Free Space A Perspective On The Small Group In Womens Liberation:

Free Space Pamela Allen,1970 Feminism, Foucault, and Embodied Subjectivity Margaret A. McLaren,2012-02-01

Addressing central questions in the debate about Foucault's usefulness for politics including his rejection of universal norms his conception of power and power knowledge his seemingly contradictory position on subjectivity and his resistance to using identity as a political category McLaren argues that Foucault employs a conception of embodied subjectivity that is well suited for feminism She applies Foucault's notion of practices of the self to contemporary feminist practices such as consciousness raising and autobiography and concludes that the connection between self transformation and social transformation that Foucault theorizes as the connection between subjectivity and institutional and social norms is crucial for contemporary feminist theory and politics

Flannery,2010-10-01 In the late 1960s and early 1970s ordinary women affiliated with the women's movement were responsible for a veritable explosion of periodicals poetry and manifestos as well as performances designed to support do it yourself education and consciousness raising Kathryn Thoms Flannery discusses this outpouring and the group education brainstorming and creative activism it fostered as the manifestation of a feminist literacy quite separate from women's studies programs at universities or the large scale political workings of second wave feminism Seeking to break down traditional barriers such as the dichotomies of writer reader or student teacher these new works also forged polemical alternatives to the forms of argumentation traditionally used to silence women creating a space for fresh voices Feminist Literacies explores these truly radical feminist literary practices and pedagogies that flourished during a brief era of volatility and hope

SNCC's Stories Sharon Monteith,2020-10-15 Formed in 1960 in Raleigh North Carolina the Student Non violent Coordinating Committee SNCC was a high profile civil rights collective led by young people For Howard Zinn in 1964 SNCC members were new abolitionists but SNCC pursued radical initiatives and Black Power politics in addition to reform It was committed to grassroots organizing in towns and rural communities facilitating voter registration and direct action through projects embedded in Freedom Houses especially in the South the setting for most of SNCC's stories Over time it changed from a tight cadre into a disparate group of many constellations but stood out among civil rights organizations for its participatory democracy and emphasis on local people deciding the terms of their battle for social change. Organizers debated their role and grappled with SNCC's responsibility to communities to the walking wounded damaged by racial terrorism and to individuals who died pursuing racial justice. SNCC's Stories examines the organization's print and publishing culture uncovering how fundamental self and group narration is for the undersung heroes of social movements. The organizer may be SNCC's dramatis persona but its writers have been overlooked. In the 1960s it was assumed established literary figures would write about civil rights and until now critical attention has centered on the Black Arts Movement neglecting what SNCC's writers contributed. Sharon Monteith gathers hard to find literature where the freedom movement in the civil rights South is analyzed as subjective history and explored imaginatively. SNCC's print culture consists of field reports pamphlets newsletters fiction essays poetry and plays which serve as intimate and illuminative sources for understanding political action. SNCC's literary history contributes to the organization's legacy.

The Art of Confession Christopher Grobe, 2017-11-07 The Art of Confession tells the history of this cultural shift and of the movement it created in American art: confessionalism. Like realism or romanticism, confessionalism began in one art form but soon pervaded them all: poetry and comedy in the 1950s and 60s, performance art in the 70s, theater in the 80s, television in the 90s, and online video and social media in the 2000s. Everywhere confessionalism went it stood against autobiography, the art of the closed book. Instead of just publishing, these artists performed with and around and against the text of their lives.

Feminist Legal Theory (Vol. 1) Frances Olsen, 1995-10 A collection of previously published articles.

Forging Gay Identities Elizabeth A. Armstrong, 2002-12-15 Unlike many social movements, the gay and lesbian struggle for visibility and rights has succeeded in combining a unified group identity with the celebration of individual differences. Forging Gay Identities explores how this happened, tracing the evolution of gay life and organizations in San Francisco from the 1950s to the mid 1990s.

The New Feminist Movement Marion Lockwood Carden, 1974-04-23 The feminist movement has become an established force on the American political and social scene. Both the small consciousness-raising group and the large formal organization command the attention of our legislative bodies, media, and general public. Maren Lockwood Carden's new book is the first to look beyond feminist ideas and rhetoric to give a detailed study of the movement: its structure, membership, and history of the organizations that form a major part of present-day feminism. Fair, objective, and comprehensive, her study is based on participant observation and in-depth interviews with rank-and-file members and local and national leaders in seven representative cities during 1969-1971. In Dr. Carden's analysis, the movement has two divisions. First, the hundreds of small informal Women's Liberation consciousness-raising and action groups. Second, the large formally structured Women's Rights organizations like the National Organization for Women (NOW) and the Women's Equity Action League. For both types of organizations, Dr. Carden covers members' reasons for participation, organizational structure, strategies, and actions, and the relationship between ideology and structure including the attempts by many groups to work as participatory democracies She also discusses the development of the movement from the mid sixties to the present and evaluates the long term prospects for achieving the objectives of the various new feminist groups Anyone interested in organizations personality and society and social change will welcome this detailed description and history of a complex and rapidly changing social movement Highly readable and free of technical jargon The New Feminist Movement tells us what s been happening to women in the last decade what they want now and where they may be headed in the future Some Men Michael A. Fowlkes, 1992 Multi-Party Dispute Resolution, Democracy and Decision-Making Carrie Menkel-Meadow, 2017-05-15 The articles selected for this volume draw on game theory political science psychology sociology and anthropology to consider how the process of dispute resolution is altered challenged and made more complex by the presence of multiple parties and or multiple issues The volume explores issues of coalition formation defection collaboration commitments voting practices and joint decision making in settings of increasing human complexity Also included are examples of concrete uses of deliberative democracy processes taken from new applications of complex dispute resolution theory and practice The selected essays represent the latest theoretical advances and challenges in the field and demonstrate attempts to use dispute resolution theory in a wide variety of settings such as political decision making and policy formation regulatory matters environmental disputes healthcare community disputes constitutional formation and in many other controversial issues in the polity Ethics and Representation in Feminist Rhetorical Inquiry Amy Dayton, Jennie Vaughn, 2021-09-21 The historiography of feminist rhetorical research raises ethical questions about whose stories are told and how Women and other marginalized people have been excluded historically from many formal institutions and researchers in this field often turn to alternative archives to explore how women have used writing and rhetoric to participate in civic life share their lived experiences and effect change Such methods may lead to innovation in documenting practices that took place in local grassroots settings The chapters in this volume present a frank conversation about the ways in which feminist scholars engage in the work of recovering hidden rhetorics and grapple with the ethical challenges raised by this recovery work

Innovative School Reforms Kim Beasy, Meg Maguire, Kitty te Riele, Emma Towers, 2024-09-01 This book is a curated collection of international chapters focused on the reform of K 12 schools Three key yet different cultural economic and political settings are highlighted Australia the UK and the US Within their own context each author details the required reforms that would maximize learning for all students The intersectionalities of factors such as race gender class ethnicity disability language and economic inequities are interrogated for their impact on the efficacy of reform strategies Authors explore both a range of dysfunctional factors which have historically limited the efficacy of school reform initiatives and detail a variety of forward looking and cutting edge alternative reforms Thus this text can serve to stimulate a much needed dialogue about the reconceptualization of schools in the future Moreover the cross cultural analysis can focus this dialogue on both the similarities and differences in varying cultural settings
