Breaking the Glass Armor Kristin Thompson, 2020-05-05 Classical works have for us become covered with the glassy armor of familiarity wrote Victor Shklovsky in 1914 Here Kristin Thompson defamiliarizes the reader with eleven different films Developing the technique formulated in her Eisenstein's Ivan the Terrible Princeton 1981 she clearly demonstrates the flexibility of the neoformalist approach She argues that critics often use cut and dried methods and choose films that easily fit those methods Neoformalism on the other hand encourages the critic to deal with each film differently and to modify his or her analytical assumptions continually Thompson's analyses are thus refreshingly varied and revealing ranging from an ordinary Hollywood film Terror by Night to such masterpieces as Late Spring and Lancelot du Lac She proposes a formal historical way of dealing with realism using Bicycle Thieves and The Rules of the Game as examples Stage Fright and Laura provide cases in which the classical cinema defamiliarizes its own conventions by playing with audience expectations Other chapters deal with Tati's Les Vacances de Monsieur Hulot and Play Time and Godard's Tout va bien and Sauve qui peut la vie Although neoformalist analysis is a rigorous distinctive approach it avoids extensive specialized vocabulary and esoteric concepts the essays here can be read separately by those interested in the individual

New Australian Cinema Brian McFarlane, Geoff Mayer, 1992-06-26 The institutions and products of the Australian film industry have been extensively surveyed yet few analyses consider the sources of the film revival that took place in the 1970s and 1980s This book represents a body of thinking about Australian cinema that asks where the origins of films lie The book begins by tracing the indebtedness of Australian cinema to the classical narrative style of Hollywood film making with its firm grasp of melodrama It continues by comparing the problems faced by the high British cinema of the 1940s and 1950s with those faced by Australia in the 1970s and 1980s in the attempts by both countries to establish national film industries New Australian Cinema will increase the scope of the discussion about the revival of Australian cinema and help us to make cultural sense of the films themselves October Sunflowers G Bruce Woodin,2015-09-28 When you are young life has no consequences We dont understand that the choices we make are lasting We make split decisions we never hesitate to take risks never think of where those choices will lead us We never understand when we are in that moment that it may very well be the turning point that decides the fate of our future Agnes Martin - Transcultural Translations Mona Schieren,2025-02-27 The work of Agnes Martin has frequently been associated with East Asian philosophies Particularly highlighting the oeuvre of this US artist Mona Schieren presents comprehensive research on the influence of Asianist aesthetics in post 1945 American art More than just historical analysis her study opens an entirely new perspective on Martin s appropriation of Asianisms by focusing on transcultural translation and redefining Martin s work beyond Abstract Expressionism and Minimalism This offers new viewpoints on the aesthetic philosophical and visual relationships in American postwar art and takes a nuanced approach that moves beyond generalized notions of Zen in the US art world Schieren s exploration of the intentional and specific uses of Asianist aesthetics profoundly contributes to insights in international art histories and cultural translations The Dark Lands: The Valkeryn Chronicles 2 Greig Beck,2018-12-31 THE WOLF LIVES INSIDE US ALL Valkeryn has fallen the great king dead and the Wolfen scattered The monstrous Lygon and Panterran now rule Arnold Arn Singer the youth from the past and perhaps the last human being alive on the planet flees to the dark lands with the heir to the throne He seeks answers to the missing Ancients Arn s ancestors mankind itself But back in his time the world continues to destabilize The time distortion the mighty Tevatron collider created is growing larger and beginning to consume everything around it The gateway vortex must be closed Arn holds the key and our world and its future is at stake Colonel Marion Briggs leads a team of Special Operations soldiers into the distant future world fully armed and with one order bring back Arn or his body But there are more dangers in this strange and beautiful world than anyone knew More horrors dwell in the deep jungles below the inland seas and deep below the earth There are things that can change the shape of two worlds tear at sanity and stretch friendships and loves to the limit Translating National Allegories Alistair Rolls,John West-Sooby,Marie-Laure Vuaille-Barcan,2019-04-15 This book explores the intersection of a number of academic areas of study that are all individually of growing importance translation studies crime fiction and world literature The scholars included here are leaders in one or more of these areas The frame of this volume is imagological its focus is on the ways in which national allegories are constructed and deconstructed encompassing descriptions of national characteristics as they play out at the level of the local or the individual as well as broader political analyses Its corpus crime fiction is shown to be a privileged site for writing the national narrative and often in ways that are more complex and dynamic than is suggested by the genre's much cited role as vehicle for a new realism. Finally these two areas are problematised through the lens of translation which is a crucial player in both the development of crime fiction and the formation rather than simply the interlingual transfer of national allegory. In this volume national allegories and the crime novels in which they emerge are shown to be eminently versatile foundationally plural texts that promote critical rewriting as opposed to sites for fixing meaning. This book was originally published as a special issue of The Translator. Moon Handbooks South Pacific David Stanley, 2004-12-03 Travelers will find the best of the South Pacific in this guidebook that provides in depth coverage of outdoor recreation.
