Frederick II A Medieval Emperor:

Frederick II David Abulafia,1992 In this the first revisionist biography of Frederick II David Abulafia dispels Frederick's long lived distorted reputation as a monarch tolerant to the Jews and Muslims defiant of papal rule and eager to create a new secular world order Abulafia is the first to place Frederick in the wider historical context his enormous empire demands portraying him as less tolerant and far sighted in his cultural religious and politics ambitions than generally thought

Frederick II David Abulafia,1992-01 Frederick II 1194 1250 King of Sicily Holy Roman Emperor King of Jerusalem expert ornithologist Wonder of the World has long been considered the first Renaissance ruler A visionary autocrat who embraced the religious divisions within his empire to challenge the armies and oppressive limitations of the medieval church he has also been denounced as the Antichrist a heretic and a heathen who died condemned by the papacy to eternal damnation

Encyclopedia of Homosexuality Wayne R. Dynes,2016-03-22 First published in 1990 The Encyclopedia of Homosexuality brings together a collection of outstanding articles that were at the time of this book's original publication classic pioneering and recent Together the two volumes provide scholarship on male and female homosexuality and bisexuality and reaching beyond questions of physical sexuality they examine the effects of homophilia and homophobia on literature art religion science law philosophy society and history Many of the writings were considered to be controversial and often contradictory at that time and refer to issues and difficulties that still exist today This volume contains entries from A L

Revival Preachers and Politics in Thirteenth Century Italy Augustine Thompson,2010-04-01 Recent studies of medieval preaching have tended to focus on sermon texts This is the first scholarly study in English of preaching and its social context in thirteenth century Italy Augustine Thompson O P both an academic and a preacher reconstructs the Great Devotion of 1233 and analyzes its devotional social political and legal elements He shows how the preachers of this revival crafted an image of divine authority that supported their intervention in factional disputes and facilitated their arbitration in social and political conflicts They exploited forms from revived Roman Law and developing city statutes in order to create flexible procedures for mediation and ultimately were able to revise communal ordinances to enshrine their message of social harmony This is a work of original scholarship carefully researched and lucidly written which is a valuable contribution to our understanding of religion and politics in the middle ages      The Concise History of the Crusades Thomas F.

Madden,2014-03-16 What is the relationship between the medieval crusades and the problems of the modern Middle East Were the crusades the Christian equivalent of Muslim jihad In this sweeping yet crisp history Thomas F Madden offers a brilliant and compelling narrative of the crusades and their contemporary relevance Placing all of the major crusades within their social economic religious and intellectual environments Madden explores the uniquely medieval world that led untold thousands to leave their homes families and friends to march in Christ s name to distant lands From Palestine and Europe s farthest reaches each crusade is recounted in a clear concise narrative The author gives special attention as well to the crusades effects on the Islamic world and the Christian Byzantine East      The Causes of War Alexander

Gillespie,2016-12-01 This is the second volume of a projected five volume series charting the causes of war from 3000 BCE to the present day written by a leading international lawyer and using as its principal materials the documentary history of international law largely in the form of treaties and the negotiations which led up to them These volumes seek to show why millions of people over thousands of years slew each other In departing from the various theories put forward by historians anthropologists and psychologists Gillespie offers a different taxonomy of the causes of war focusing on the broader settings of politics religion migrations and empire building These four contexts were dominant and often overlapping justifications during the first four thousand years of human civilisation for which written records exist      The French in the Kingdom of Sicily, 1266-1305 Jean Dunbabin,2011-03-03 Charles of Anjou s conquest of the Sicilian Regno in 1266 transformed relations between France and the kingdom of Sicily This original study of contact and exchange in the Middle Ages explores the significance of the many cultural religious and political exchanges between the two countries arguing that the links were more diverse and stronger than simply the rulers family connections Jean Dunbabin shows how influence flowed as much from south to north as vice versa and that France was strongly influenced by the experiences of those who returned after years of fighting in the Regno As well as considering the experiences of notable crusading families she sheds new light on the career of Robert II d Artois who virtually ruled the Regno for six years before returning to France to remodel the government of Artois This comparative history of two societies offers an important perspective on medieval Western Europe      Arabic

into Latin in the Middle Ages Charles Burnett,2024-10-28 This collection of Charles Burnett s articles on the transmission of Arabic learning to Europe concentrates on the identity of the Latin translators and the context in which they were working The articles are arranged in roughly chronological order beginning with the earliest known translations from Arabic at the end of the 10th century progressing through 11th century translations made in Southern Italy translators working in Sicily and the Principality of Antioch at the beginning of the 12th century the first of the 12th century Iberian translators the beginnings and development of professional translation activity in Toledo and the transfer of this activity from Toledo to Frederick II's entourage in the 13th century. Most of the articles include editions of texts that either illustrate the style and character of the translator or provide the source material for his biobibliography. Crusades Benjamin Kedar, Jonathan Phillips, 2019-01-30. Crusades covers seven hundred years from the First Crusade 1095-1102 to the fall of Malta 1798 and draws together scholars working on theatres of war, their home fronts and settlements from the Baltic to Africa and from Spain to the Near East and on theology, law, literature, art, numismatics and economic, social, political and military history. Routledge publishes this journal for The Society for the Study of the Crusades and the Latin East. Particular attention is given to the publication of historical sources in all relevant languages: narrative, homiletic and documentary in trustworthy editions but studies and interpretative essays are welcomed too. Crusades also incorporates the Society's Bulletin. The editors are Benjamin Z. Kedar, Hebrew University, Israel; Jonathan Phillips, Royal Holloway University of London, UK; Nikolaos G. Christis, Democritus University of Thrace, Greece. Transregal Kingship in the Thirteenth Century Jörg Peltzer, Nicholas Vincent, 2025-08-15. Transregal Kingship in the Thirteenth Century explores a wide spread European phenomenon: rulership over multiple kingdoms or a kingdom in combination with major non-royal lordships elsewhere. Perceptions of royal authority and kingly sovereignty changed significantly during the thirteenth century and as the role played by kingdoms as sovereign polities was strengthened the framework for transregal kingship shifted. This volume investigates the consequences, examining the theory, perception and administrative practices of transregal kingship. Intended to provide a coherent picture that itself may facilitate comparisons, the work focuses on four distinct but significantly intertwined polities: The Empire, France, The Angevin Empire and the Papacy. Despite its frequent occurrence, transregal kingship played a relatively small role in contemporary political thought and transregal practice took a great variety of forms, showing rulers and the ruled adapting to circumstance rather than pursuing any pre-conceived grand strategy. Meanwhile the ruler's frequent physical absence provoked the creation of multiple forms of vice-regal power. In the Empire it also led to an increased use of arbitration as a means to solve disputes at regional level. Finally, an analysis of architecture and the built environment suggests that such things exhibit a fascinating combination of the political and the merely fashionable. The Subtext of Form in the English Renaissance S. K. Heninger, 1994. During the sixteenth century in England the logocentrism of the Middle Ages was confronted by a materialism that heralded the modern world. With remarkable tenacity in music, poetry and painting the orthodox aesthetic persisted as formal features which served as nonverbal signs and provided a subtext of form. In opposition, however, a radical aesthetic emerged to accommodate the new attention to physical nature. The growing force of materialism occasioned a fundamental rethinking of what an artifact might represent and how that representation might be achieved. This book explores the ontological and epistemological issues that poststructuralist thought raises about that shift in our cultural history. In doing so it charts a course for Renaissance studies now in disarray that avoids the old positivism while not succumbing to the new nihilism. From She-Wolf to Martyr Elizabeth Casteen, 2016-02-19. In From She-Wolf to

Martyr Elizabeth Casteen examines Johanna I of Naples's evolving problematic reputation and uses it as a lens through which to analyze often contradictory late medieval conceptions of rulership authority and femininity The Encyclopedia of Diplomacy, 4 Volume Set Gordon Martel, 2018-04-30 The Encyclopedia of Diplomacy is a complete and authoritative 4 volume compendium of the most important events people and terms associated with diplomacy and international relations from ancient times to the present from a global perspective An invaluable resource for anyone interested in diplomacy its history and the relations between states Includes newer areas of scholarship such as the role of non state organizations including the UN and M decins Sans Frontiers and the exercise of soft power as well as issues of globalization and climate change Provides clear concise information on the most important events people and terms associated with diplomacy and international relations in an A Z format All entries are rigorously peer reviewed to ensure the highest quality of scholarship Provides a platform to introduce unfamiliar terms and concepts to students engaging with the literature of the field for the first time The Crusades and the Expansion of Catholic Christendom, 1000-1714 John France, 2006-02-01 The Crusades and the Expansion of Catholic Christendom 1000 1714 is a fascinating and accessible survey that places the medieval Crusades in their European context and examines for the first time their impact on European expansion Taking a unique approach that focuses on the motivation behind the Crusades John France chronologically examines the whole crusading movement from the development of a crusading impulse in the eleventh century through to an examination of the relationship between the Crusades and the imperialist imperatives of the early modern period France provides a detailed examination of the first Crusade the expansion and climax of crusading during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries and the failure and fragmentation of such practices in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries Concluding with an assessment of the influence of the Crusades across history and replete with illustrations maps timelines guides for further reading and a detailed list of rulers across Europe and the Muslim world this study provides students with an essential guide to a central aspect of medieval history The Crusades to the Holy Land Alan V.
