Edith And Winifred Eaton:

The Literary Voices of Winnifred Eaton Jean Lee Cole, 2002 Winnifred Eaton better known under her Japanese pseudonym Onoto Watanna was of English and Chinese heritage but born and raised in Canada She published over a dozen novels and hundreds of short stories magazine articles and screenplays during the first half of the twentieth century Her romances featuring Japanese and Eurasian heroines sold widely However by the time of her death in 1954 most of her books were out of print Winnifred unlike her sister the better known writer Edith Eaton has been a troubling figure for Asian Americanists She attempted to disguise her ethnic heritage writing under a Japanese pen name and in legal documents she usually claimed a white racial identity Scholars have noted her use of Orientalist stereotypes in her novels and even though she depicted a broad range of non Asian characters such as Irish maids and cowboys her portrayals often relied on the accepted stereotypes of the day Rather than dismiss her characterizations as evasions of the topics that readers today wish she had explored Jean Lee Cole asks why Winnifred Eaton may have chosen the subjects she did Cole shows that the many voices Eaton adopted reveal her deep Rethinking 'Mixed Race' David Parker, Miri Song, 2001-05-20 One of the fastest growing ethnic populations in many Western societies is that of people of mixed descent However when talking about multicultural societies or mixed race the discussion usually focuses on people of black and white heritage The contributors to this collection rectify this with a broad and pluralistic approach to the experiences of mixed race people in Britain and the USA The contributors argue that people of mixed descent reveal the arbitrary and contested logic of categorisation underpinning racial divisions Falling outside the prevailing definitions of racialised identities their histories and experiences illuminate the complexities of identity formation in the contemporary multicultural context The authors examine a range of issues These include gender transracial and intercountry adoptions in Britain and the US interracial partnering and marriage mixed race and family in the English African diaspora theorising of mixed race that transcends the black white binary and includes explorations of mixtures among non white minority groups and the social and political evolution of multiracial panethnicity

Cattle Country Kathryn Cornell Dolan, 2021-06 As beef and cattle production progressed in nineteenth century America the cow emerged as the nation's representative food animal and earned a culturally prominent role in the literature of the day In Cattle Country Kathryn Cornell Dolan examines the role cattle played in narratives throughout the century to show how the struggles within U S food culture mapped onto society's broader struggles with colonization environmentalism U S identity ethnicity and industrialization Dolan examines diverse texts from Native American African American Mexican American and white authors that showcase the zeitgeist of anxiety surrounding U S identity as cattle gradually became an industrialized food source altering the country's culture while exacting a high cost to humans animals and the land From Henry David Thoreau's descriptions of indigenous cuisines as a challenge to the rising monoculture to Washington Irving's travel narratives that foreshadow cattle replacing American bison in the West to Mar a Amparo Ruiz de

Burton's use of cattle to connect race and imperialism in her work authors' preoccupations with cattle underscored their concern for resource depletion habitat destruction and the wasteful overproduction of a single breed of livestock Cattle Country offers a window into the ways authors worked to negotiate the consequences of the development of this food culture and by excavating the history of U.S. settler colonialism through the figure of cattle sheds new ecocritical light on nineteenth century literature

Heidenreich,2018-07-30 In the first half of the twentieth century a number of Canadian authors were revealed to have faked the identities that made them famous What is extraordinary about these writers is that they actually became in everyday life characters they had themselves invented Many of their works were simultaneously fictional and autobiographical reflecting the duality of their identities In Literary Impostors Rosmarin Heidenreich tells the intriguing stories both the true and the fabricated versions of six Canadian authors who obliterated their pasts and re invented themselves Grey Owl was in fact an Englishman named Archie Belaney Will James the cowboy writer from the American West was the Quebec born francophone Ernest Dufault the prairie novelist Frederick Philip Grove turned out to be the German writer and translator Felix Paul Greve Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance Onoto Watanna and Sui Sin Far were the chosen identities of three mixed race writers whose given names were respectively Sylvester Long Winnifred Eaton and Edith Eaton Heidenreich argues that their imposture in some cases not discovered until long after their deaths was not fraudulent in the usual sense these writers forged new identities to become who they felt they really were In an age of proliferating cyber identities and controversial claims to ancestry Literary Impostors raises timely questions involving race migrancy and gender to illustrate the porousness of the line that is often drawn between an author s biography and the fiction he or she produces Mrs. Spring Fragrance and

R. John Williams, 2014-06-24 The writers and artists described in this book are joined by a desire to embrace Eastern aesthetics as a means of redeeming Western technoculture. The assumption they all share is that at the core of modern Western culture there lies an originary and all encompassing philosophical error and that Asian art offers a way out of that awful matrix. That desire this book attempts to demonstrate has informed Anglo and even Asian American debates about technology and art since the late nineteenth century and continues to skew our responses to our own technocultural environment.
