The New Politics of Class Prof Klaus Eder, 1993-06-10 Are contemporary societies organized by class In recent years the apparent fragmentation of established class structures and the emergence of new social movements in particular the women s movement and environmentalism have altered the traditional expressions of class in society At the same time these changes have posed fundamental questions for the concept of class in sociology and political science In this major reassessment Klaus Eder offers a new perspective on the status of class in modernity Drawing on a critique of Bourdieu Touraine and Habermas he outlines a cultural conception of class as the basis for understanding contemporary societies His model reevaluates the role of the middle classes traditionally the crux of class analysis and links class to social theories of power and cultural capital The result is a cultural theory of class which incorporates the changing forms of collective action and the new social movements of contemporary societies

The Greening of London, 1920-2000 Matti O. Hannikainen, 2017-05-15 The long term development of public green spaces such as parks public gardens and recreation grounds in London during the twentieth century is a curiously neglected subject despite the fact that various kinds of green spaces cover huge areas in cities in the UK today This book explores how and why public green spaces have been created and used in London and what actors have been involved in their evolution during the course of the twentieth century Building on case studies of the contemporary boroughs of Camden and Southwark and making use of a wealth of archival material the author takes us through the planning and creation stages to the intended and actual uses and ongoing management of the spaces By highlighting the rise and fall of municipal authorities and the impact of neo liberalism after the 1970s the book also deepens our understanding of how London has been governed planned and ruled during the twentieth century It makes a crucial contribution to academic as well as political discourse on the history and present role of green space in sustainable cities

Explaining Environmentalism Philip W. Sutton, 2019-06-04 This title was first published in 2000 The author examines those current theories which purport to explain the emergence and character of new social movements in the advanced industrial societies since the 1960s In particular it sets out to test the efficacy of these explanations in relation to the history of the environmental movement in Britain The book breaks new ground in bringing together both short term and the more historically orientated long term explanations into a single volume thus providing an invaluable resource for students of social movements Its critical exposition of major theories also points to the need for a more developmental approach which seeks to connect old and new movement forms thus allowing for a more balanced evaluation of the potential of the environmental movement to bring about significant social change

Who's Who in Modern History Alan Palmer, 2019-05-07 Who's Who in Modern History is a unique reference book which examines those individuals who have shaped the political world since 1860. Coverage is truly global including the most important figures in Europe, Asia, North America, Latin America, Africa, and Australasia. It provides an easy-to-use A-Z layout, authoritative detailed biographies of the most important figures since 1860, from Clemenceau and Churchill to King Fahd and Benazir Bhutto, bibliographical references for each entry to aid further research, extensive cross-referencing, an essential guide for students, researchers, and the general reader alike.

The Oxford Handbook of Agricultural History Jeannie M. Whayne, 2024 Agricultural history has enjoyed a rebirth in recent years in part because the agricultural enterprise promotes economic and cultural connections in an era that has become ever more globally focused but also because of agriculture's potential to lead to conflicts over precious resources. The Oxford Handbook of Agricultural History reflects this rebirth and examines the wide-reaching implications of agricultural issues featuring essays that touch on the green revolution, the development of the Atlantic slave plantation, the agricultural impact of the American Civil War, the rise of scientific and corporate agriculture, and modern exploitation of agricultural labor.

Can Emerging Technologies Make a Difference in Development? Rachel A. Parker, Richard P. Appelbaum, 2013-02-28 In this innovative and entirely original text which has been thoughtfully edited to ensure coherence and readability across disciplines, scientists and practitioners from around the world provide evidence of the opportunities for and the challenges of developing collaborative approaches to bringing advanced and emerging technology to poor communities in developing countries in a responsible and sustainable manner. This volume will stimulate and satisfy readers seeking to engage in a rich and challenging discussion integrating many strands of social thought and physical science. For those also seeking to creatively engage in the great challenges of our times for the benefit of struggling farmers, sick children, and people literally living in the dark, around the world may this volume also spark imagination, inspire commitment, and provoke collaborative problem-solving.

Writing History Stefan Berger, Heiko Feldner, Kevin Passmore, 2020-02-20 The third edition of Writing History provides students and teachers with a comprehensive overview of how the study of history is informed by a broader intellectual and analytical framework exploring the emergence and development of history as a discipline and the major theoretical developments that have informed historical writing. Instead of focusing on theory, this book offers succinct explanations of key concepts that illuminate the study of history and practical writing and demonstrates the ways they have informed practical work. This fully revised new edition comprehensively rewrites and updates original chapters but also includes new features such as new chapters on postcolonial, environmental, and transnational history, chapter introductions setting them within the context of historiography.

a new substantive introduction from the editors providing a useful road map for students an expanded glossary In its new incarnation Writing History is more than ever an invaluable introduction to the central debates that have shaped history

History of the Australian Environment Movement Drew Hutton, Libby Connors, 1999-04-13 This book presents a history of the value of the Australian environment and the struggles to protect it
