

The background of the book cover is a deep blue. It features several overlapping, translucent film strips that appear to be floating or falling from the top left towards the center. These strips are rendered in shades of light blue and white, with some frames showing dark, indistinct shapes. In the lower half of the cover, there is a dense, colorful pattern of binary code (0s and 1s) in various colors like yellow, orange, and white, creating a sense of digital data flow. The overall aesthetic is a blend of analog film and digital technology.
