Power, Protection, and Free Trade David A. Lake, 2018-03-15 Why do nations so frequently abandon unrestricted international commerce in favor of trade protectionism David A Lake contends that the dominant explanation interest group theory does not adequately explain American trade strategy or address the contradictory elements of cooperation and conflict that shape the international economy Power Protection and Free Trade offers an alternative systemic approach to trade strategy that builds on the interaction between domestic and international factors In this innovative book Lake maintains that both protection and free trade are legitimate and effective instruments of national policy the considered responses of nations to varying international structures Free Trade or Protection? H. Berliner,Kimberly Ann Elliott,1986 The Limits Of Protectionism Michael Lutz,2010-06-15 Conventional wisdom holds that free trade is economically beneficial to nations But this does not prevent industries and interest groups from lobbying their governments for protection which creates a fear of electoral backlash among politicians hoping to promote free trade The Limits of Protectionism demonstrates how governments can attain those economic benefits while avoiding the political costs Michael Lusztig's theoretical model focuses on a process by which protectionists can be pushed to restructure and compete in a global economy. In this process a small cutback in domestic protection leads to lost market shares at home; producers must then turn to overseas exports and as the size of foreign profits grows former protectionists become active advocates for more and greater free trade opportunities. In a wide-ranging array of case studies from nineteenth-century Britain to Depression-era United States to contemporary New Zealand, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, and Mexico, Lusztig reveals that if skillfully handled, governments can eliminate the obstacles to free trade and enjoy continued economic growth without fear of protectionist groups seeking revenge at the ballot box.
