 main thesis of this book is that given that South African education faces major challenges the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa constellation of states offers thus far overlooked a valuable tertium comparationis a source of international comparative perspectives to inform the domestic scholarly discourse on education This book first investigates the national contexts and development of education in the BRICS countries arguing that this grouping represents a valuable but yet overlooked field for illuminating South African education issues with international perspectives The book consists of chapters arguing for and illustrating this thesis from a variety of angles Common to all chapters is that authors used the comparative method in education that is comparing the national education system in their education societal context interrelationships of the BRICS countries The chapters focus on a number of critical issues in South African education including the language of learning and teaching issue the alignment of the world of education with the world of work early masses Believing existing theories of educational change are too limiting Bacchus has blended detailed analysis of such important factors as the changing role of the state the conflicting educational objectives among the dominant groups and their differences with the missionary societies providing popular education to better understand how these changes came about He attributes greater importance to the role of the masses who increasingly asserted their views about the type of education they wanted for their children The book demonstrates how instructional programs developed in the West Indies not as the result of a rational curriculum development process but rather through a series of compromises made to accommodate the views of various influential groups Education and curriculum evolved by way of a show yet constant changing dialectical process Such an insightful work will arouse the interest of scholars and students of educational
