potential for productive forms of compromise Stacy discusses both individual dilemmas of complicity in the shadow of World War II and collective complicity in the context of contemporary concerns such as the hegemony of neoliberalism and the climate emergency

The World of the Japanese Mind Noriatsu Matsui, 2024-05-26 This book investigates the source from which the pressure to conform arises in Japanese society Even though the contemporary Japanese word for society Shakai has a history of 140 years it does not include the concept of respecting the individual but refers mainly to social frameworks and institutional aspects At the same time the traditional Japanese terms for society primarily Seken that have been in use for 1 400 years have embraced human relationships of the members of the group The hypothesis of this book is that there is no society as such in Japanese people's minds By proposing a new model the Hand Carved Tripod Model of conformity in Japan the book shows the structure of the pressure to conform The tripod is composed of ambiguous words the sense of belonging and the air or understanding that represents the unwritten rules and regulations of Seken Conformity in Japanese people's minds takes different forms from small residential groups to corporations at work and to nationwide associations but always dictates that people follow everyone else in the organization This book examines the sense of being blocked in Japan that has prevailed over 30 years during the period of the so called Three Lost Decades in Japan Examining phenomena such as low worker engagement karoshi death by overwork high middle age male suicide rates bullying in school and at work sex discrimination hereditary membership in the Diet and failure to provide adequate protection for whistle blowers this book reveals a common structure in Japanese minds lack of
