The Anthropology of Complex Economic Systems Niccolo Leo Caldararo, 2013-11-14 Today we live in what Ulrich Beck has aptly characterized as a risk society shaped by intensifying crises outside of our control and seemingly outside of our comprehension The master narrative that was supposed to lead us to secular salvation economics has proved to be a large part of the problem rather than the much anticipated solution In The Anthropology of Complex Economic Systems Niccolo Caldararo offers a much more radical and challenging answer that the fundamental assumptions on which the modern science of economics has been erected are false and that it is through the medium of anthropology particularly the relatively neglected field of economic anthropology that an alternative and sound basis for both the understanding of economic behavior and for the shaping of economic futures can be constructed Caldararo not only challenges the foundational assumptions of conventional economic theory but situates economic behavior something quite different and universal amongst human beings in both a historical and an ecological context Contemporary discussions of sustainability especially in the field of development studies have oddly neglected to look to anthropology Economic anthropology is the repository of a vast store of wisdom both about actual alternative and workable economic systems and about their evolution By drawing on this source Caldararo builds a model of the evolution of human economies which stir up substantial debate shows how economic anthropology provides a tool for the interrogation of economic theory and ties economics to ecology It has been the rupture of this fundamental relationship that lies at the basis of much of our present crisis and the unsustainable economic patterns that humans have created By bringing together in a new configuration economic anthropology ecology and culture history Caldararo not only proposes a new model of human social evolution but equally importantly creates a methodology for speaking to and against our present economic and environmental situation

The Environment in Anthropology Nora Haenn, Richard Wilk, 2006 Presenting ecology and current environmental studies from an anthropological point of view this book gives readers a strong intellectual foundation as well as offering practical tools for solving environmental problems Migration and Economy Lillian Trager, 2005 Focuses on migration not as a single event but as a dynamic process that responds to and is shaped by broader economic cultural and social forces This title features individual essays that offer studies on Mexico Puerto Rico West Africa Kazakstan and Mozambique It is useful for development anthropology migration studies and more This book focuses on the historical sociology of the Turkish state It seeks to compare the development of the Ottoman Turkish state with similar processes of large scale historical change in Europe identified by Michael Mann in The Sources of Social Power It traces the contours of Turkey's modernisation with the intention of formulating a fresh way to approach state development in countries on the global economic periphery particularly those attempting to effect closer ties with Northern markets It also highlights matters of social change pertinent to states grappling with issues relating to political Islam minority identity and irredentist dissent

Ancient Oaxaca Richard E. Blanton, Gary M. Feinman, Stephen A. Kowalewski, Linda M. Nicholas, 2022-07-28 Around 500 B C people decided to constitute a government with a new capital The consequence was a total social transformation

Transforming the Indonesian Uplands Tania Li, 2005-06-27 Drawing upon current theoretical debates in social anthropology development studies and political ecology and presenting original research from across the Archipelago this book addresses the changing histories and identities of upland people as they relate in new ways to the natural resource base to markets and to the state It is an engaged study which fills important analytical gaps and addresses real world concerns exploring the uplands as components of national and global systems of meaning power and production It offers a significant re assessment of concepts processes histories relationships and discourses many of which are not unique to either the uplands or Indonesia making the book essential and compelling reading for both scholars and practitioners Gender at
