Hartley Field Poems:

Hartley Field (Large Print 16pt) Connie Wanek, 2010-10 The poems in Hartley Field are by turns witty and amusing lyrical and moving But always they are clear and direct Wanek writes clever closely observed poems on subjects as diverse as Butter and the Hammer work which is in the tradition of Francis Ponge and Pablo Neruda These are often humorous and are enormous fun to read Similarly a number of poems focus upon children's games and activities Checkers and Jump Rope among others and explore them physically and psychologically What is most remarkable about this collection is the consistent originality of the imagery and elegance of language In the poem Late September we find a plumed of smoke hand feeding the wind The object poem lemon observes that the fruit has bumpers on both ends like a Volks wagon A racoon advancing into a dark yard is described as a creature both manly and womanly capable of force or seduction Here is the first stanza of the elegiac After Us Rain is falling through the roof And all that prospered under the sun the books that opened in the morning and closed at night and all day turned their pages to the light Joyce Sutphen says of Wanek Nothing about what she says or sees is routine Hartley Field is a book of revelations in poem after poem some ordinary object or event is split open with such keen tenderness that the heart is caught off guard Connie Wanek was born in 1952 and lives in Duluth Minnesota She is the author of Bonfire published in 1997 by New Rivers Press Her poems have appeared in The Atlantic Monthly Poetry The Virginia Quarterly Country Journal and many other publications She has been awarded fellowship support from the Arrowhead Regional Arts Council and The Jerome Foundation

The Midland, 1923 Bulletin of the Public Library of the City of Boston Boston Public Library, 1912 De Quincey's writings [ed. by J.T. Fields. 23 vols., comprising the final set of 22 and the original vol. 5, Life and manners, subsequently replaced by vol. 12, Autobiographic sketches]. Thomas De Quincey, 1861 Romantic Childhood, Romantic Heirs Beatrice Turner, 2017-10-17 This book views Romantic literature's discourses of childhood education and reproduction through the eyes of four early nineteenth century British authors who were uniquely implicated in those discourses Hartley and Sara Coleridge children of Samuel Taylor Coleridge and Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley and William Godwin Jr children of William Godwin shared the predicament of being both real and literary children All the children of authors who helped shape culturally definitive Romantic period ideas about childhood they wrote back to their fathers in order to understand and to resist the ways in which they were produced by paternal texts which foreclose the possibility of the child's own regeneration This study proposes that through this predicament and their responses to it the literature of the period between the Romantic and the Victorian periods comes into focus marked by an anxiety not of influence but of reproduction It suggests that one reason why this period has tended to disappear from view lies in the sense of historical and aesthetic difference and productive failure which this study uncovers
