Against the Flow Peter Abbs,2003-09-02 At once provocative and inspiring Against the Flow is a work of polemic from an internationally respected writer and thinker on arts education Peter Abbs argues that contemporary education ignores the aesthetic and ethical as a result of being in thrall to such forces as the market economy and managerial and functional dictates He identifies the present education system as being inimical to creativity and authentic learning and instead narrowly focused on the quantitative measuring of results This absence of a creative and ethical dimension in education has implications for art making in wider society Art is shown as emerging from and appealing to the ironic postmodernist sensibility and mass media led culture while being devoid of philosophical significance This book opens up a fresh and timely debate about the vital power of creativity in modern education Drawing on examples from modern poetry literature and visual art it is an eloquent and passionate argument for the need to develop ethical and aesthetic energies to confront the growing vacuity of contemporary culture

Political Correctness and Higher Education John Lea, 2010-05-26 This book is the first major study of political correctness in post compulsory education to be published in the UK. For readers in the UK unfamiliar with the nature of the controversies in US college campuses this book offers a comprehensive assessment of the key themes including who and what was behind key campaigns. For readers in the US unfamiliar with how this cultural export has fared in the UK this book looks at the significant similarities and differences in the ways that the phrase has been used in both societies. Seeking Wisdom in Adult Teaching and Learning Wilma Fraser, 2017-10-24 This book concerns the pursuit of wisdom in education and the argument that wisdom personified here as Sophia is tragically marginalised or absent in current Western epistemological discourses. It includes a review of key historical and classical framings which have lost much potency and relevance as certain cultural narratives hold sway. These include the reductionist technicist and highly instrumentalist discourses which shape the articulation and delivery of much education policy and practice whilst reflecting similar troubling framings from broader neoliberal perspectives. Fraser argues that wisdom's marginalisation has had and continues to have profoundly deleterious consequences for our educative practices. Through a compelling combination of narrative and autoethnographic techniques while also drawing on philosophical and cultural traditions the book pushes at the boundaries of emerging knowledge including how knowledge is generated. It will be of interest to those who facilitate the learning of adults in a variety of settings as well as to students and supervisors seeking exemplars and justification for working in non traditional ways. Philosophy and Education Joanna Haynes, Ken Gale, Melanie Parker, 2014-11-13 Written specifically for education studies students this accessible text offers a clear introduction to philosophy and education. There is also a companion website to accompany the book featuring live weblinks for each activity which can be visited at www.routledge.com/cw/haynes. The authors consider the implications of educational trends and movements through a variety of philosophical lenses such as Marxism utopianism feminism and poststructuralism. The book explores enduring themes such as childhood and contemporary issues such as the teaching of critical thinking and philosophy in schools. Features include a range of individual and group activities that invite questioning and discussion case studies and examples from a variety of formal and informal education settings and contexts reference to philosophically informed practices of research reading writing and teaching suggestions for further reading in philosophy and education overviews and key questions for each chapter. Changing Educational Landscapes Dimitris Mattheou, 2010-04-08 Analyzing educational landscapes the fundamental values principles and institutions of the sector is a highly complex and demanding task for any researcher Like shifting desert sands these aspects of education are in a constant state of flux changing according to the unpredictable economic social cultural and geo political circumstances of late modernity Key aspects of the intricate fluid and multifarious contemporary setting can always escape the researcher s necessarily selective observation The contributors to this book share the view that it is wise therefore to take note of other people s ideas perceptions and perspectives to compare notes and reflect critically on them Thus the papers presented here are a critical and comparative analysis of today s changing educational landscapes They are an exploration of some of the forces and factors that induce these changes and also examine some of their most significant implications The work takes a fresh look at received ideology and institutional practices and delineates the increasingly internationalized educational discourses and policies Among other things the book discusses the obsession with quality in education and the alternative perceptions of educational equality the rising concern at the obstacles to truly multicultural education and the debate about the epistemological foundations both of knowledge and knowledge production Underlying all of the papers in the book is the authors intention to enhance our understanding of educational change in this era of transition and to further our appreciation of its multifaceted expressions across the world A Century of Change
