People Gosia M. Brykczynska,Joan Simons,2011-01-19 Nurses and healthcare professionals are constantly faced with ethical and philosophical dilemmas when working with children in everyday practice

Ethical and Philosophical Aspects of Nursing Children and Young People is a comprehensive text on the ethics and philosophy behind paediatric nursing that reflects the contemporary issues encountered while working with children and young people. The title provides a philosophical and historical analysis of the subject looking at a review of sociological and political theories concerning the nature of childhood and providing a critical analysis of contemporary notions about childhood. It then goes on to look at moral theories and their application to paediatric nursing practice, ethical issues when caring for children of all ages from infancy to adolescence. It considers issues of disabled children, confidentiality, mental health issues, children's rights and pain management. With case studies and activities throughout, this book will enable students and newly qualified nurses both to understand philosophical concepts and issues but also to articulate their own reflections and observations on these subjects. Written by children's nurses for children's nurses. With contributions from internationally recognised experts in the field. Reflective scenarios, further reading, extensive referencing, case studies, guided questions and resources throughout. Includes appendices on the RCPCH Guidelines on Withdrawal of Treatment, the ICN Ethical Code, the Summary of the UNCRC and the RCPCH Guidelines for the Conduct of Ethical Research.

Working with Disabled People in Policy and Practice Sally French, John Swain, 2011-11-15. Part of Palgrave's Interagency Working in Health and Social Care series, this book explores the policy and practice which frames work with disabled people. Providing a critical review of the mainstream services available to disabled people, it assesses the successes and failures of interagency working and offers a model for future practice.

The Essential Concepts of Nursing John R. Cutcliffe, Hugh P. McKenna, 2005-01-01. For the first time, leading authorities come together to offer their expertise as they present the building blocks and concepts of nursing theory. Provides an explanation of concepts necessary as building block of theory. Research based. Draws extensively on literature. Experienced contributors and editors, all leading experts in their fields.

Becoming a Reflective Practitioner Christopher Johns, 2013-03-19. From Reviews of the second edition: Christopher Johns is an internationally recognised pioneer of reflective practice in nursing and health care. The first edition of this book was an excellent resource and this updated version is equally impressive. This is a superb resource for nurses and all those eager to enhance their knowledge and skills in reflective practice. It is well presented, user friendly and stimulating.

Nursing Standard: Becoming a Reflective Practitioner is a practical guide to using reflection in every day clinical practice. It explores the value of using models of reflection with particular reference to Christopher Johns' own model for structured reflection. Becoming a Reflective Practitioner includes accounts of everyday practice to guide the reader through the stages of reflective practice within the context of care, desirable practice and the caring relationship. This third edition reflects significant developments in reflective theory and gives greater attention to different approaches to reflection, including the use of narrative dialogue. New chapters are included on ensuring quality and managing conflict. Exemplars are included throughout and further references and reflected reading are included at the end of each chapter. Reflective practice is acknowledged as an effective approach to developing nursing care which evolves as the practitioner develops his or her own practice This book will therefore be of interest to all nurses involved in developing their clinical practice A practical guide to developing reflective practice Reflects significant developments in reflective theory Examines Christopher Johns own model for structured reflection Centred on care and the caring relationship Challenges practitioners to question their practice

Mentorship in Community Nursing Judith Canham, Joanne Bennett, 2008-04-15 The importance of the community practice teacher is increasing with the expansion in primary care Universities around the country have developed courses for practice educators to provide definitive training for that role there are currently few texts that support these courses directly This book aims to redress this by covering eight specialist areas of community practice district nursing health visiting school nursing children s community health nursing community nursing mental health community nursing learning disability general practice nursing and occupational health nursing The emphasis is strongly on practical issues rather than theory and each section considers practice based dilemmas and offers appropriate debate

Practical Facilitation Christine Hogan, 2005-11-03 A facilitator helps groups of people to enable them to interact more effectively in a wide range of situations and occupations including workplaces organizational planning leisure and health activities and community development Facilitation is an emerging and exciting profession

Affective Injustice in Healthcare Brenda Bogaert, 2025-09-30 This book explores the ambiguous role of affects in healthcare work and medical education At the same time that healthcare professionals are often encouraged to suppress or downplay their affects in order to maintain a sense of professionalism those of patients are frequently misunderstood or unheard both within clinical settings and beyond We argue that these are examples of affective injustice instances in which emotional expression is dismissed as unprofessional unproductive or inappropriate in healthcare We show that the suppression of affects is not only unrealistic but also potentially harmful and how it can lead to burnout and dissatisfaction among healthcare providers as well as negatively affect care quality in particular for marginalized groups The ambition of the book is therefore to bring this controversial issue to the forefront and to demonstrate the value of affects in healthcare and medical education as well as to offer several methodologies for greater affective expression and recognition in healthcare institutions The first part of the book lays the theoretical groundwork examining the relevance of the concept of affective injustice for healthcare and the problems that affective injustice creates for care actors and for care quality The second part offers some practical methodologies to move toward affective justice for patients and healthcare providers Proposals include narrative methods spiritual care emotionally responsive hospital design and architecture the possibilities and limits offered by patient research partners and pedagogies for medical education The book will end by showing how to take the framework forward in particular through empirical bioethics research This book will be of interest to scholars and educators in medical ethics interdisciplinary researchers in the medical humanities as well as patients families and healthcare providers interested in the role of affects in healthcare
