Harvest Story Recollections Of Oldtime Threshermen:

The Harvest Story Robert T. Rhode, 2001 The Harvest Story depicts the life of rural American threshermen This collection of first person narratives chronicles the eyewitness accounts of people who threshed grain with steam engines The book selects anecdotes from over 50 volumes of material published in The Iron Men Album Magazine from 1946 until 2001 and arranges them in a coherent recitation The result is a story of hard honest work of heartfelt cooperation and of triumph not unmarred by tragedy Readers hear the recollections of those who pitched the bundles of grain onto the horse drawn wagons unloaded these bundles into the threshing machine and saw the stream of clean wheat cascade from the grain auger Readers encounter the wit and humor that characterized yesteryear s harvests They learn about the vast industries that supported the agricultural enterprise and they discover the dangers posed by mechanical equipment The Harvest Story concludes by examining the birth and development of a movement to rescue the agrarian past from oblivion This book captures authentic voices from the era of steam powered threshing and offers readable interpretation and explanation including detailed appendices

From Curlers to Chainsaws Joyce Dyer, Jennifer Cognard-Black, Elizabeth MacLeod Walls, 2016-02-01

The twenty three distinguished writers included in From Curlers to Chainsaws Women and Their Machines invite machines into their lives and onto the page In every room and landscape these writers occupy gadgets that both stir and stymie may be found a Singer sewing machine a stove a gun a vibrator a prosthetic limb a tractor a Dodge Dart a microphone a smartphone a stapler a No 1 pencil and of course a curling iron and a chainsaw From Curlers to Chainsaws is a groundbreaking collection of lyrical and illuminating essays about the serious silly seductive and sometimes sorrowful relationships between women and their machines This collection explores in depth objects we sometimes take for granted focusing not only on their functions but also on their powers to inform identity For each writer the device moves beyond the functional to become a symbolic extension of the writer s own mind altering and deepening each woman s concept of herself

American Agriculture R. Douglas Hurt, 2002 R Douglas Hurt s brief history of American agriculture from the prehistoric period through the twentieth century is written for anyone coming to this subject for the first time American Agriculture is a story of considerable achievement and success but it is also a story of greed racism and violence Hurt offers a provocative look at a history that has been shaped by the best and worst of human nature Here is the background essential for understanding the complexity of American agricultural history from the transition to commercial agriculture during the colonial period to the failure of government policy following World War II Complete with maps drawings and over seventy splendid photographs this revised edition closes with an examination of the troubled landscape at the turn of the twenty first century It also provides a ready reference to the economic social political scientific and technological changes that have most affected farming in America and the contributions of African Americans Native Americans and women This survey will serve as a text for courses in the history of American agriculture and rural studies as well as a supplementary text for economic history and rural sociology courses

Black Earth and Ivory Tower Zachary Michael Jack, 2005 The collected reflections and wisdoms of 30 contemporary farmer writer teachers Heralding the seventy fifth anniversary of the quintessential agrarian anthology I ll Take My Stand Zachary Michael Jack himself a fourth generation farmer s son has assembled North America s foremost contemporary writers on the present rural experience to provide their own twenty first century insights In the grand tradition of farmer writers Robert Frost Henry David Thoreau and Andrew Lytle Black Earth and Ivory Tower New American Essays from Farm and Classroom gathers the disparate wisdoms of modern day stewards of the land including Victor David Hanson Michael Martone Linda Hasselstrom John Hildebrand Country Things cartoonist Bob Artley and Duane Acker former U S Assistant Secretary of Science and Education and former president of Kansas State University These gifted teachers and growers offer hard won inspiration from the field and the classroom exemplifying the multifaceted farm grounded talents that call them to lives as writers visual artists conservation tillers environmentalists economists policymakers extension agents and grassroots activists Seeking a balanced life that reconciles the hands heart and head they follow roads less traveled to find agrarian lifestyles at once enlightening and challenging At a time when less than two percent of Americans count themselves as farmers these writers all of whom have cultivated the earth and climbed the ivory tower underscore the diversity of the American farm as a wellspring of learning Their plainspoken commentaries on modern farming teaching and living will remind older generations of time honored agrarian values and provide a new generation with a literate critical account of shifting national priorities

For Shade and for Comfort Cheryl Lyon-Jenness,2004 Between 1850 and 1880 Americans of all ranks and circumstances planted shade trees cultivated flower gardens and established lawns with a new found enthusiasm that both astonished and delighted horticultural advocates For Shade and For Comfort explores this unprecedented burst of horticultural interest and documents its influence on Midwestern domestic landscapes Drawing upon a wide range of largely unexplored resources including lithographic images of farm village and city homes agricultural society records nursery and seed catalogues and the diaries and letters of local residents this innovative study examines how advocates encouraged ornamental plant interest and then considers the significance of trees and flowers for their mid nineteenth century promoters and for the people who planted and nurtured them From these diverse perspectives ornamental plants emerge as densely layered cultural symbols offering not only a very real touch of shade or beauty but for many a sense of security and comfort amidst a rapidly changing American society With its careful portrayal of actual ornamental plant use its examination of nineteenth century horticultural advice literature and the nursery and seed trades and its insightful analysis of the meanings attached to shade trees and flower gardens For Shade and For Comfort will appeal to rural cultural and environmental historians historians of the Midwest historic preservationists and those who simply love horticulture and gardening

The Highway Revolution, 1895-1925 Irving Brinton Holley (Jr.),2008 This book is about the creation of a major American business the highway construction industry In the 1890s such an industry could scarcely be said to exist within a generation by the mid 1920s highway building and all its ancillary activities had become one of the nation s greatest industries This multi faceted volume tells how the appallingly bad interurban highways of 19th century USA came to be paved when the problem of financing was finally addressed after an extended campaign by diverse interest groups Successive chapters deal with the early phases of waterbound crushed stone macadam the hand tool and horse powered machinery developed to build and maintain such highways gradually giving place to steam powered machinery which lowered the cost and speeded the pace of construction Other chapters recount the many difficult problems of contractors estimating costs to submit winning bids and learning to achieve quality production with such novel materials as asphalt and concrete The volume fills a surprising void in the history of highway paving as very little has been written on the problems confronting highway contractors and the state engineers who supervised them Highly recommended H R Grant Clemson University CHOICE Magazine Drawing on extensive historical research in engineering journals industry publications and road building manuals Holley explores the multiple factors that comprised this highway revolution Holley s account of the highway revolution is at its strongest when he is relating tales of technical innovation pushed forward by highway workers seeking some labor saving device Michael R Ferin Technology and Culture The Publishers Weekly ,2001

The Furrow And Us Walter Thomas Jack,2005-09-20 An edited updated version of Walter Thomas Jack s conservation classic The furrow and us Includes an appendix of imaginative entries selected from his farm journals Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2001 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2003 American Book Publishing Record ,2001 Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1971 Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004 American Thresherman ,1906 The Steam Tractor Encyclopedia Robert T. Rhode,John F. Spalding,2008 A richly illustrated and meticulously detailed history of the steam tractors that transformed farming in the mid nineteenth century before the advent of the gas engine
