festival contacts how local and regional place is represented in global documentary especially by producers such as Discovery Networks International and the National Geographic Channel how documentary addresses the needs of its viewers as citizens through public service broadcasting and how documentary is challenging accepted conventions of factuality sense and taste The concluding chapter considers the future of both documentary as a genre and television as a global factual medium asking whether TV will continue to document the world in any meaningful sense of the term

The Ethics of Reality TV Wendy N. Wyatt, Kristie Bunton, 2012-05-10 Reality television is continuing to grow both in numbers and in popularity The scholarship on reality TV is beginning to catch up but one of the most enduring questions about the genre Is it ethical has yet to be addressed in any systematic and comprehensive way Through investigating issues ranging from deception and privacy breaches to community building and democratization of TV The Ethics of Reality TV explores the ways in which reality TV may create both benefits and harms to society The edited collection features the work of leading scholars in the field of media ethics and provides a comprehensive assessment of the ethical effects of the genre

Understanding Celebrity Graeme Turner, 2004-05-07 Graeme Turner is one of the leading figures in cultural studies today When his gaze turns to celebrity the result is a readable and compelling account of this most perplexing and infuriating of modern phenomena Read on Toby Miller New York University We cannot escape celebrity culture it is everywhere So just what is the cultural function of celebrity This is the first comprehensive overview of the production and consumption of celebrity from within cultural and media studies The pervasive influence of contemporary celebrity and the cultures it produces has been widely noticed Earlier studies though have tended to focus on the consumption of celebrity or on particular locations of celebrity Hollywood or the sports industries for instance This book presents a broad survey across all media as well as a new synthesis of theoretical positions that will be welcomed by all students of media and cultural studies Among its attributes are the following It provides an overview and evaluation of the key debates surrounding the definition of celebrity its history and its social and cultural function It examines the celebrity industries the PR and publicity structures that manufacture celebrity It looks at the cultural processes through which celebrity is consumed It draws examples from the full range of contemporary media film television newspapers magazines and the web

In the Limelight and Under the Microscope Diane Negra, Su Holmes, 2011-03-17 This timely collection explores the politics of female celebrity across a range of contemporary and historical media contexts Amidst concerns about the apparent decline in the currency of modern fame famous for being famous as well as debates about the shifting parameters of public private visibility it is female celebrities who are positioned as the most active discursive terrain This collection seeks to interrogate such phenomena by forging a greater conceptual theoretical and historical dialogue between celebrity studies and critical gender studies It takes as its starting point the understanding that female celebrity is a particularly fraught cultural phenomenon with ideological and industrial implications that warrant careful scrutiny In moving across case studies from the 19th century to the present day this book works from the assumption that the case study should play a crucial role in generating debate about the dialogue between past and present and the individual essays seek to reflect this spirit of enquiry

Media Studies Sarah Casey Benyahia, Abigail Gardner, Philip Rayner, Peter Wall, 2013-12-13 Bringing together key writings with original textbook material the second edition of Media Studies The Essential Resource explains central perspectives and concepts within Media Studies Readers are introduced to a range of writing on media topics promoting an understanding of the subject from both contemporary and historical perspectives The text is split into three parts covering Analysis and Perspectives Media Audiences and Ecologies and Creativities The key areas of study are discussed with accessible readings from essential theoretical texts and fully supported with an author commentary Theoretical perspectives are used to analyse contemporary media forms and activities direct students to interrogate readings further and apply their learning Encouraging critical and analytical study Media Studies The Essential Resource helps students to understand the main theories and theorists within Media Studies

Parenting in Global Perspective Charlotte Faircloth, Diane M. Hoffman, Linda L. Layne, 2013-10-28 Drawing on both sociological and anthropological perspectives this volume explores cross national trends and everyday experiences of parenting Parenting in Global Perspective examines the significance of parenting as a subject of professional expertise and activity in which adults are increasingly expected to be emotionally absorbed and become personally fulfilled By focusing the significance of parenting as a form of relationship and as mediated by family relationships across time and space the book explores the points of accommodation and points of tension between parenting as defined by professionals and those experienced by parents themselves Specific themes include the ways in which the moral context for parenting is negotiated and sustained the structural constraints to good parenting particularly in cases of immigration or reproductive technologies the relationship between intimate family life and broader cultural trends parenting culture policy making and nationhood parenting and as adult identity work Including contributions on parenting from a range of ethnographic locales from Europe Canada and the US to non Euro American settings such as Turkey Chile and Brazil this volume presents a uniquely critical and international perspective which positions parenting as a global ideology that intersects in a variety of ways with the political social cultural and economic positions of parents and families
