Frederick J. Kiesler Frederick Kiesler, 1996 One of the most creative artists of our century Frederick Kiesler worked from the 1920s onwards as an architect stage designer and environmental artist His best known works are still the Endless House project the design of Peggy Guggenheim's Art of this Century Gallery in New York and the Shrine of the Book a sanctuary for the Dead Sea Scrolls in Jerusalem Kiesler was also a prolific writer on design architecture and creativity His ideas of a total theater of endless architecture and of sculpture inspired by organic forms have been a rich source of inspiration for subsequent generations of artists Even 30 years after his death his original shrewd thinking lends his texts freshness reflecting the temperament of a man who worked intensely and persistently on the project of a modern art that would not exhaust itself in rationalism and functionalism Although during his lifetime he was only well known among artists and architects Kiesler can be numbered together with Duchamp among the most important innovators of art after 1900 His work is currently undergoing a critical resistance by architects and art historians who will welcome this volume of writings The selection combines writings from every branch of art and number of journal entries as well as other unpublished texts and poems from his estate McLuhan in Space Richard Cavell, 2002-01-01 Demonstrates how McLuhan extended insights derived from advances in physics and artistic experimentation into a theory of acoustic space which he then used to challenge the assumptions of visual space that had been produced through print culture Frederick Kiesler 1890-1965 Frederick Kiesler, 1997 Transportable Environments 3 Robert Kronenberg, Filiz Klassen, 2006 An overview of structures designed to be mobile their uses and the principles involved in their design including a consideration of the wide range of applications in which they can be found The Routledge Companion to Biology in Art and Architecture Charissa Terranova, Meredith Tromble, 2016-08-12 The Routledge Companion to Biology in Art and Architecture collects thirty essays from a transdisciplinary array of experts on biology in art and architecture The book presents a diversity of hybrid art and science thinking revealing how science and culture are interwoven The book situates bioart and bioarchitecture within an expanded field of biology in art architecture and design It proposes an emergent field of biocreativity and outlines its historical and theoretical foundations from the perspective of artists architects designers scientists historians and theoreticians Includes over 150 black and white images Frederick Kiesler: Face to Face with the Avant-Garde Peter Bogner, Gerd Zillner, Frederick Kiesler Foundation, 2019-07-08 Network of superlatives Frederick Kiesler was a committed networker and communicated regularly with the who's who of the avant garde He was an important intermediary between the visionary ideas of the European Moderne movement and the up and coming New York art scene About 20 contributions portray his colorful life and his multifaceted oeuvre in various contexts and place Kiesler in a dialog with the most important artists and architects of his time The publication on the occasion of the 20 year anniversary of the Friedrich Kiesler Foundation deals with his relationship with the Bauhaus surrealism and the New York School as well as

with personalities such as Richard Buckminster Fuller Marcel Duchamp Arshile Gorky Theo van Doesburg Piet Mondrian Hans Arp Sigfried Giedion and others An interwoven analysis of his life and work Contributions on individual and case studies Kiesler and Bauhaus Mondrian Buckminster Fuller Duchamp and many others Analogical Thinking in Architecture Jean-Pierre Chupin, 2023-07-27 This book provides an in depth exploration of the rich and persistent use of analogical thinking in the built environment Since the turn of the 21st century design thinking has permeated many fields outside of the design disciplines It is expected to succeed whenever disciplinary boundaries need to be transcended in order to think outside the box This book argues that these qualities have long been supported by analogical thinking an agile way of reasoning in which think the unknown through the familiar The book is organized into four case studies the first reviews analogical models that have been at the heart of design thinking representations from the 1960s to the present day the second investigates the staying power of biological analogies the third explores the paradoxical imaginary of analogous cities as a means of integrating contemporary architecture with heritage contexts while the fourth unpacks the critical and theoretical potential of linguistic metaphors and visual comparisons in architectural discourse Comparing views on the role of analogies and metaphors by prominent voices in architecture and related disciplines from the 17th century to the present the book shows how the analogical world of the project is revealed as a wide open field of creative and cognitive interactions These visual and textual operations are explained through 36 analogical plates which can be read as an inter text demonstrating how analogy has the power to reconcile design and theories Artist Complex Jadwiga Kamola, 2021-10-11 With the Jungian term of the complex the present volume inquires about the making of the artistic persona in twentieth century photography The articles examine photographic self portraits the dynamics between self statements of artists and photographers the interrelations of photography of painting and of performance art and investigate their origins in the history of ideas The volume traces a portrait of photography as a metascience as preparatory work a source of inspiration and an alternate medium in which artists could explore different subjects With essays by Ulrike Blumenthal Till Cremer Victoria Fleury Jadwiga Kamola Weronika Kobylska Bunsch Nadja Kffler Constance Krger Wilma Scheschonk Gerd Zillner

The Technical Image Horst Bredekamp, Vera Dünkel, Birgit Schneider, 2019-04-10 In science and technology the images used to depict ideas data and reactions can be as striking and explosive as the concepts and processes they embody both works of art and generative forces in their own right Drawing on a close dialogue between the histories of art science and technology The Technical Image explores these images not as mere illustrations or examples but as productive agents and distinctive multilayered elements of the process of generating knowledge Using beautifully reproduced visuals this book not only reveals how scientific images play a constructive role in shaping the findings and insights they illustrate but also however mechanical or detached from individual researchers choices their appearances may be how they come to embody the styles of a period a mindset a research collective or a device Opening with a set of key questions about artistic representation in science technology and medicine The Technical Image then investigates historical case studies focusing on specific images such as James Watson s models of genes drawings of Darwin s finches and images of early modern musical automata These case studies in turn are used to illustrate broad themes ranging from Digital Images to Objectivity and Evidence and to define and elaborate upon fundamental terms in the field Taken as a whole this collection will provide analytical tools for the interpretation and application of scientific and technological imagery

The Guggenheim Francesco Dal Co,2017-01-01 The captivating tale of the plans and personalities behind one of New York City s most radical and recognizable buildings Considered the crowning achievement of Frank Lloyd Wright 1867 1959 the Solomon R Guggenheim Museum in Manhattan is often called iconic But it is in fact iconoclastic standing in stark contrast to the surrounding metropolis and setting a new standard for the postwar art museum Commissioned to design the building in 1943 by the museum s founding curator Baroness Hilla von Rebay Wright established residence in the Plaza Hotel in order to oversee the project Over the next 17 years Wright continuously clashed with his clients over the cost and the design a conflict that extended to the city of New York and its cultural establishment Against all odds Wright held fast to his radical design concept of an inverted ziggurat and spiraling ramp built with a continuous beam a shape recalling the form of an hourglass Construction was only completed in 1959 six months after Wright s death The building s initial critical response ultimately gave way to near universal admiration as it came to be seen as an architectural masterpiece This essential text offering a behind the scenes story of the Guggenheim along with a careful reading of its architecture is beautifully illustrated with more than 150 images including plans drawings and rare photographs of the building under construction

Modernism for the Masses Jody Patterson,2020-11-17 A mural renaissance swept the United States in the 1930s propelled by the New Deal Federal Art

Project and the popularity of Mexican muralism Perhaps nowhere more than in New York City murals became a crucial site for the development of abstract painting Artists such as Stuart Davis Arshile Gorky Willem de Kooning and Lee Krasner created ambitious works for the Williamsburg Housing Project Floyd Bennett Field Airport and the 1939 World s Fair Modernism for the Masses examines the public murals realized and unrealized of these and other abstract painters and the aesthetic controversy political influence and ideological warfare that surrounded them Jody Patterson transforms standard narratives of modernism by reasserting the significance of the 1930s and explores the reasons for the omission of the mural s history from chronicles of American art Beautifully illustrated with the artists murals and little known archival photographs this book recovers the radical idea that modernist art was a vital part of everyday life Frederick Kiesler Shirley Haines-Cooke,2009-03-26 The material for this book has been taken from the 2006 thesis Frederick Kiesler s Art of This Century in New York 1942 1947 in the Context of the Twentieth Century Art Museum The prime objective was to establish why so few people remember Art of This Century which Kiesler designed for Peggy Guggenheim in 1942 and she ruthlessly closed in 1947 A second aim was to investigate why there has been so research carried out on the Gallery when it was acknowledged as a work of art in its own right at the time of opening Indeed in 2004 Thomas Krens the Guggenheim Foundation s director expressed concern that due to the lack of research it might slip into oblivion Such a statement raises questions as to why it has taken the Guggenheim Foundation over half a century to resurrect Art of This Century in the form of two exhibitions held in Frankfurt and Venice or instigate its own research The book opens with an historical account of the development of the modern art museum as well as an overview of Kiesler s life and multidisciplinary oeuvre His association with selected contemporary architectural theorists and architects is looked at to establish whether they had any influence on his eclectic thinking This is followed by a summary of Kiesler s manifesto On Correalism and Biotechnique A Definition of a New Approach to Building Design 1937 1939 The main body of the work is a detailed description of Art of This Century The notion that Kiesler s innovative theories and designs might be better understood in a twenty first century architectural context is finally explored This book finally restores Frederick Kiesler to his rightful place in the history of twentieth century art and architecture By a careful analysis of his sometimes fraught collaboration with the mercurial Peggy Guggenheim Haines Cooke uncovers the fascinating story of Kiesler s ground breaking new vision for the display of abstract art rendered all the more poignant by its significant yet largely subliminal influence on much of the best in recent museum and gallery architecture Dr Jonathan Hale University of Nottingham Atmospheres of Projection Giuliana Bruno,2022-10-13 Following on the success of Surface Bruno s previous book with us in this new one she explores the act and art of projection in its manifold guises and what those can tell us about how we think and feel and create the world we inhabit This is not just an exploration of the psychological operation of projection the idea that we cast onto others the qualities we refuse to acknowledge in ourselves It is a major work of cultural history and media archaeology As a way to transform space and atmosphere projection has a long history in the arts dating back to shadow plays camera obscuras magic lantern shows and phantasmagoria But the atmosphere of projection is not a thing of the past alone It is alive and well today It continues to fascinate us as screens filled with moving figures pervade the spaces of the art gallery and the museum as well as the environments of our daily lives What is the root of our fascination How does it manifest in contemporary art How do we define atmosphere How is projection an atmosphere Are these two modalities conceptually and historically related and how so Why are artists today so interested in environments and in elements of projection To explain this continual fascination with projection and atmosphere Bruno traverses psychoanalysis architecture the history of science visual art and moving image culture to see how projective mechanisms and their environments have developed over time Magic Architecture Frederick Kiesler,2025-08-19 The first publication of artist and architect Frederick Kiesler s epoch spanning history of human architecture largely unknown but still relevant Magic Architecture was the architect Frederick Kiesler s most ambitious book project an epoch spanning history of human housing from prehistory to the atomic era submitted to editors after World War II but left unpublished In its holistic view of habitation through the lens of anthropology ecology and the life sciences Magic Architecture is one of the most extraordinary texts on architecture written in the twentieth century now at last published in the twenty first Kiesler s exploration of the effects of modern technology in combination with the alternative epistemology of magical practices associated with cave drawings and the first artifacts of human industry reflects his profoundly interdisciplinary perspective on the development of art architecture and design This critical edition preserves Kiesler s conception of the book as a neo Vitruvian treatise divided into ten parts that narrate an alternative history and theory of architecture Also included are more than seventy composite plate illustrations consisting of images cut and pasted from books and popular science journals with elaborate captions as well as Kiesler s own line drawings made specifically for this project The editors have reassembled the book s text and illustrations from archival documents supplementing them with notes that trace the copious development of the work Introductory essays provide an interpretation of key themes and bibliographic sources as well as a chronological context of the architect s research Appendixes offer additional textual and visual material gathered by Kiesler for the project Frederick Kiesler Michael S. Atlas of Emotion Giuliana Bruno,2020-05-05 Atlas of Emotion is a highly original endeavour to map a cultural history of spatio visual arts In an evocative montage of words and pictures emphasises that sight and site but also motion and emotion are irrevocably connected In so doing Giuliana Bruno touches on the art of Gerhard Richter and Annette Messager the film making of Peter Greenaway and Michelangelo Antonioni the origins of the movie palace and its precursors and her own journeys to her native Naples Visually luscious and daring in conception Bruno opens new vistas and understandings at every turn Museums in a Digital Age Ross Parry,2013-01-11 The influence of digital media on the cultural heritage sector has been pervasive and profound Today museums are reliant on new technology to manage their collections They collect digital as well as material things New media is embedded within their exhibition spaces And their activity online is as important as their physical presence on site However digital heritage as an area of practice and as a subject of study does not exist in one single place Its evidence base is complex diverse and distributed and its content is available through multiple channels on varied media in myriad locations and different genres of writing It is this diaspora of material and practice that this Reader is intended to address With over forty chapters by some fifty authors and co authors from around the world spanning over twenty years of museum practice and research this volume acts as an aggregator drawing selectively from a notoriously distributed network of content Divided into seven parts on information space access interpretation objects production and futures the book presents a series of cross sections through the body of digital heritage literature each revealing how a different aspect of curatorship and museum provision has been informed shaped or challenged by computing Museums in a Digital Age is a provocative and inspiring guide for any student or practitioner of digital heritage From Life to

Architecture, to Life Tim Ireland, 2024-01-18 The book establishes a correlation between architectural theory and the biosemiotic project and suggest how this coupling establishes a framework leading to an architectural biosemiotic paradigm that puts biosemiotic theory at the heart of cognising the built environment and offers an approach to understanding and shaping the built environment that supports and benefits human and organismic spatial intelligence
