Mohl,Roger Biles,2023-10-03 The revised and updated third edition of The Making of Urban America includes seven new articles and a richly detailed historiographical essay that discusses the vast urban history literature added to the canon since the publication of the second edition The authors extensively revised introductions and the fifteen reprinted articles trace urban development from the preindustrial city to the twentieth century city With emphasis on the social economic political commercial and cultural aspects of urban history these essays illustrate the growth and change that created modern day urban life Dynamic topics such as technology immigration and ethnicity suburbanization sunbelt cities urban political history and planning and housing are examined The Making of Urban America is the only reader available that covers all of U S urban history and that also includes the most recent interpretive scholarship on the subject The Master List of Design Projects of the Olmsted Firm, 1857-1979 Lucy Lawliss,Caroline Loughlin,Lauren Meier,2008 Landscape Urbanism and its Discontents Andrés Duany,Emily Talen,2013-03-01 Landscape Urbanism and New Urbanism negotiating the relationship between cities and the natural world In contemporary Western society urban development is regarded as an unfortunate blight from which nature provides a much needed respite This apparent dichotomy ignores the interdependence between human settlement and the natural world In fact one of the most pressing problems facing urban theorists today is determining how to resolve the tension between the built and natural environments in the process creating truly sustainable cities Landscape Urbanism and its Discontents is a collection of essays exploring the debate over urban reform now polarized around the two competing paradigms of Landscape Urbanism and the New Urbanism Landscape Urbanism is conceived as a more ecologically based approach while New Urbanism is more concerned with the built form Well known and influential urban theorists such as Andr s Duany and James Howard Kunstler delve into the impact of the tension between the two perspectives on Smart growth Neighborhood design Sustainable development Creating cities that are in balance with nature While there is significant overlap between Landscape Urbanism and the New Urbanism the former has assumed prominence amongst most critical theorists whereas the latter s proponents are more practically oriented Given that these two sets of ideas are at the forefront of sustainable urban design the analysis and potential reconciliation offered by Landscape Urbanism and its Discontents is long overdue Andr s Duany is a leading proponent of the New Urbanism and is a founding principal at Duany Plater Zyberk Company Emily Talen is a professor at Arizona State University and the author of four previous books on urban design Environmental Problems in European Cities in the 19th and 20th Century Christoph Bernhardt,2004 Urban Masses and Moral

Order in America, 1820-1920 Paul S. BOYER, Paul S Boyer, 2009-06-30 For over a century dark visions of moral collapse and social disintegration in American cities spurred an anxious middle class to search for ways to restore order In this important book Paul Boyer explores the links between the urban reforms of the Progressive era and the long efforts of prior generations to tame the cities He integrates the ideologies of urban crusades with an examination of the careers and the mentalities of a group of vigorous activists including Lyman Beecher the pioneers of the tract societies and Sunday schools Charles Loring Brace of the Children s Aid Society Josephine Shaw Lowell of the Charity Organization movement the father of American playgrounds Joseph Lee and the eloquent city planner Daniel Hudson Burnham Boyer describes the early attempts of Jacksonian evangelicals to recreate in the city the social equivalent of the morally homogeneous village he also discusses later strategies that tried to exert a moral influence on urban immigrant families by voluntarist effort including for instance the Charity Organizations friendly visitors By the 1890s there had developed two sharply divergent trends in thinking about urban planning and social control the bleak assessment that led to coercive strategies and the hopeful evaluation that emphasized the importance of environmental betterment as a means of urban moral control

Interpreting Environments Robert Mugerauer, 2014-10-14 In this pioneering book Robert Mugerauer seeks to make deconstruction and hermeneutics accessible to people in the environmental disciplines including architecture planning urban studies environmental studies and cultural geography Mugerauer demonstrates each methodology through a case study The first study uses the traditional approach to recover the meaning of Jung s and Wittgenstein s houses by analyzing their historical intentional contexts The second case study utilizes deconstruction to explore Egyptian French neoclassical and postmodern attempts to use pyramids to constitute a sense of lasting presence And the third case study employs hermeneutics to reveal how the American understanding of the natural landscape has evolved from religious to secular to ecological since the nineteenth century

Historic Residential Suburbs David L. Ames, Linda Flint McClelland, 2002 Planning The Total Landscape Julius Fabos, 2019-07-09 Rapid changes in land use especially in growing metropolitan areas have created problems that increasingly indicate an urgent need for techniques and procedures for making intelligent land use decisions This book identifies the potential undesirable effects of land use changes and provides techniques for estimating and minimizing them Based on several years of research conducted by a team of thirty four faculty and assistants the study shows how planners and decision makers can benefit from such contemporary planning tools as remote sensing statistical analysis and computer technology as well as a variety of evaluation procedures Part 1 describes the problems of contemporary urbanization and offers a set of planning principles and tools for working with the environmental landscape These principles and tools are the basis of the procedures detailed in Part 2 the assessment procedures in turn are an essential part of the two current planning approaches the holistic landscape approach and the parametric approach described in Part 3

Historic Resource Study William Bushong, 1990 The Rise of the Urban South Lawrence H. Larsen, 2021-12-14 Operating under an outmoded system of urban development and faced by the vicissitudes of the Civil War and Reconstruction southerners in the nineteenth century built a network of cities that met the needs of their society In this pioneering exploration of that intricate story Lawrence H Larsen shows that in the antebellum period southern entrepreneurs built cities in layers to facilitate the movement of cotton First came the colonial cities followed by those of the piedmont the New West the Gulf Coast and the interior By the Civil War cotton could move by a combination of road rail and river through a network of cities for example from Jackson to Memphis to New Orleans to Europe In the Gilded Age building on past practices the South continued to make urban gains Men like Henry Grady of Atlanta and Henry Watterson of Louisville used broader regional objectives to promote their own cities Grady successfully sold Atlanta one of the most southern of cities demographically as a city with a northern outlook Watterson tied Louisville to national goals in railroad building The New South movement did not succeed in bringing the region to parity with the rest of the nation yet the South continued to rise along older lines By 1900 far from being a failure in terms of the general course of American development the South had created an urban system suited to its needs while avoiding the promotional frenzy that characterized the building of cities in the North Based upon federal and local sources this book will become the standard work on nineteenth century southern urbanization a subject too long unexplored

Grid meets the hills Florence Lipsky, 1999 Comme la plupart des villes américaines San Francisco s'est développée suivant un système de grille orthogonale ne tenant pas compte de la topographie particulière 42 collines et une baie Il en résulte un phénomène peu commun les rues rectilignes jouent aux montagnes russes car l'outil du colonisateur et les reliefs sont entrés en guerre au mépris d'une rationalité évidente The City Natural Shen Hou, 2010-11-23 The weekly magazine Garden and Forest existed for only nine years 1888-1897 Yet in that brief span it brought to light many of the issues that would influence the future of American environmentalism In The City Natural Shen Hou presents the first biography of this important but largely overlooked vehicle for individuals with the common goal of preserving nature in American civilization As Hou's study reveals Garden and Forest was instrumental in redefining the fields of botany and horticulture while also helping to shape the fledgling professions of landscape architecture and forestry The publication actively called for reform in government policy urban design and future planning for the preservation and inclusion of nature in cities It also attempted to shape public opinion on these issues through a democratic ideal that every citizen had the right and need to access nature These notions would anticipate the conservation and city beautiful movements that followed in the early twentieth century Hou explains the social and environmental conditions that led to the rise of reform efforts organizations and publications such as Garden and Forest She reveals the intellectual core and vision of the magazine as a proponent of the city natural movement that sought to relate nature and civilization through the arts and sciences Garden and Forest was a staunch advocate of urban living made better through careful planning and design As Hou shows the publication also promoted forest management and preservation not only as a natural resource but as an economic one She also profiles the editors and contributors who set the magazine's tone and follows their efforts to expand America's environmental expertise Through the pages of Garden and Forest the early period of environmentalism was especially fruitful and optimistic many individuals joined forces for the benefit of humankind and helped lay the foundation for a coherent national movement Shen Hou's study gives Garden and Forest its due and adds an important new chapter to the early history of American environmentalism

The Land Use Policy Debate in the United States Judith I. de Neufville, 2012-12-06
Much of the preparation of this book has been generously supported by the Lincoln Institute of Land Policy Cambridge Massachusetts It evolved from a colloquium held in October 1977 under the sponsorship of the Lincoln Institute The three day symposium entitled Land Policy Making the Value Choices involved the preparation of major papers and formal discussions most of which appear here in considerably revised form along with additional pieces commissioned later The colloquium was an idea jointly conceived by myself and Edward Wood a colleague at the time in the Tufts University Program in Urban Social and Environmental Policy We were concerned about two major limitations in the literature and debates over land use On the one hand there was little explicit recognition of the latent values that motivated land use policy On the other there was no common forum where people from the different land use fields could discuss the issues and learn from one another A small group of about two dozen people was invited to the colloquium Each member was a leading spokesman for a different perspective and area of expertise All participated formally in some fashion All the papers were written expressly for the colloquium with the exception of Ann Strong's which was a keynote address to the American Society of Planning Officials earlier in the year None of the papers has been published elsewhere
