Eisner, 2008-09-29 The Golden Age of German cinema began at the end of the First World War and ended shortly after the coming of sound From The Cabinet of Dr Caligari onwards the principal films of this period were characterized by two influences literary Expressionism and the innovations of the theatre directors of this period in particular Max Reinhardt This book demonstrates the connection between German Romanticism and the cinema through Expressionist writings It discusses the influence of the theatre the handling of crowds the use of different levels and of selective lighting on a predominately dark stage the reliance on formalized gesture the innovation of the intimate theatre Against this background the principal films of the period are examined in detail The author explains the key critical concepts of the time and surveys not only the work of the great directors such as Fritz Lang and F W Murnau but also the contribution of their writers cameramen and designers As The Times Literary Supplement wrote Mme Eisner is first and foremost a film critic and one of the best in the world She has all the necessary gifts And it described the original French edition of this book as one of the very few classics of writing on the film and arguably the best book on the cinema yet written      The Haunted Screen Lotte H. Cinematography in the Weimar Republic Paul Matthew St. Pierre,2016-08-15 In film history director cinematographer collaborations were on a labor spectrum with the model of the contracted camera operator in the silent era and that of the cinematographer in the sound era But in Weimar era German filmmaking 1919 33 a short period of intense artistic activity and political and economic instability these models existed side by side due to the emergence of camera operators as independent visual artists and collaborators with directors Berlin in the 1920s was the chief site of the interdisciplinary avant garde of the Modernist movement in the visual literary architectural design typographical sartorial and performance arts in Europe The Weimar Revolution that arose in the aftermath of the November 1918 Armistice and that established the Weimar Republic informed and agitated all of the art movements such as Expressionism Dada the Bauhaus Minimalism Objectivism Verism and Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity Among the avant garde forms of these new

stylistically and culturally negotiated arts the cinema was foremost and since its inception had been a radical experimental practice in new visual technologies that proved instrumental in changing how human beings perceived movement structure perspective light exposure temporal duration continuity spatial orientation human postural facial vocal and gestural displays and their own spectatorship as well as conventions of storytelling like narrative setting theme character and structure Whereas most of the arts mobilized into schools movements institutions and other structures cinema a collaborative art tended to organize around its ensembles of practitioners Historically the silent film era 1895 1927 is associated with auteurs the precursors of Fran ois Truffaut and other filmmakers in the 1960s actuality filmmakers and pioneers like R W Paul and Fred and Joe Evans in England Auguste and Luis Lumi re and Georges M li s in France and Charles Chaplin and Buster Keaton in America who by managing all the compositional executional and editorial facets of film production scripting directing acting photographing set costume and lighting design editing and marketing imposed their personal vision or authorship on the film The dichotomy of the auteur and the production ensemble established a production hierarchy in most filmmaking In formative German silent film however this hierarchy was less rank or class driven because collaborative partnerships took precedence over single authorship Whereas in silent film production in most countries the terms filmmaker and director were synonymous in German silent film the plural term filmemacherin connoted both directors and cinematographers along with the rest of the filmmaking crew Thus German silent filmmakers principle contribution to the new medium and art of film was less the representational iconographies of Expressionist New Objective and Naturalist styles than the executional practice of co authorship and co production in distinctive cinematographer director partnerships such as those of cinematographer Theodor Sparkuhl and director Ernst Lubitsch Fritz Arno Wagner with F W Murnau Fritz Lang and G W Pabst Rudolf Mat with Carl Theodor Dreyer Guido Seeber with Lang and Pabst and Carl Hoffmann with Lang and Murnau

Experience Revisited Steven E. Aschheim, Vivian Liska, 2015-09-14 In the past decades the German Jewish phenomenon Derrida has increasingly attracted the attention of scholars from various fields Jewish studies intellectual history philosophy literary and cultural studies critical theory In all its complex dimensions the post enlightenment German Jewish experience is overwhelmingly regarded as the most quintessential and charged meeting of Jews with the project of modernity Perhaps for this reason from the eighteenth century through to our own time it has been the object of intense reflection of clashing interpretations and appropriations In both micro and macro case studies this volume engages the multiple perspectives as advocated by manifold interested actors and analyzes their uses biases and ideological functions over time in different cultural disciplinary and national contexts This volume includes both historical treatments of differing German Jewish understandings of their experience their relations to their Judaism general culture and to other Jews and contemporary reflections and competing interpretations as to how to understand the overall experience of German Jewry Joyless Streets

Patrice Petro, 2020-12-08 Patrice Petro challenges the conventional assessment of German film history which sees classical films as responding solely to male anxieties and fears Exploring the address made to women in melodramatic films and in popular illustrated magazines she shows how Weimar Germany had a commercially viable female audience fascinated with looking at images that called traditional representations of gender into question Interdisciplinary in her approach Petro interweaves archival research with recent theoretical debates to offer not merely another view of the Weimar cinema but also another way of looking at Weimar film culture Women s modernity she suggests was not the same as men s modernism and the image of the city street in film and photojournalism reveals how women responded differently from men to the political economic and psychic upheaval of their times The History of German Literature on Film

Christiane Schönfeld, 2023-06-15 A 2024 CHOICE OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC TITLE This book tells the story of German language literature on film beginning with pioneering motion picture adaptations of Faust in 1897 and early debates focused on high art as mass culture It explores analyzes and contextualizes the so called golden age of silent cinema in the 1920s the impact of sound on adaptation practices the abuse of literary heritage by Nazi filmmakers and traces the role of German language literature in exile and postwar films across ideological boundaries in divided Germany in New German Cinema and in remakes and movies for cinema as well as television and streaming services in the 21st century Having provided the narrative core to thousands of films since the late 19th century many of German cinema s most influential masterpieces were inspired by canonical texts popular plays and even children s literature Not being restricted to German adaptations however this book also traces the role of literature originally written in German in international film productions which sheds light on the interrelation between cinema and key historical events It outlines how processes of adaptation are shaped by global catastrophes and the emergence of nations by materialist conditions liberal economies and capitalist imperatives political agendas the mobility of individuals and sometimes by the desire to create reflective surfaces and perhaps even art

Commercial cinema's adaptation practices have foregrounded economic interest but numerous filmmakers throughout cinema history have turned to German language literature not simply to entertain but as a creative contribution to the public sphere marking adaptation practice at least potentially as a form of active citizenship     The Vampire in Folklore, History, Literature, Film and Television ,2015-10-07 This comprehensive bibliography covers writings about vampires and related creatures from the 19th century to the present More than 6 000 entries document the vampire's penetration of Western culture from scholarly discourse to popular culture politics and cook books Sections by topic list works covering various aspects including general sources folklore and history vampires in literature music and art metaphorical vampires and the contemporary vampire community Vampires from film and television from Bela Lugosi's Dracula to Buffy the Vampire Slayer True Blood and the Twilight Saga are well represented
